YANKS TO QUIT SANTO DOMINGO AS YULE GIFT

Story of Occupation in Carribean.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Announcement of the early withdrawal of the American forces of occupation and the restoration of the native government is the Christmas gift President Wilson sent to the people of Santo Domingo today. The president cabled Rear Admiral Thomas Snowden, military governor of Santo Domingo, to issue a proclamation stating:

1—That the "friendly purposes" of the United States in employing its military forces, "pursuant to rights derived from the treaty of 1907," to restore order have been substantially achieved.

2—That the United States believes the time has arrived when, with due regard to its responsibility, it may "inaugurate the simple processes of its rapid withdrawal."

3—That there will be appointed a commission of representative Dominicans, assisted by a technical adviser, to frame amendments to the constitution, revise the laws, and draft a new election law. These amendments and laws, when approved by the military governor, will be submitted to a constitutional convention and the Dominican congress.

Will Still Collect Customs.

When the government has been reorganized in this manner the American forces will be withdrawn, but the collection of customs will continue under American supervision, as provided by the treaty of 1907, possibly with financial supervision provided by a new treaty.

In announcing the action of the president the state department said:

"Complete tranquillity has existed for some time throughout the republic, and the people, for the first time in many years, have been enabled to devote themselves to peaceful occupations without fear of disturbance.

"The finances of the country have been placed on a stable basis; great improvements have been brought about in public works; particular attention has been devoted to sanitation and public health; the educational system has been completely reorganized, and where there was a school attendance of about 18,000 before the occupation there are now 100,000 pupils.

"As the result of the American administration the gross revenues of the republic have increased from a total of some $4,000,000 in 1916 to a total of more than $7,500,000 in 1919."

Cause of Occupation.

The first official version of the reasons for intervention in Santo Domingo is included in the withdrawal announcement. After reciting the history of the treaty of 1907, negotiated by Roosevelt to place Dominican finances under American supervision, to prevent the intervention of European governments to collect loans on the payment of which the Dominicans were defaulting, the department says:

"Upon the conclusion of this treaty, conditions in Santo Domingo at first improved, but with the recurrence of revolutionary disturbances the government of Santo Domingo, in order to raise additional funds, increased the public debt of the republic without the approval of the United States, thus violating the treaty terms.

"The government of the United States thereupon, in 1915, requested of the Dominican government that a new treaty be entered into providing for the continued collection of the customs under American control, the appointment of a financial adviser, and the control by the United States of the Dominican constabulary.

New President Defiant.

"The newly elected president refused to agree to this demand, and the American authorities declined to pay the Dominican revenues collected by an American official, in accordance with the treaty of 1907, to the members of a government which the United States had not recognized.

"The deadlock continued for several months and finally the United States government directed the officer in command of the naval forces in Dominican waters to assume the direction of affairs.

"Finally, in November, 1916, since all endeavors to induce the Dominican authorities to consent to the requirements of this government had proved unavailing, and with the declared intention of restoring order and prosperity to Santo Domingo, Capt. H. S. Knapp, U. S. N., was directed to proclaim the establishment of a temporary military government of the republic."

CHEER AND FAITH

Marion, O., Dec. 24.—President Elect Harding issued the following Christmas greeting tonight:

"Like every normal human being, I wish everybody a very Merry Christmas. It gets us out of a rut to join in a national chorus of cheer and good will.

"There is peace, there is confidence in the morrow. There is even cheer in the belief that the distress of today is quickly to pass, and we may hope as well as wish for a prosperous new year."

JAIL HUNDREDS TO KEEP YULE FREE OF CRIME

Chief Asks $2,500,000 Raise for Police.

Another drive against crooks, launched throughout the city by Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by midnight had crowded more than 150 suspects into cells at the detective bureau, the detention homes, and outlying stations. A number of these already have been identified in connection with recent robberies, and two were found to have been implicated in a murder.

Seek Crimeless Christmas.

"Clear Chicago of crooks by Christmas," was Chief Hughes' order. "Pick up every man with a criminal record. Don't wait for an overt act and don't stop to argue. There is only one way to stop the Christmas Eve holdups that occur every year and that is to put every man capable of committing one where he can't operate."

The suspects will be held in custody over Christmas and possibly until New Year's. With the courts closed until Monday, it will be impossible for those in custody to resort to the habeas corpus method of getting their freedom.

Chief Hughes worked nearly all day planning details of the raids. The three principal squads were commanded by Lieuts. Edward Grady, John W. Norton, and William Schumaker.

Nab Murder Suspects.

Lieut. Norton's squad made the prize arrest, that of Edward Kauffman, 1141 West Sixty-eighth street, and another man whose name the police refuse to reveal. According to Chief Hughes both have been partially identified in connection with the $5,000 holdup at Marshall Field & Company's barn, 7008 Wentworth avenue, a few nights ago, and the murder of Patrolman Timothy O'Connor.

ASKS $2,500,000 RAISE

In another effort to put the police force on its toes in the crime battle, Chief of Police Fitzmorris announced yesterday that he will ask the city council to grant pay increases of from 15 to 27 per cent to each of the 5,241 members of the department. The recommended increases amount to more than $2,500,000.

The chief recommends that patrolmen be increased from $2,000 to $2,500 a year and that the pay of the twenty-seven captains be raised from $3,500 to $5,000, with "corresponding increases" for the eighty-six lieutenants and the 879 sergeants. First Deputy John H. Alcock is recommended for a boost from $6,000 to $7,500, and Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes from $4,000 to $5,000.

Reasons for Captains' Raise.

"In recommending $5,000 annually for captains," said the chief, "I took into consideration that they are on duty twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week and are supposed to maintain their own automobiles. I am not going to ask for an increase in the number of men in the department. I would rather have a department of well paid, earnest, honest workers of the present numerical strength than a larger force inadequately paid."

Though unmentioned in the chief's statement, policewomen, operators, matrons, engineers, janitors, surgeons, and dog catchers will be included in the chief's recommendations.

Union Pacific to Sell Stock to Its Employes

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 24.—A plan whereby employés of the Union Pacific railroad, the Oregon Short Line, and the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company may purchase common capital stock of the Union Pacific upon a partial payment basis, was announced here today at the office of the company's president, Carl Gray.

Standard Kind to Employés.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—Stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of California will be asked at a special meeting, March 30, to authorize an increased capitalization of $15,000,000, which is to be sold to employés on the installment plan, it was announced.

BOGUS NOTES FOR $500,000 FOUND IN RAID

Arrests Here Trap Detroit Gang.

Raids by police and federal authorities in Chicago and Detroit yesterday frustrated a daring attempt to flood the cities of the middle west with $1,000,000 in bogus federal reserve notes. One raid on a luxurious apartment house in Detroit alone netted $500,000 in spurious currency. Seizures in other cities are expected today.

The federal agents' activity followed a search of an elaborately furnished flat at 930 Edgecomb place, Chicago, occupied by George F. Choate and T. B. Tyler. More than $20,000 in bogus bills were seized. Choate and Tyler were turned over to federal authorities.

Information these men supplied made the Detroit raid possible. In both cities, the men revealed, they had been able to operate for some time unmolested because they maintained headquarters in high class residence districts.

The Raid in Detroit.

When Capt. Thomas I. Porter telegraphed to the Detroit office of Joseph A. Palma, secret service chief for Michigan, with a score of operatives and policemen, hurried to a flat building at Cass and Canfield avenues, where the plant was said to be located.

Approaching one at a time, all the men reached the building without attracting attention. Half were directed to the rear, the others to the front. A knock on the door of the alleged counterfeiters' flat brought no response. Neighbors, attracted by the noise, said the two occupants had not been home for a week.

Axes were sent for. Repeated knocking failed to win a response, and it was necessary to break down three doors and tear out two partitions before the secret chamber in which the bogus notes were concealed was found.

More than 20,000 notes of $20 denominations, and thousands of $1 counterfeit bills were found. Counterfeiting apparatus for the manufacture of money on a gigantic scale was seized.

Saved Phony for Christmas Rush.

Secret service operatives believe no attempt was made to put the money on the market until just before Christmas. Information of the alleged counterfeiting activities came to Mr. Palma several weeks ago. But sufficient evidence to warrant the two arrests here was not obtained until the two Chicago representatives of the syndicate were seized yesterday.

Capt. Porter believes agents in other cities also had been commissioned to dispose of the notes.

"I doubt, however," he said, "whether any attempt to dispose of the notes would ever have been widely successful. The notes we found here were poor compared with the work turned out by Joseph C. Bahl, a counterfeiter arrested here last fall.

"I was surprised that they were able to pass even one of the notes. We recovered one of the notes at the S. S. Kresge company's store, 225 South State street. This was the result of two days' work."

Mr. Palma in Detroit said he considered the notes seized there good specimens of the counterfeiter's art.

Police Cleanup Traps Gang.

The seizure of the money followed the apprehension by the Town Hall police of Choate and Tyler last Thursday as suspicious characters. They were about to be released when Detective Sergeants McDonald and Connor decided to search the apartment where the men resided.

"I believe Chief Fitzmorris should be complimented for his cleanup policies," Capt. Porter said. "It is evident these arrests are a direct result of the plan of questioning all suspects."

Woman Slaps Man and Her Husband Then Shoots Him

Patrick Joyce, 465 West Chicago avenue, was shot and seriously injured early this morning at Orleans and Wendell streets. It appears the shooting followed a quarrel with Mrs. Mary McGavick, 1159 North State street, who was with her husband. Joyce was walking with Steven Keaney, 1218 Sedgwick street, and said something to Mrs. McGavick, after which she slapped him. Her husband, the police allege, then shot him. The police are looking for McGavick.

Gabriele D'Annunzio Ill; Cause of Trouble Unknown

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Capt. Gabriele d'Annunzio is ill, according to a Rome dispatch to the Central News. The nature of his illness was not disclosed.

ROUGH, ROUGH RED HITS COP'S FIST AND LOSES COLOR

Sergt. William Knowles of the detective bureau packs a mean wallop. Pete Zakopiko realized this last night after he had been revived.

Zakopiko, a confessed Bolshevist, a follower of Lenin and Trotzky, arrived here yesterday from Manning, S. D., where he swung a club on a farmer who had resented the Russian's attentions to his wife. The farmer is near death in a hospital.

Sergts. Egan and McDonough met him when he came to claim his baggage. At the bureau a copy of the Noeve Mir, a Russian radical paper barred from circulation in this country, was found in his pocket.

Zakopiko hardly had been lodged in the cell room when he attempted to repeat his Manning experiment. Knowles found him crouched for a spring near a coal hole, an iron bar in his hand. The momentum of his spring sent his jaw flush against Knowles' fist. He was still in dreamland when a telegram was hastily dispatched to the sheriff of Bunn county, S. D., pleading with him to hasten after his prisoner while Zakopiko is still able to travel.

Mr. Thief, It's Christmas, and Choir Needs Its Robes

Frank Hemington, organist and choir master of the Church of Epiphany, at Ashland boulevard and West Adams street, believes he makes a reasonable request when he asks the thief who took two suitcases from the church vestibule yesterday to return the contents pronto. "How can we hold our special services tomorrow and Sunday without the vestments?" he asks. "They had just been returned from a laundry. What can a thief want of choir vestments? And that's all he got."

FAST I. C. TRAINS STOP FOR SANTA

Crews Shower Gifts on Invalid Farm Girl.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Santa Claus chartered two of the Illinois Central's fastest passenger trains today, and brought them to an abrupt halt, before a lonely little farm house near the village of La Clede, while delegations of Illinois Central trainmen carried their gifts into the home of Lottie Sprouse, 18 year old invalid.

For six years Lottie has carried on a "romance" with trainmen of the Illinois Central, although her identity was unknown to them until a few months ago. When 12 years of age, the girl was stricken with infantile paralysis and was helpless. Coincident with this misfortune her father met with financial reverse and the child couldn't be treated.

Waves from Window.

From a cot near a window in her home, six years ago she began waving at trainmen as they whisked by. During the last two years she has not missed waving at a single train, even signaling those at night with a lighted match. Trainmen considered it a duty to "wave at the arm in the window." Recently they investigated and found the young woman helpless, with her parents unable to assist her.

Over the division the trainmen passed the word, and a fund was subscribed. The trainmen named two committees, one from Champaign and the other from Centralia.

Shortly after 2 o'clock today the train the girl had waved at for six years stopped a hundred yards from her window. While she couldn't see them the trainmen unloaded from the baggage car a big wheel chair, a wonderful robe, a large blanket, house slippers and a number of other gifts.

Fund to Care for Her.

The girl had hardly begun to realize her joys, when another train, bound from the south, stopped, and another delegation, the one from Centralia, went to her home and placed at her disposal a fund which trainmen will supervise while she is receiving medical attention.

Christmas day, Lottie expects to sit in her wheel chair, the first time she has left her cot in six years. She expects to sit at the window, and that explained the smile which covered the faces of Illinois Central trainmen from Chicago to Cairo, Christmas eve.

Getting Ready for Bath, He Falls Out of the Window

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Forgetting to draw the shade until after he had disrobed preparatory to taking a bath, Frederick Retting of Brooklyn reached for the shade, slipped, and fell out of the window. He went down two stories, landing in a court yard. Tenants of the house heard a crash and ran out. They found Mr. Retting had sprained one shoulder.

BABIES COME TO ADD TO JOY OF CHRISTMAS EVE

The greatest of Christmas gifts, babies, boys and girls, were received in at least seven Chicago families last night. Many were the first arrivals, but some were the second or third new members of the family. A canvass of the hospitals last night disclosed that but six children were born in hospitals on Christmas Eve. One was born at his parents' home.

Just as the church bells were pealing forth announcing a new Christmas day a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Randall, 6009 South Halsted street, at the Washington Park hospital.

At 2512 Cullom avenue the red signs proclaim that in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Mackey there is diphtheria. There are—there were—four children in the family; Mary, 9 years old, Thomas, 7; Bartley, 5; and Billy, 2. They weren't having much of a Christmas because Santa Claus couldn't do much with the quarantine rules ordering him out, but the stork got in somehow and left a baby boy.

At the West Side hospital Mrs. Florence Cooney, 800 South Kedvale avenue, was the proud mother of a boy, her first. Mrs. Katherine Flavin, 929 Cornelia avenue, welcomed a baby girl at 7 o'clock last night in the Chicago Union hospital.

At the Mary Thompson hospital Mrs. Alice Bell, 923 North La Salle street, gave birth to a boy at 12:30 this morning, and half an hour later Mrs. Ray Utman, 1150 North Francisco avenue, became the mother of a boy in the same hospital.

BURGLARS CART OFF ALL THORNE HOME FURNITURE

The residence of James W. Thorne on Ridge road, three miles from Lake Forest, was visited by thoroughly efficient burglars Thursday night. A truck was backed up and the entire furnishings of the house stored therein while the caretaker slept soundly in his home 100 feet away. Only the wallpaper and radiators were left.

Mr. Thorne recently sold the house to Maj. E. B. Tolman and is living in the city. He was to move his household effects in the spring. Two weeks ago the house was entered, presumably by a scouting party for the burglars. At that time nothing was taken. Mr. Thorne laughed and predicted that they would not come again, as the loot was too bulky. His fine oriental rugs and expensive furniture are now adorning some other home.

I. W. W. Are Certainly Good to Their Folks

Leavenworth, Kas., Dec. 24.—A check for $1,200 was received today by Warden A. V. Anderson of the federal penitentiary from the headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World at Chicago, for distribution among prisoners who belong to that organization. Thus sixty prisoners will receive a twenty dollar note Christmas morning.

Tribune Radio Carries Joy to Home Folks

The wireless aerial on top of the new Tribune building crackled all night long last night as hundreds of Christmas messages from American soldiers on the Rhine and Americans traveling in Europe to relatives and friends in the United States were received.

The top sergeant in Coblenz, the Boston physician in his luxurious hotel in Paris, the Cleveland publisher in Berlin, the clothing manufacturer vacationing at Nice, the historian in Rome; in fact, it seemed, nearly every American in Europe sent a message to his home town friends in America.

The service was made possible by the Paris edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Plan Announced Two Weeks Ago.

It was announced to Americans in Europe two weeks ago that the sending of radio messages to America had been arranged for by THE TRIBUNE. The American tourist, picking up his Paris edition, read that if he had forgotten to send a Christmas letter to relatives at home he could, by going to the nearest TRIBUNE office, leave a message and have it delivered by THE TRIBUNE.

A week ago the messages commenced to flow into THE TRIBUNE correspondents. They were relayed to the Paris headquarters and put in the hands of the radio operator. The messages commenced to crackle in THE TRIBUNE'S radio operators' ears on Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday the flow of messages increased. Thursday and yesterday came the deluge. The wireless system, which is open twenty-four hours a day, was swamped.

Messages from Coblenz Soldiers.

Hundreds of messages came from American soldiers at Coblenz. Boys, who had been sincere in their intentions, but who had delayed getting the Christmas letter written until it was too late, took advantage of the opportunity and their messages formed a large part of the flood.

Civilians, who have come to regard THE TRIBUNE as the one great connecting link between Europe and their home, took advantage of the opportunity. They sent their messages of Christmas cheer to friends and relatives.

The messages, of which the following is typical, were received by THE TRIBUNE in Chicago and immediately placed on the telegraph wires:

"Paris, Dec. 24.—From other side of world I send you this message from my heart: May Christmas bring you joy and the New Year gifts of peace and contentment."

Every message reached its destination last night or early this morning, and the only cost to the senders was the nominal charge of five francs from Europe to the final destinations.

Tribune's Work Commended.

Expressions of appreciation from Americans in Europe came to THE TRIBUNE last night by way of the Paris office.

"The Rhine force of the American army availed itself of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S commendable and thoughtful opportunity to send a 'Merry Christmas' greeting across the ocean to the families left behind," said Gen. Henry T. Allen, commanding the A. E. F. at Coblenz. "Almost every man in the outfit took advantage of THE TRIBUNE'S offer."

John H. Patterson, head of the National Cash Register company, said: "The hearts of thousands of Americans will be gladdened tomorrow when they receive the Christmas messages from the dear ones far across the Atlantic. Thanks to THE TRIBUNE. Many thanks."

"THE TRIBUNE'S sending of wireless greetings to relatives and friends back home is a most laudable journalistic achievement, of which nearly every American of my acquaintance availed himself, the members of my family included," said Ambassador Wallace in Paris.

The messages were directed to cities in practically every state in the union.

TODAY A MERRY CHRISTMAS FOR GOOD FELLOWS

Visit 2,206 Families; Give Heroes $4,630.

BY REV. G. A. McWHORTER.

Now that your work and ours is done, or nearly so, we can sit down and give you some statistics, a few acknowledgments, and a little bit about our own experience as a Good Fellow.

The maimed heroes' fund went over the top by the splendid sum of $4,630.30, and there is probably more money in the mails.

Every wounded ex-service man in a hospital in or near Chicago was remembered on Christmas eve. Each of 1,075 fighters received a sum of money with which to buy himself a Christmas present he really wants and needs. With the money was a note telling the boys it came from the Good Fellows of Chicago, with best wishes for his happiness on Christmas day.

Where the Money Went.

Your gifts were divided among the following:

Five wounded men in St. Paul's hospital.

Dr. J. E. Kulchinski visited Oak Forest infirmary last night and presented each sick soldier with two or more gifts. Commander Harold Conick of Insurance post, American Legion, visited the infirmary yesterday with a delegation and presented each soldier with a bathrobe, three handkerchiefs, and a necktie.

2,206 Families Visited.

Two thousand Good Fellows visited 2,206 families in Chicago, taking Christmas cheer to the lonely lives of nearly 9,000 poor children, a fine record for the Good Fellows, and a blessing to all involved "both to him that giveth and to him that receiveth."

Two carloads of flour bought by members of the Board of Trade were distributed among the poor in twelve and a half pound sacks. Good Fellow baskets prepared by THE TRIBUNE contained 500 of these sacks, and the rest were distributed by the United Charities, the Salvation Army, and others.

The Fellowship club of the Union Trust company sent a check for $111.50 for the Good Fellow work, "happy to participate in the good work."

Stage Star a Good Fellow.

Joseph Cawthorn, who is coming to Chicago next month, did not wait until his appearance here in "The Half-Moon" at the Illinois theater, to aid the Good Fellows. He sent on his check for $50, with the hope that "the fund would be sufficient to help every temporarily embarrassed family in Chicago."

The Checker taxi men of Garage No. 3 collected $1 apiece from every man in the garage and sent it in to the Good Fellows. The proceeds of a children's pageant out in Wilmette, amounting to $40.85, were turned over to the Good Fellows, too.

There were innumerable instances of real sacrifice by the giver, who wanted to share in the Good Fellow work. One "foundry man," as he called himself, came in and gave $10, with the request that it be used to help a family greatly in need.

School Kids Aid Poor.

The Parkside club, composed of young graduates of Edmund Burke school, undertook to provide Christmas cheer for two families. Many classes in church schools, public schools asked for a family whom they promised to look after.

The Mendota branch of the Needle Work Guild of America asked THE TRIBUNE to distribute three checks of $50 each to the three Chicago hospitals where there are wounded men: Drexel, Marine, and Oak Forest. This was done.

Twelve boys under 12 years old, who live in the neighborhood of Fiftieth street and Michigan avenue, have formed "The Regular Fellows'" club.

With money earned and saved by themselves, they carried good cheer in the shape of well filled Christmas baskets to twelve families in the stockyards district. Names and addresses were supplied them by the Goodfellow department of THE TRIBUNE. Fifty-nine children were given a brighter and happier Christmas because of their visit.

TRAILING GOOD FELLOWS

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

We started out early, sincere, but with the smug assurance that Good Fellows were unselfish. We returned late last night, tired, and with the conviction that Good Fellows were supremely selfish. What could pay a higher dividend on Christmas morning than the memory of having helped, if only a little, to make the Christmas star shine just a bit more brightly for "the other fellow"?

Packages marked "For Father" were brought back frequently, mute testimony to the replies of the mother or big sister, "Pa, he's dead." "My man, he leave me when the last baby, little Tony, was born." "No, papa not here, he's sick at hospital."

A Good Fellow list can be cruel, bitterly cruel, as well as kind. It accentuates the drab life of "that family next door," the family who rush to the door, surprised but hopeful that Santa Claus may at last have decided to call at their home. When they learn we are looking for 345, second floor rear, there is disappointment, a moment of silence, then a volley of directions. Three or four children point, yell, run about, all eager to lead Santa Claus, away from them, if need be, but surely to 345, second floor, rear.

Up three flights of stairs we went, ladened with engines, boxing gloves, trains, and all manner of toys for the five boys we had on the list. The door opened and there stood Mary, Caroline, Sophie, Lizzy, and Frieda. A few sleight of hand tricks, a hurried visit to the cab, and the horns became dolls, the engines doll buggies, and the baseballs, marvelous cooking utensils.

A DOUBTER FINDS SANTA

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Said Joe, 9, to big brother Salvatore, 12, chief support of the Goenaco family, with headquarters in a coalless basement out Jefferson street way: "You're a liar! You said there wasn't any Santa Claus, and here he comes!"

"Well, he didn't come last year, he didn't," protested the doubting Salvatore.

"Why did you tell him that, Salvatore?" I asked.

"Aw, gee, last year the kids waited up for him near all night and he never came, and I didn't want to fool 'em again this year," apologized the young protector.

Then came a roar from the five young Goenaco Comanches swooping down upon Carmella, 7, detected in the act of smuggling the doll and a huge box of candy off to her lair under the bed. The absconder was recalled and rewarded with some warm stockings and "undies," which she scorned with the righteous indignation of youth in the presence of a pack that bulged teddy bears and games and nuts and raisins and oranges, and more candy.

O, it's grand to be a youngster at Christmas. There's nothing next best to being it, but as near as you may come to the Infant Child heart of it all is to act as a Santa aid and know the perfect ecstasy which transforms tear and dirt begrimed little faces into prayers that the dollies they hug are not dream dolls, but real ones.

IN ROOSEVELT ROAD

BY MARGARET REIDY.

Our knock was answered by the twins, Philip and Benny, little black-eyed youngsters, who looked up appealingly, asking, "Is you the Good Fellow?" Pretty little earringed Consetta, second youngest, but not yet walking, except as the twins explained, "When she holds our handses," and Antoinetta, waiting anxiously for the doll she coveted.

Packages were quickly opened, their shrieks of delight telling they were being received as we had hoped.

Poverty and sickness we found out on Roosevelt road. Her man sick for months, "and my little Georgie, too," sighed the mother, who has the entire burden of the family support.

Ours was the second welcome of the day in the little cottage in the rear of Fourteenth place. The first was accorded little Gracie, home from the hospital after a long siege—nervousness, her mother explained, due to lack of nourishment.

THE DRUMMERS

BY MARTHA McELLIOTT.

The rest of our pack paled into insignificance when Joe and Dominic spied the drum, and shortly the tiny, stark kitchen was filled with a cheerful rat-a-tat-tat. For what is dearer to a small boy's heart than noise?

On West Taylor street we found five small children under the care of 7 year old Rosie. The mother was "out."

Two babies played on the cold, bare floor; depressing remains of a meal were on the deal table, and a glimpse of the bedroom which contained several beds was not reassuring.

In a basement on Maxwell street a pathetic little mother was scrubbing the floor of the front room. Her dull eyes gazed unbelievingly on the miracle of gifts, but she suddenly broke into her own tongue at sight of a warm blanket.

Boxes of food, we brought, and all sorts of comfortable clothing, but the toys invariably drew the crowd.

We should like to take all the blase 12 year olds we know on a tour of this kind. They'd come home "changed men and women."

WHY MOTHERS SMILE

BY CAROLINE SANBORN.

It wasn't the gloves or the stockings or the hug-me-tight for herself that brought the happiest smile to the face of each mother who opened her door at the knock of a well laden guest on Christmas eve. Nor the plump chickens with their enticing yellow claws sticking out of brown paper wrappings. Nor yet the woolen socks for her man.

But the toys for her babies! The gay little caps and warm bright sweaters. The big, shining oranges and rosy apples that soon found their way to eager, grimy fingers. The sticky candies, crammed, regardless of the hour, into moist, dirty little mouths.

In one home where there were thought to be only three boys, 5, 4, and 3 years old, we found another, a sleepy little sister, 4 days old. Old Saint Nick, all unprepared for such a surprise, dug into his pack and produced a crisp bill to provide warm necessaries for the proud mother and newest member of the family.

No Good Fellow went to bed on Christmas eve without a comfortable feeling around his heart. Baby fingers and mother smiles had smoothed away the rough places. And the joy of real giving had been doubled by the memory of the joy with which his gifts were welcomed.

THE FINAL SCRAMBLE

BOSTON HORSES HAVE OWN TREE

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—At a Christmas tree set up in Postoffice square draft horses of the business district gathered round for gifts today. From the tree they nibbled apples and sugar lumps and from feed bags their fill of sugared corn on the cob, carrots, and oats. The drivers were served sandwiches, doughnuts, and coffee.

Old Trees for Ducks.

A request that housewives save the family Christmas trees was made today by the Middlesex Sportsman's association in connection with a plan to utilize the evergreens as a winter shelter for wild ducks at Spy pond.

CHRISTMAS SPIRITS BRING FINES.

Three men, fired by Christmas spirits, who created a disturbance on a Clark street car Thursday night, were given small fines by Judge Bernard P. Barasa in Chicago avenue court yesterday. The men are Joseph Bender, 620 North State street; Morton K. Zahner, 26 West Erie street, and Dwight Mitchell, 4751 Virginia avenue.

U. S. CASH TODAY FEEDS STARVING CHILDREN ABROAD

The generosity with which the people of the United States have responded to the appeal of Herbert Hoover on behalf of the children of Europe has enabled Santa Claus to visit thousands of starving children in Hungary, Germany, Poland, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and other European countries, said a statement issued here last night at middle western headquarters of the European Relief Council.

The statement gave no figures as to what proportion had been contributed of the $33,000,000 for which Mr. Hoover asked, but said: "The 7,000 food distributing centers maintained in central and eastern Europe will have their doors wide open tomorrow. There are milk and bread for the little ones in Warsaw, meat and soup for the starving in Vienna, vegetables and fruits for the suffering in Bremen and Prague.

"The work of providing one square meal a day for the 3,500,000 undernourished children is not to end, however, with the Christmas giving. The campaign will be carried on until the $33,000,000 for which Mr. Hoover asked has been obtained."

WAIT, SANTA! YOU FORGOT THESE 750 POOR KIDS!

Although Chicago responded more generously this year than ever before to the pleas of the needy children who put their faith in John M. Hubbard, official Santa Claus and former assistant postmaster, 750 letters were still unanswered last night. Of 1,500 letters received, 750 have been taken care of. This compares with 500 families cared for last year.

One man, known as "Mr. Pike" to James Fitzgerald, secretary to Santa Claus, used the telegraph wires to make poor families happy yesterday. He wired directing the families to send to a certain spot, where he arranged to have food and toys.

If any one wishes this morning to aid one of the children whose pleas were uncared for last night, Mr. Fitzgerald will be glad to turn over the letters. He will be either at his home, 1127 North Spaulding avenue ,or the federal building, all morning. His home telephone is Belmont 6642.

Santa Brings Color Again Into Lives of the Unlucky

Bedford, N. Y., Dec. 24.—More than 200 women inmates of Bedford reformatory will be "rouged and powdered" on Christmas day.

The order against cosmetics was abolished by the board of managers today so the students of the Elmira High school could give the inmates Christmas face powder, rouge, etc.

YULE CHEER FOR ALIENS KNOCKING AT GATES OF U. S.

Gifts Sent 15,000 on Ships and Island.

New York, Dec. 24.—Within sight of the Goddess of Liberty, more than 12,000 prospective citizens, recent arrivals from a dozen countries, today resigned themselves to spending Christmas on board ship, rather than on land.

At Ellis island another 3,000 were awaiting action of inspectors who would grant or deny them the right to land.

Tugs and barges today carried to the ships trees and other green decorations. Stowed among the trunks and branches of the trees were boxes, bales, and baskets filled with Christmas goodies, with toys for the little folk of Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Great Britain, France, and Spain.

On many ships Santa Claus, impersonated by one of the officers, appeared Christmas eve. Ship bands and orchestras furnished special music, and decks, dining saloons, and lounges restricted to first and second class passengers were opened to all.

At Ellis island the celebration began with distribution of presents and the singing of Christmas carols. Tomorrow and Sunday the celebration will continue, with lighting a great Christmas tree and appearance of more than fifty theatrical stars. More than 20,000 gifts will be distributed.

MRS. LEEDS IS PRINCESS NOW, KING DECLARES

ATHENS, Dec. 24.—King Constantine,dressed in the uniform of a general of the Greek army, called in the American correspondents and gave them his first interview since he came back to Athens.

Constantine said the wife of former King Alexander [Madame Axmanos, Alexander's morganatic wife] had no status in royalty, but that friendly relations with her would be maintained.

"Princess Anastasia [formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York] is a recognized Greek princess," Constantine added. The king said he had talked with her yesterday.

Speaking of the coming marriage of the Duke of Sparta and Princess Elizabeth of Roumania and of Crown Prince Charles of Roumania and Princess Helene of Greece, Constantine said no dates had been decided on.

Gratitude

and Season's Greetings

IT is impossible for us to express adequately our gratitude to the thousands of patrons who made this Christmas the greatest in the history of the House of Kirchberg.

It is a source of gratification to us that our 53 years of unbroken growth assures the recipient of a Kirchberg Gift of the added joy that goes with the possession of such a token.

We take this occasion to pledge our customers that we shall strive in the future as in the past to deserve the reputation we have had for unexcelled jewelry.

LAST HOURS OF YULETIDE RUSH SMASH RECORDS

Crowds, Buying, Charity, Parties, Set Mark.

Gen. Santa Claus, armed with the Yuletide spirit and with mountains of presents on his train, occupied Chicago yesterday for the annual celebration of Christmas.

For weeks citizens have been preparing for today, yet the shops were thronged with "last minute" gift seekers, for nearly everybody in town seemed to have forgotten some present.

Incoming trains were crowded and jammed with shoppers and Christmas visitors. Hotel registers looked like the records of convention week.

Charity Reaps Harvest.

Street corner chimneys and tambourines jingled with money last night. A blind Italian, feeling his way through the crowds as he played an accordion, had to empty his cup every half block. The Salvation Army and other charitable organizations found more money in their coffers than on any other day during their drives. Pedestrians frequently stopped and pressed half dollars into the hands of newsboys.

The crowd started to jam the loop before 9 o'clock in the morning and increased right up to 6 o'clock last night. Loop policemen asserted they could not remember such a Christmas throng.

At midnight the loop was nearly deserted. Only a few men and women hurried up and down the streets that a few hours before had been jammed. The extreme cold and the duty of stuffing the Christmas stockings had sent everybody home early.

Make Poor Children Happy.

Churches, charitable organizations and the anonymous agents of Santa Claus in two dozen parts of the city set the clock forward a day in their holiday activities in order to make sure that the poor children would not be forgotten.

Before midnight last night the Yuletide spirit prevailed in every corner of the city. Homes from Lake Shore drive mansions to tiny, crowded, west side flats, were ablaze with the colored lights, the holly wreaths, and the Christmas trees. Public halls, police stations, school auditoriums, restaurants, and hotel lobbies all sent forth the cheer of the holiday.

The weather man was especially kind to Chicago this year, giving the city a blanket of snow to make a regular old fashioned "white Christmas."

Mail Gifts Smash Records.

Figures given out by the postoffice—first assistant to Santa Claus—showed the day's load of mail was 16 per cent greater than it was last year. More than 500 tons of Christmas mail came into Chicago yesterday.

FESTIVITY BEGINS

Children's parties were given in many sections of the city. At the Englewood Women's club a magician and a Santa Claus spread joy across the faces of a hundred kiddies. Similar parties were held in Evanston, Hyde Park, Wilmette, Oak Park, and many other community centers.

In forty-two charitable institutions the Knights of Columbus held Christmas parties and gave presents and candy to hundreds of children. They were assisted by the Ladies of Isabella.

Poor Kids Given Party.

One hundred and fifty poor kids were given a merry party by the Big Brothers of the west side Y. M. C. A. An address was made by Bishop Fallows.

Senn High school gave Christmas cheer to 150 families. Christmas trees were obtained for each family and each tree was decorated by the pupils. Approximately $100 was expended on each family.

About 1,000 packages of candy and toys were distributed by Miss Irene Inderrieden, head of the complaint department of the Court of Domestic Relations. A large Christmas tree loaded with gifts stood in the courtroom.

Two Thousand Get Baskets.

There was such a crowd at the Salvation Army citadel, 1512 West Madison street, awaiting Christmas baskets that it was all Commissioner William Peart, Col. Sidney Gauntlett, Lieut. Col. Fletcher Agnew, and their assistants, could do to keep order. Two thousand baskets were distributed.

JOY REIGNS TODAY

A Christmas message of greeting to members of the American Legion and the women's auxiliaries in Illinois was issued yesterday by William R. McCauley, state commander. He reviewed in detail the legion's achievements on behalf of the veterans, particularly the disabled heroes, and outlined a program for 1921. All over the state today the various posts will give Christmas entertainments, especially for the wounded.

One hundred and twenty-five little Siberian refugees will arrive in Chicago this morning about the time Chicago children are opening their Christmas packages. They will be hurried to a new institution which the Poles in America have founded for them at Niles, Ill.

Christmas for Cripples.

A Christmas dinner for Chicago's "lonesome girls" will feature the holiday celebration of the Central Y. W. C. A. at 59 East Monroe street.

Vice President Elect to Help Wash Dinner Dishes

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—Gov. Coolidge, vice president elect, will devote a part of Christmas day to washing dishes. He left today for his home in Northampton. Mrs. Coolidge will prepare the dinner for her husband and their two boys and afterward all four will make short work of clearing the table and cleaning the dishes.

GIRLS! THEY DEFY YOU!

C. H SULLIVAN. JOHN O'DONNELL. ROY MILNE.

FIVE handsome men, all bachelors, met around a banquet board in Evanston last night and congratulated themselves on keeping out of wedlock during the last year. They were Joseph Howard, 703 Washington street; Cornelius H. Sullivan, 314 South boulevard; Roy Milne, 1640 Maple avenue; John O'Donnell, 936 Sherman avenue, and Albert Kimmings, 205 South Stockholm place, all of Evanston.

A year ago on Christmas eve the five, reunited after the separations caused by the war, met at a dinner and vowed to resist the wiles of Evanston's fair charmers during the year 1920—leap year.

"They'll never get us," they said in chorus.

The year is at the ebb and the five Apollos are still unfettered by marital ties.

"We knew we'd do it," they said last night.

But, girls, the year still has a week to run. They can be made good husbands yet, if you hurry.

All five men served their country, two in the army, one in the navy, one in the air service, and one in the marine corps.

JOLLY OLD SANTA PLAYS PRANKS ON BOARD OF TRADE

Santa Claus, in the guise of William Springer, William Heptic, Thomas Cannon, George Kohl, and Ed Stevenson, visited all the good little boys in the corn pit of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Moe Singer received a whip and E. J. Schaack a drum. Joe O'Connor, who wears his hair pompadour, received a comb. E. Z. Zipperman was given $200,000 in stage money and R. I.

Mansfield a large basket to hold his "dope." Gus Magnus was presented with a small rooster. Joseph Bagley, who has a big voice, drew a megaphone.

Other members received washboards, doll beds, and other articles.

MUNDELEIN ASKS AID FOR YOUNG IN YULE GREETING

Archbishop George W. Mundelein yesterday issued his annual Christmas greeting, which will be read today at the services in the Roman Catholic churches in Chicago. In it he makes a special appeal for the starving children of Europe.

"The remembrance of the poverty of the Christ Child makes us open our hands and our purses to the outcast, the orphaned, and the poor on this day in memory of him," he says. "But should there perhaps be some of us who have not yet learned this lesson, then surely no better Christmas gift could come to us than the power to see the image of the Christ Child shining forth from the shrunken, starved little form of the hungry and homeless child of Vienna's streets or our own.

"And when on this Christmas morn we kneel before the crib to celebrate the birthday of our King, may this Babe of Bethlehem fill our hearts with a true understanding of this day."

BERLIN GERMANS AT U. S. FUNCTION FOR M'CORMICK

Embassy Affair a Break in War Division.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—Senator Medill McCormick was the guest of United States Commissioner to Germany Ellis L. Dresel at a dinner late last night. This was the first social function given at the old American embassy to which Germans were invited since diplomatic relations were broken off in 1917.

The senator arrived in Berlin after a long tiresome journey from Warsaw, in which he experienced difficulties of travel due to the chaotic conditions in central and eastern Europe today. He had expected to spend Christmas with the American army of occupation, but is unable to do so on account of travel delays.

He will spend Christmas eve with members of the American mission, who have arranged to have a tree for themselves and Americans who have no place to go in the embassy ballroom.

Newspaper Comment on Visit.

The government official newspaper, Deutsch Allgemeine Zeitung, in commenting on the senator's visit to Berlin, in part, says: "At this moment when a state of war exists and when America refuses to participate officially in European affairs, the coming in touch with private and respected persons from the United States becomes of great importance. Therefore it is with great pleasure that we greet Senator McCormick. Besides ties of friendship connect him closely with President Elect Harding.

"Before the difficulties between Germany and America can be surmounted the state of war must be ended. The recent event in Paris (the Walter-Meyer incident) shows this plainly. When peace is declared the impressions and reports of Senator McCormick could be of great value and effect when congress meets under President Harding.

Sees Hope in Visit.

"Senator McCormick visits Germany at a time when international and economic problems have reached a crisis such as the world has never before experienced. The raw material producing countries have earned much and become much stronger while the importing countries are suffering agonies. The raw material nations must expect to take down the barricades erected on all the traffic roads during the war and which the Versailles treaty wants to make eternal.

"Prevention of trade results in poverty. We know that the Americans are beginning to realize truths. Senator McCormick would deserve the greatest praise if he would become the link between recognition of facts and right dealing and if he would induce American citizens to draw right conclusions from the rightly appraised situation."

REAL CHRISTMAS IS ARRANGED FOR YANKS ON RHINE

Paris Tilts Lid to Let the Americans Rejoice.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

COBLENZ, Dec. 24.—Every member of the American forces in Germany will receive a Christmas box as the result of the combined efforts of the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., and the Salvation Army.

The holiday will be celebrated in truly American style. Every mess will have a special dinner tomorrow which will beat any dinner served to the boys since they have been "on this side," with turkey, cranberry sauce, and mince pie, the features, of course. Special orchestras and vaudeville acts will be the feature at many messes.

Yanks to Play Santa.

An interesting feature of the soldiers' program will be the distribution tomorrow night of warm clothing, toys, and candy for the poor children throughout the American section of the occupied area.

Christmas trees have already been installed in all the occupied towns, and there will be presents for every child in the neighborhood. This was made possible through a popular subscription taken up by the officers and men in the American forces, who raised 50,000 marks.

Other Festivities.

The Y. M. C. A. will stage a continuous vaudeville performance from six o'clock in the evening until midnight, which will include a three act comedy by a new American stock company, with Christmas carols by the doughboys and a drill by American Boy Scouts in the Rhineland.

All the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross huts will hold open house on Christmas day and the Salvation Army is distributing home made candy and popcorn this afternoon, and its famous doughnuts tonight. The American soccer football team will play an English team tomorrow afternoon.

The Officers' club has arranged for gala parties at the leading hotels and a big event is scheduled for Wiesbaden. There will be special Christmas church services under the direction of Senior Chaplain Edmund Easterbrook.

PARIS TILTS THE LID

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—With their greetings to friends and relatives dispatched; with all their Christmas presents bought at the ratio of seventeen francs for the dollar, and with prospects of cocktails and then dinner accompanied by white wines, red wines, champagne, and liquors, Americans in Paris are "set" for a real celebration this evening.

The warm damp weather is not like the holiday time in the United States, but there is plenty of holly and mistletoe in the show windows, and vendors are selling little Christmas trees on every corner.

The entire American colony turned out this evening determined to make a night of it for the first time since the big French holiday on July 14, for since then the cafés and restaurants have been closing at 12:30 o'clock.

May Throw Keys Away.

Tonight everything is running full blast until 8 or 9 o'clock Christmas morning and certain Montmartre and Latin quarter resorts expect to keep going right through Christmas day and tomorrow night.

Every table in the leading cafés and restaurants has been reserved, and to care for the overflow all the theaters have arranged to stay open all night, serving cocktails in the foyers and having dancing on the stage.

At the cocktail hour the leading American bars—Claridge's, Maxim's, the Chatham, Henry's, and Ciro's—were jammed with Americans and Englishmen toasting the holiday.

Yank Wins a Goose.

Rimano's bar raffled a live goose which has been strutting around the cafe for a fortnight making friends and customers. Before the lucky number was drawn it was agreed that the pet goose would not be killed. A former American soldier won it. He marched home, leading the tame goose down by a string to the amusement of the boulevard crowds.

Lew Hausser's place raffled a live pig which had been on exhibition in the cafe an dturkeys were raffled in other places.

Nobody ate dinner this evening because they were waiting for special suppers to be served at midnight, costing from 200 to 500 francs a cover exclusive of wines.

Fashion on Parade.

Old timers declared that no such display of jewels, gowns, and furs had ever been seen in Paris as that which filled the boulevards when the fashionables began piling out of their limousines in front of the leading restaurants shortly before midnight.

Although fashion experts announced that winter's styles were less audacious than last year's, mere man had a hard time believing the statement, as the gowns were sleeveless and backless, with short skirts, and seemed as daring as anything seen last year.

Christmas presents were on display also worn by the countless beautiful women who filled the cafés. Square or oblong diamonds, emeralds, and gem encrusted gold and platinum brooches, some eight or ten inches long, were seen. Great ropes of pearls around necks, waists, and even ankles also were features, together with oriental head dresses and jeweled plumes.

Dernier Cri in "Shoes."

The newest footgear is composed mainly of high heels studded with jewels and with leather straps holding the shoes in place, all garnished with jewels and revealing the wearer's foot.

Balloons, masks, wigs, and false noses were passed around and the party will last until the late morning hours.

AID FOR HUNGARIANS.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 24.—The American Relief administration will celebrate Christmas tomorrow by beginning operations in Budapest, Hungary, where, in conjunction with the International Red Cross, they will provide food for 10,000 children.

GOOD FELLOWS LEAVE TRAIL OF HAPPY HEARTS BEHIND THEM

"By-by, Santa," and "God bless you!" chorused the Tomany family as the Good Fellows who took care of them drove away. In the picture are Malveon Tomany, Lloyd, Mrs. Tomany, Clayton, and Blanche Tomany.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

"O, Santa's been here!" It will be a real Christmas for the Sayer children—Mildred, Irene, and George. Good Fellows saw to it that these three little ones were not forgotten yesterday.

In a hospital at Drexel avenue and Forty-seventh street are 600 men invalided by the great war. Every one of these 600 heroes received a check yesterday to buy whatever Christmas present he might want most. The money was provided by the Good Fellows of Chicago, for whom The Tribune acted as agent. Look over the boys, Good Fellows. Was it worth it?

HARDING'S STAND ACCOMMODATING ON LEAGUE: TAFT

Ex-President Tells of Exchange of Views.

Marion, O., Dec. 24.—President Elect Harding today conferred with former President William Howard Taft, whose ideas as to the league of nations have not always coincided with those of the new party leader.

The former chief executive of the nation arrived early this morning from Chicago and had breakfast with Senator and Mrs. Harding. Then they began a conference which continued until almost noon.

Mr. Taft later gave out a form statement in which he discussed the senator's views on the Versailles league and the proposed society of nations advocated by Senator Harding.

Mr. Taft's Statement.

"I enjoyed very much my conference with Senator Harding," Mr. Taft's statement said. "I found that he had been using the conferences with his visitors to formulate and confirm the general views he expressed in his speech of acceptance and that of Aug. 28. He felt confident that the desire of the American people, as interpreted by him in his campaign experiences and in the results of the election, was to avoid the political and military obligations of the treaty and the league.

"But he feels strongly the necessity for reaching a common ground with the leading powers of the world for an agreement that shall secure a gradually effective limitation of armament, a court with jurisdiction over justiciable questions, and a conference of nations to negotiate and press a compromise of every nonjusticiable question threatening war and which shall give us the benefit of the adjustment of our relations with Germany secured to the United States in the treaty without objectionable features of the provisions of the treaty, as shown in the Republican reservations, and without participation in such commissions under the treaty as concern European nations.

At Least Favors Progress.

"I am much encouraged to think that the senator is working out a practical solution which may not be wholly satisfactory to the enthusiasts at either extreme, of whom I may be considered one, but will satisfy those anxious to make progress and anxious to give the United States the leadership she should have in guiding all the nations to permanent peace so far as that is practicable.

"Of course, the senator is properly chary of a definite program because it must depend on the circumstances, which only actual conferences with all concerned may develop, but that he is bent on working out in a very practical way a real and useful association is most apparent.

"He is in an accommodating state of mind as to details and even important provisions, if the definite objections he always expressed to the methods and aims and obligations of a political and military character contained in the treaty and the league are obviated in the new agreement."

Will Have Quiet Christmas.

Senator Harding has no conferences nor engagements scheduled for tomorrow. With Mrs. Harding, he will eat Christmas dinner with half a dozen newspaper men whom he has invited to be his guests. Most of the morning will be spent by the president elect and Mrs. Harding opening the hundreds of presents which have been received from all parts of the country.

ANTI-LEAGUERS FEAR HARDING IS FOR OLD TREATY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Persistent reports from Marion that President Elect Harding has been persuaded to return to the idea of ratifying the treaty of Versailles, including the league of nations covenant, with reservations disentangling the United States from undesirable obligations, have aroused the "irreconcilables."

The "irreconcilables" are anxious to "go along" with the new administration in questions of foreign policy, but they have made it plain that they will not hesitate to combat Mr. Harding's leadership just as vigorously as they have Mr. Wilson's if he undertakes to have the Versailles treaty ratified.

They are confident that they will be much stronger in the new senate than they were last spring when they succeeded in defeating the treaty by a narrow margin.

MAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Peter Polson, 67 years old, of Lemont, Ill., was instantly killed by a fast train at the Stevens street crossing of the Chicago and Alton in Lemont yesterday. There is no watchman at this point, but the gates were down.

JAPAN'S BUDGET ESTIMATES SHOW BIG INCREASES

To Spend Huge Sum on "National Strength."

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Dec. 24.—Baron Korekiyo Takahashi, Japanese minister of finance, addressing a caucus of the lower house today on Japan's budget estimates, declared:

"In framing its estimates the government is guided by its policy of increasing the national strength."

In presenting the figures, which show big increases in all departments, but particularly in contemplated expenditures for the army, navy, and communications, to the caucus of peers the minister said:

Japan's "Frugality."

"Every effort has been made toward frugality, but, at the same time, the greatest amounts possible within the scope of the state have been allowed where demands were most essential for development of the national power and the improvement of social conditions."

From an "ordinary" income of 1,250,000,000 yen and an "extraordinary" income of 325,000,000 yen, Japan contemplates the following expenditures during 1921, according to the minister's budget estimates:

Total expenditures, 1,562,000,000 yen; army, 263,000,000 yen, an increase over 1920 of 50,000,000 yen; navy, 498,000,000 yen, increase of 125,000,000 yen; communications, 264,000,000 yen, increase of 52,000,000 yen. Similar increases are noted in all the other departments.

Firm on Racial Equality.

Baron Takahashi in replying to questions declared that in reference to waiving her claims for the right of immigration into Australian mandated territory Japan had acted only after her definite declaration of intention to insist upon maintenance of the principle of equal opportunity and of the rights and property of Japanese already in such territory.

Touching upon the California land legislation, he said the matter still was under diplomatic consideration and that Japan expected that a new treaty with the United States would restrict the land legislation somewhat.

JAPAN ON DEFENSIVE?

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Baron Hayasha, Japanese ambassador to London, said in an interview today:

"I am sure that London, in common with the other nations, sees the advantage, from a financial viewpoint, of limiting armaments and is ready to do anything within its power to obtain this object.

"Japan's policy always has been to maintain American and Chinese friendships and it does not desire to set the pace in the race of armaments. Our naval program is solely a defensive measure. A British alliance is the source of satisfaction to all Japanese."

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.

President Wilson's Christmas gift to the people of Santo Domingo was the announcement that the American forces of occupation will be withdrawn and a native government restored as soon as new laws framed by a native commission are adopted.

The senate "irreconcilables" are becoming disquieted by reports that President Elect Harding will favor the ratification of the Versailles treaty with reservations clearly disentangling the United States from all undesirable obligations.

J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, advocated the granting of a credit of $1,000,000,000 to Germany for the purchase of American products at a joint meeting of the senate committees on banking and currency and agriculture.

Application for approval of issuance of securities under a program of reorganization of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad has been made to the interstate commerce commission. A considerable reduction in the indebtedness and stock of the company is contemplated.

PAWN GERMANY AT UNCLE SAM'S, FARMER ADVISES

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Doubt as to the feasibility of the proposed German credit for the purchase of American products was expressed by several senators today when J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, urged favorable action before a joint meeting of the senate committee on banking and currency and that on agriculture.

Mr. Howard, however, insisted that if a first lien on all property in Germany is given with the consent of the reparations commission, it would not matter what the amount involved in later mortgages might be.

"If the ultimate result is insolvency I think the value of the first mortgage is questionable," commented Senator McLean.

"We favor extending foreign credits to any foreign nations that can buy our goods and pay for them, whether Germany, or Austria, or Russia, or any other nation,' Mr. Howard said.

"Our thought is that Germany or Austria can deposit those first lien bonds with the war finance corporation.

The federal reserve board, through Gov. Harding, suggested to Chairman McLean of the banking committee introduction and consideration of a bill authorizing federal land banks to make direct loans to the public for agricultural purposes.

SCHOOL BOY ORATORS TO DEBATE.

Twenty or more high and parochial school boy orators will debate the issue, "Why My School Is the Best," at the annual sons of members' dinner of the Association of Commerce Monday evening in the Hotel La Salle. A committee of three will select the best speaker and give him a silver loving cup as a reward for his efforts.

RICH COAL MAN AND WIFE FIGHT BANDIT IN DARK

She Is Held as Human "Shield" to Escape.

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Robert L. Ireland, former partner of the late Mark Hanna and a director of the M. A. Hanna Coal company, was roused from sleep in his apartment on the fourth floor of the Murray Hill hotel early this morning by his wife, who said she heard some one moving about the apartment.

Mr. Ireland jumped from bed and, taking an automatic pistol, ran into the living room. At a desk he saw a man working over Mrs. Ireland's jewel case. Mr. Ireland called, "Put up your hands!"

The man looked around deliberately and raised one hand. Then with a swift movement he caught up a light chair and hurled it at the pit of Mr. Ireland's stomach.

Ireland in Trouble.

The impact of the chair doubled Mr. Ireland and he dropped his weapon.

The intruder followed the chair and attempted to swing it at the coal man's head. Mr. Ireland caught at it and they fought for it until the chair came apart.

A jagged piece of the chair came away. Mr. Ireland struck the man with it repeatedly over the head and then recovered the pistol. He pulled the trigger, but the safety catch had been thrown into action and it would not fire.

The Human Shield.

Mrs. Ireland ran in screaming. The robber swung her between himself and Mr. Ireland.

Using Mrs. Ireland as a screen, the robber backed to the door and dragged her after him down the hall. Then he fled down the back stairs.

Will Go to Ardmore "When Needed."

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 24.—Clara Barton Smith, who arrived here today from El Paso, will spend Christmas here. This was decided tonight. Charles A. Coakley, one of her lawyers, is on his way to Ardmore, Okla., to arrange the final details for her arrival there. Sheriff Buck Garrett remains here.

"When needed" she will go to that city and enter a plea of "not guilty" to the charge of having fired the shot that caused the death of Jake L. Hamon, wealthy oil man and Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma.

To Be Freed Soon.

It is planned that she will be released on $10,000 bonds, for which provision has been made; that she will visit a sister at New Wilson, and that then she will return to El Paso and remain with her parents until called to Ardmore for trial.

Dispatches from Oklahoma City today declared that Gov. Robertson would not have the attorney general of Oklahoma interfere with the trial unless something happened to call for such action.

"Confession" Is Denied.

Meanwhile from Ardmore came word that the law firm retained to defend her had issued a statement repudiating the story that she had told a chauffeur, while traveling from Dallas to Cisco, Tex., by taxi, that she had shot Hamon. The statement said she had remained in Ardmore until advised by Hamon to leave. When she did go, it said, she went "in company with her sister by automobile to Durant, Okla., from there to Denison, Tex., where she took the interurban train to Dallas. Proceeding to Fort Worth, she purchased a ticket to El Paso, upon her arrival at which place she first learned of the death of Mr. Hamon."

DISCHARGED ON WIDOW'S COMPLAINT.

Samuel Markin, 1658 West Congress street, a tailor, was discharged yesterday by Judge John A. Burgee on complaint of Mrs. Gertrude Rossner, 4806 Park avenue, a widow, who alleged that Markin had ordered her to choose between death and marriage to him.

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

COBLENZ.—In addition to enjoying a day of festivity, American forces on the Rhine will play Santa to unfortunate German children.

PARIS.—Paris tilts the lid so Americans can celebrate Christmas to their hearts' content.

DUBLIN.—While no official truce is on, it is indicated that Sinn Fein leaders are striving against hostilities during the holidays.

TOKIO.—In officially announcing Japan's budget estimates, which show big increases in army, navy, and communications estimates, the Japanese finance minister declares the government was guided by its policy of increasing the national strength.

PARIS.—French chamber fails to share alarm expressed by former War Minister Lefevre of secret German military preparations; thinks France is abundantly prepared.

FIUME.—Gabriele d'Annunzio refuses to receive further communications from Italian officials outside of Fiume, considering the war is on. Citizens oppose the poet's policy, fearing the result of a conflict with Italy.

BAKER, DANIELS, SEND GREETINGS TO ARMY, NAVY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—Secretaries Baker and Daniels sent today to the men of the army and navy, respectively, their last Christmas messages.

Mr. Daniels' greeting "to the navy family" said:

"Christmas greetings and appreciation of the splendid service which the navy has rendered in the year that is closing and in the world war. Its past contribution to real Americanism is an earnest evidence of its future service in preserving the peace of the world."

Mr. Baker's message was:

"The secretary of war greets the officers and men of the army and wishes them not only a happy Christmas but a New Year filled with peace and progress. The traditions of valor and sacrifice established by the army in the world war are a common pride and inspiration to all the people of the country. The new army inherits these traditions."

UNION OFFICIAL SHOT; LOST HAT 'MYSTERY' CLEW

Denies Fight and Tells of Auto Robbery.

Police last night sought to solve the mystery of the shooting last evening in which Frank Douglas, 1035 South Seeley avenue, was wounded in the face and arm.

FRANK DOUGLAS.

Douglas, who says he is president of the Retail Grocery and Market Drivers' union, was taken to the Cottage Grove avenue police station by a taxicab driver at 6:15. The driver said Douglas hailed him at Twenty-second street and Wabash avenue and asked him to take him to a hospital.

Douglas said he had been forced into an automobile by three men who met him at Dearborn and Madison streets, and that after they had robbed him they shot him and tossed him out of the machine.

His Hat Missing.

He was hazy as to particulars. His hat was missing. In a coat pocket the police found a thirty-two caliber revolver with two chambers empty. The other cartridges showed marks indicating that there had been an attempt to fire them.

At 6 o'clock the Deering street police were called to 2704 Archer avenue. There had been a fight. Several shots had been fired. Peter Ginger, 46 years old, a carpenter, was suffering from a bullet wound. He was taken to the People's hospital. He said three men invaded the place and shot him.

Hat Marked "F. D." Found.

Michael Dziedeis, who also was in the place, was stabbed, but not seriously hurt. The police say that moonshine whisky figured in the fight. A velour hat marked "F. D.," Douglas' initials, was found nearby. The hat was identified as belonging to the labor official, according to the police.

At the county hospital it was said Douglas was wounded by bullets from an automatic pistol and that the wounds are not serious. Douglas denied he had figured in any labor disputes. The offices of the Chicago Retail Grocery and Market Drivers' union are at 732 West Madison street.

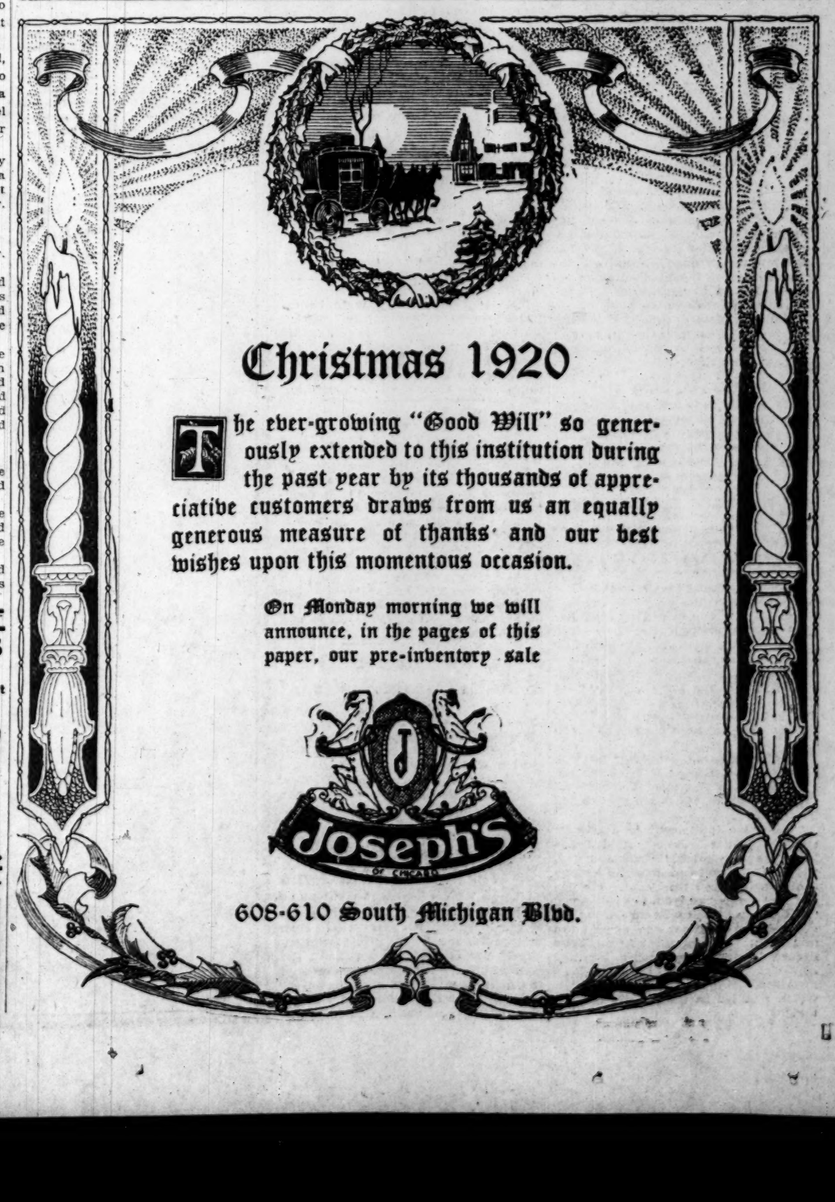

Brother Tries to Square Triangle; Shot for Pains

When the police, hearing of a shooting affray, entered the house at 4524 South Marshfield avenue they found that the usual couple and the customary boarder performed their parts as per schedule, but it was the wife's brother who resented the "friendship" of his sister and the boarder.

Tony Vertkas, the brother, was shot. John Dlukenas, his wife, Veronica, who is fair, fat, and 40, and Sam Snikonski, boarder de luxe, were taken to the station. The husband was indifferent and slept through the inquiry.

Rob a Milwaukee Jeweler; Losses Placed at $50,000

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 24.—While thousands were surging past Milwaukee's busiest downtown corner this afternoon, two armed bandits held up Joseph Malnekoff, a diamond dealer, and escaped with jewels valued at $50,000, according to Malnekoff's story to the police.

'GERMANY CAN'T COME BACK,' IS FRENCH OPINION

Lefevre Alarm Not Shared by Chamber.

PARIS, Dec. 24.—France is in a position to amply protect herself against Germany, if necessary, was the prevailing opinion manifested in the chamber today following criticisms against the present government policy by Andre Lefevre, former minister of war.

The new war minister, Flaminius Raiberti, said he was in accord with Marshals Foch and Petain in advocating a reduction of the period of military service and lightening the army budget. He announced that the Germans had destroyed or delivered 3,896 cannon and that 60,000 more were in the course of delivery.

Lefevre, in explaining his retirement from the war ministry, had said:

"I believe Germany still has 200,000 machine guns."

He affirmed also that the Krupp works had continued working under intense pressure, turning out field guns, after the armistice and until the peace treaty's commission of control was installed.

M. Lefevre declared he had documents in his possession showing that under divers names there were formations in Germany of men under arms numbering more than 2,500,000.

"Germany Cannot Come Back."

M. Lefevre's views were answered at once by government supporters.

"Germany cannot come back," said Lieut. Col. Jean Fabry. "When a country, after forty-four years of victorious preparation, could not wage a winning war, it is idle to think that, defeated, she can have success."

Premier Leygues took the floor and recalled that France held bridgeheads on the Rhine which she was supposed to give up in fifteen years only if Germany executed the treaty of Versailles. He added to the statistics given by M. Raiberti, saying that of 30,000 motors and 18,000 airplanes Germany possessed after the signing of the armistice she had delivered 25,000 motors and 15,000 airplanes.

Andre Tardieu interrupted the premier to ask if it were not a fact that the Franco-American treaty not having been ratified, and the Franco-British treaty being noneffective for that reason, France, according to the treaty of Versailles, could hold the left bank of the Rhine until Germany executed the treaty terms.

To this M. Leygues replied:

"It is quite true that we no longer are in the position we were in 1914—menaced by a sudden attack. The Germans cannot maintain a single soldier in the zone of protection and that is a perpetual provision. The bridgeheads we hold we are called on to abandon in fifteen years if the treaty is executed, but if the treaty terms are not carried out we will continue to hold them."

BULLETIN.

CORK, Dec. 24.—A military proclamation orders that all householders in the martial law area on Jan. 1 affix to their doors a list of all inmates, giving age, sex, and other description. Hotels and lodging house keepers are required to furnish daily a similar list.

DUBLIN, Dec. 24.—There will be a Christmas truce in Ireland in so far as the leaders of the Sinn Fein can use their influence in that direction, it was stated here today. Cold has set in, and this, too, will have some measure in subduing warlike tendencies.

The inclement weather of the last few weeks has had its effect on the spirits of the Irish militants. These young men are forced to lie out in the hills poorly fed and insufficiently clad. Hundreds died of pneumonia recently, and the rest are getting tired of the game.

Dublin Editor Convicted.

DUBLIN, Dec. 24.—P. J. Hopper, editor of the Freeman's Journal, has been sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, and a fine of £3,000 has been imposed on the Freeman's Journal, because of the publication of an article alleging ill treatment of a prisoner in the Portobello barracks.

Hamilton Edwards and Martin Fitzgerald, directors of the paper, also were sentenced to twelve months in prison on the same charge.

BRITISH ARREST 24.

CORK, Dec. 24.—Military forces yesterday raided the village of Clondulane, County Cork, and made twenty-four arrests. The prisoners were taken to the barracks in Fermoy, a mile and a half west of Clondulane.

ALLEGES WOMAN LOADED GUN THAT KILLED HORTON

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The revolver that killed Police Lieutenant Floyd Horton was owned by Mrs. Lucille Emma Brooks, wife of the Chicago insurance man, and was loaded by her, it was charged today by Bernard Sandler, attorney for Nicholas Laresch, who was indicted for the murder of Horton after Mrs. Brooks and Cavanaugh, her companion on the night of the murder, had been cleared of suspicion.

Sandler declared the revolver was given by Mrs. Brooks to Nicholas Laresch's brother, "a mental defective," killed by Horton, to kill a man who had insulted her.

"Laresch's indictment is a miscarriage of justice," Sandler told Judge McIntyre in General Sessions today. "He is being railroaded to the electric chair on perjured testimony. He has received a message from the woman to 'sit tight and I will take care of you.'

"The two persons who caused the murder have gone scot free. They earned immunity by giving perjured evidence for the grand jury. They instigated the murder of another man which resulted in the murder of Horton."

"The English people are not behind the British government in its present attitude toward the Irish people."

This was the opinion expressed last night by Mrs. Annot Erskine Robinson of Manchester, England, who, with Miss Ellen C. Wilkinson, also of Manchester, arrived in Chicago yesterday as Christmas guests of Miss Jane Addams at Hull House. Both Mrs. Robinson and Miss Wilkinson were among the ten representatives of the Woman's International league who testified recently in Washington on the Irish situation. The league had sent the ten women to investigate conditions in Ireland, each being assigned to a different district.

"We in England feel that this question has now become an international question," said Mrs. Robinson. "As yet the British press has published little concerning our commission but we expect to see to it that it does publish something upon our return.

"We feel that the only solution of this question is to let the Irish have their way and I think the various factions will become reconciled as time goes on. Trade unionism is doing a great deal towards bringing this about.

"It was a different thing while the war was in progress. The English people were unitedly behind their government but they are not behind it on its present attitude toward the Irish."

M. E. CENTENARY FUND 24 MILLION; CHICAGO IN LEAD

The Rev. R. J. Wade of Chicago, corresponding secretary of the Methodist Episcopal church committee on conservation and advance, has just returned from a series of meetings of church boards at Boston, Philadelphia, and New York.

"During the eighteen months ending Dec. 1, comprising the first year and a half of Methodist centenary campaign, $24,473,515 has been paid on the centenary subscriptions," declared Dr. Wade. "This means Methodist contributions have been trebled and quadrupled since this huge undertaking was begun less than two years ago. The Chicago area has contributed more than one-tenth of the entire amount and the Rock River conference, which includes Chicago, has contributed $1,000,000.

"Most of this money is to be expended in centenary projects within Chicago and vicinity. It is confidently expected Methodist people will contribute larger amounts in coming months, enabling the church more rapidly to complete the reconstruction program."

Mme. Walska, Opera Star, Back with Her Husband

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The mystery which surrounded the movements of Mrs. Alexander Smith Cochran since, as Mme. Ganna Walska, the Polish prima donna, she suddenly left the Chicago Grand Opera company and came to New York five days ago, was cleared up today. Mr. Cochran booked a suite of two rooms and bath for himself and wife on the White Star liner Olympic, which sails at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 29, for Cherbourg and Southampton.

Struck by Auto Truck as He Crosses Boulevard

Patrick McKenna, 4412 Wilcox street, was probably fatally injured last night when he was struck by a service truck owned by the Metropolitan garage, 2033 West North avenue, while attempting to cross at West Jackson boulevard and South Kilbourn avenue. The truck was driven by Stanley Metra, 4100 Henderson street.

Zeligowski Mobilizes for Move on Lithuania

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—Quai d'Orsay received information today that Gen. Zeligowski, the Polish officer who occupied the city of Vilna without the consent of his government, has ordered the general mobilization of his forces and will enter the Lithuanian zone occupied by the regular Polish forces.

WOMEN VICTIMS OF CHRISTMAS EVE FOOTPADS

Christmas eve banditry reached its climax last night in the shooting of Charles Wegyzin, 169 North Carpenter street. A lone holdup man entered his room and ordered him to hold up his hands. Wegyzin, unarmed, started to battle with the robber. The latter grabbed his watch and chain and fired a shot which inflicted a flesh wound in his shoulder, then escaped.

A number of women victims also were singled out by Christmas eve footpads, who committed forty holdups last night. Mrs. Edward Keefer, 6045 Prairie avenue, and her daughter, Marian, were returning from a movie when two Negroes threatened them with revolvers near their home and escaped with two sealskin coats worth $800 and $5,000 worth of jewelry.

A $3,000 diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Keefer was among the articles taken. The Negroes even waited to remove the earrings from their victims' ears.

Hold Up Girl Ticket Agent.

A lone Negro holdup man threatened Miss Bessie Behan, 2104 South Trumbull avenue, ticket agent at the Douglas Park station of the Metropolitan "L," with a revolver and escaped with $12. Miss Ruth Wilson, 5719 Drexel avenue, was robbed of a wrist watch and $35 by a lone highwayman in Fifty-seventh street between Maryland and Drexel avenues.

Two armed men obtained $500 in cash from Frank Person in his drug store at 6618 Roosevelt road.

Christmas Thieves Busy.

Shortly before 6 o'clock five men in an automobile drew up in front of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, 6233 South Halsted street, and held up Fred Klein, a grocer at 539 West Sixty-eighth street, as he was about to enter and deposit the receipts for the day. They robbed him of $325 currency and $135 in checks.

Two armed men bound and gagged Meyer Goldberg in his tailor shop at 744 North Wells street and escaped with $84 and a suit of clothes. Forty minutes elapsed before the tailor was able to free himself and notify the police.

Ben Pendell, proprietor of Pendell's Union Label store, 1015 Ogden avenue, was bound with ropes by two holdup men who took his watch and $30.

Four men in an automobile held up a driver for the United Sponging company, 913 West Van Buren street, in an alley at the rear of 831 West Adams street and escaped with ten bolts of woolens worth $3,000.

Bag Barnes Robber.

Earlier in the day Ivan Gilmore, one of the three men who on Wednesday held up Mrs. George Barnes and two guests in her apartment and robbed them of cash and jewelry amouting to $1,200, was taken into custody at the St. Regis hotel, 518 North Clark street. Gilmore, said to have a record as a burglar, made a confession and offered to give the police information leading to the capture of two accomplices. He said his "partners" still had the loot. It was expected they would be rounded up in last night's drive.

RAID "DRUG DEN"; TRAP 9

Nine men were arrested and a large quantity of drugs seized in a raid by federal agents and the police on a rooming house at 935 South State street last night. It was the first of a series of raids planned by Col. Beach of the federal anti-narcotic department and Chief Fitzmorris.

Three of the men arrested are said to have police records. One of them, Beane Matthews, known to the police as "the Mex," is said to be an ex-convict and the most valuable find of the raid.

Drugs were concealed in a score of places around the house. Several packages of cocaine were found under a mattress and concealed in the walls. A watch case was filled with opium.

Federal officials said the house was used as a clearing and distributing station for illicit drugs.

MAYOR VISITS CHIEF'S OFFICE FOR FIRST TIME

As a rule, when Mayor Thompson wants to see a department head he presses a button. But yesterday, for the first time in his nearly six years in office, he visited the chief of police.

The mayor walked through the newly decorated inner office of Chief of Police Fitzmorris, the fourth chief of the mayor's regime, without comment until he came to the large glass-inclosed case where the burnished stars of fifty-seven policemen, who were killed in line of duty, are hung.

"That's a sad spectacle," the mayor said. "But it is incomplete. There should be another frame beside it, inclosing a star for each murderer hanged in Chicago for killing a policeman. But the sad part of it is that such a frame would be much smaller than this one."

In the chief's office the mayor met Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes for the first time, and congratulated him on his attempts to clean up Chicago.

BARON LOSES IN FIGHT FOR SON, OTTO YOUNG HEIR

Chicago Wife Is Victor in First Round.

Mrs. Cecile Young Heyworth de Korwin, Chicago heiress to millions, won the first battle yesterday in her sensational legal fight with her debonair husband, Baron Chevalier Joseph de Korwin, for the custody of Stanislaus Stephen de Korwin, their 8 year old son.

The baron, who claims that his service in the war won him recognition among 3,000,000 Poles in America and fame in European courts as an aeronautical expert, has sued for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain possession of the lad. He had never seen his son, who was born in Vienna, until yesterday.

Judge McKinley continued the case until next Thursday to hear a score of witnesses, many of whom are of the European nobility. But he decreed that for the present the lad should remain with his mother.

Heiress to Millions.

The court fight revealed the disastrous finish of a sensational international courtship. Mrs. de Korwin was formerly the wife of Lawrence Heyworth. Her father was the late Otto Young, Chicago millionaire merchant. She is heiress of an estate valued at $25,000,000.

The baron—in his prayer for the possession of his child he states he is 48 years old—was born in Poland. He says he is of a noble family. A. S. Trude, counsel for Mrs. de Korwin, disparaged his nobility yesterday by telling the story of how a Polish king once waved his sword over an entire army and made the soldiers all counts.

Baron Accuses Wife.

"My wife is not fit to rear this boy. Look at her other children. They won't obey her and are a continual source of worry to her," the baron said. "I have a cousin, Baroness Stephanie Habermann of the Castle Sterrick, Linz, Austria, who is much more capable of educating the boy. Please give my son to her."

The baroness was in court. She explained that she had come to America especially to assist the baron in finding and obtaining the custody of his child. She said the search had required six years.

"Every time we have tried to find the boy or his mother they have heard of our coming and fled," she explained.

"It's all bunk. My husband has cost me $100,000," Mrs. De Korwin objected.

Trude Assails Baron.

"Yes, your honor, that's what this nobleman is seeking now—money. He married for money and he looks upon his son as a certified check that he will get more," Attorney A. S. Trude continued.

"This man has passed a dissolute life. He has lived under the red lights of debauchery. He is known in Europe as a migratory fraud."

"When Mrs. de Korwin married him," the attorney continued, "she had to buy off nine former sweethearts and eleven Cyprians who had claims against him. One of his morganatic wives held him up on the wedding day and Mrs. de Korwin had to pay her $1,000 before the wedding march could be played."

"That's all untrue. I never had a morganatic wife," the baron countered, "and I don't want my wife's money.

"I only want my son to be properly reared. My chief ambition is for him to be a good American citizen."

Trude Defends Mother.

When Attorney Edwin B. Mayer, the baron's counsel, assailed Mrs. de Korwin, he aroused the ire of Attorney Trude, famous Chicago lawyer, who came out of virtual retirement to defend the American mother's right to her boy.

"To attack any woman without any evidence to support the charge is infamous. And the more so when the truth of the matter shows the one making the charge is the one who is really guilty."

The baron heard himself referred to as a "charlatan and a blackmailer—an Austrian who at the outbreak of the war claimed to be a Pole"—in silence.

"The truth will come out when our witnesses arrive," the baron's attorney said afterwards. "This man is famous. He has dined with kings and been the friend of czars."

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—James F. McGuinness, a prohibition enforcement agent attached to the staff of State Prohibition Director Charles R. O'Connor and related by marriage to Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, was found dead today in Newark bay at the foot of Forty-third street, Bayonne, N. J., with a bullet wound in the right temple. The fact that the bullet had plowed through the man's derby hat and the absence of a motive for suicide tonight led Thomas Tumulty, a brother to Secretary Tumulty, to assert that the man had been slain.

IN FIGHT FOR MILLIONS

Baron Joseph de Korwin, who is fighting in the Chicago courts for the possession of his son, the heir to the millions left by Otto Young, Chicago merchant, is shown in company with the late czar and czarina of Russia and former President Fallieres of France. The baron was introduced to the former Russian rulers by the French president to tell them of his work in the development of French hydroplanes.

YULE TAPER HIT BY BABY FIRES HOUSE; 9 SAVED

Before leaving to take his place on the night shift at the Illinois Steel company last night, Walter Walawski played Santa Claus for his six children in his home, the first flat of a two story frame structure at 8241 Brandon avenue. The candles on the Christmas tree were lighted, the toys distributed, and Walawski left for work.

Shortly before 10 o'clock Mrs. Walawski retired, leaving five of the children playing about the tree in the dining room.

While reaching for a bauble on the tree, Mary, 3 years old, shoved a lighted candle against a curtain. A moment later the whole tree was ablaze. The three older children—Leo, 8; Stella, 7, and Anna, 6 years old—dashed up the stairs to the flat occupied by Stanley Baecke and his wife, Stella.

"The whole house is burning up!" shouted Leo.

Mary and her brother, John, 4, awakened their mother in time to take the baby and run out through the smoke and flames.

The fire spread so rapidly that before Baecke could get the other three children downstairs the stairway was on fire. Trapped, he rushed to a front window and shouted for help. Patrolman Morris O'Donnell, a block away, heard his cries and came running.

One by one Baecke lowered the three children at arm's length and dropped them into the arms of the patrolman. Then he attempted to do the same with Mrs. Baecke, but his grasp broke and she fell to the sidewalk, fracturing her left leg. Baecke leaped to safety without injury.

Mrs. Baecke was rushed to a hospital. By this time the flames had licked their way to the second floor and Battalion Chief Patrick Rogers turned in a 2-11 alarm, fearing the fire would spread to other frame structures. The building was destroyed.

Central Park, N. Y., Closed at Midnight in Crime War

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Central park tonight was ordered closed to pedestrian and vehicular traffic at midnight by Richard E. Enright, police commissioner, "for the protection of the public." The park will remain closed nightly from midnight until the daylight hours "until further orders" as part of the police campaign against criminals.

ARNSTEIN JURY DISAGREES AND IS DISCHARGED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—The jury in the case of Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein and others reported to Justice Gould today that it was unable to agree on a verdict after nineteen hours' deliberation. Justice Gould discharged the jury and announced a mistrial and bail bonds were continued.

Arnstein, David W. Sullivan, Norman S. Bowles, and Wilen W. Easterday were charged with conspiring to bring stolen securities into the District of Columbia from New York.

The trial lasted four weeks.

Bowles was rearrested in court on a telegraphic request from the authorities of New York City, where he is also under indictment. Justice Gould issued a writ of habeas corpus returnable Jan. 14 and released Bowles on $1,000 bail.

Mrs. Sophia Monson Dies; Actress and Friend of Ibsen

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Sophia Monson, once an actress of world fame, died at her home here today, aged 78. Mrs. Monson was the last surviving member of the original cast at the Norwegian National theater, established in 1862 by Ole Bull.

She was a lifelong friend of Ibsen and was said to have been the first actress in America to play Nora in "A Doll's House."

CHICAGO TO BE GREATEST PORT, SAYS ENGINEER

U. S. Official Reports on Advantages.

Chicago is pictured as the future "world's greatest port" in a report upon the Chicago harbor problem made by Col. W. V. Judson, United States army engineer, in charge of the district in which the city is located. The report deals in detail with the conditions which are declared to justify the colonel's prediction. It selects Wolf and George lakes, in the extreme southern portion of the city, and the shores of Lake Michigan adjacent as the site of the future great harbor.

Report in Detail.

The report, in memorandum form, follows:

"2. In less than ten years Chicago will be the northern terminus of an eight foot barge channel connecting the great lakes and the railways centering at Chicago with the coal mines of Illinois, the cotton belt of the southern states, and the ocean port of New Orleans.

"3. It seems reasonable to assert that within less than fifteen years Chicago will be connected with the great ports and sea routes of the world by a channel from twenty-two to twenty-five feet deep, following the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

"4. Never before did it seem as fair to point out in prophecy a region where there must inevitably and soon be established the world's greatest port facilities to take care of the vast warehousing and transfer operations which will be required when and where there will be a common meeting place of so many agencies of transportation.

Center of District.

"5. The locus of this great prospective center of commerce is the Chicago district.

"6. Where in a great stream of commodities undergoing transportation there is a breaking of bulk, it is customary to find an industrial and commercial city, where many of the commodities passing through are changed in character by manufacture, or warehoused and resold by local merchants.

"7. Within the Chicago industrial and commercial district, extending say from the Evanston line to Gary along the lake shore and far landward thereof, we find nature's most marvelous preparation of land and water to serve the ends of man in the requirements of the future.

"8. The lands are low lying and flat, without bluffs where land and water meet, such as occur north of us, and without sand dunes, such as lie to the east of us. Bluffs and sand dunes are picturesque, but they add vastly to the cost of adapting shore lands to the purposes of commerce and industry.

Chance for Made Land.

"9. The foreshore of Lake Michigan fronting the Chicago district slopes very gently lakeward, so that the seven fathom contour is four miles off shore instead of three-quarters of a mile, as is the case east of Gary. This means that in our submerged lands or foreshore, all publicly owned, the Chicago district possesses nearly a hundred square miles, any part of which it is within the power of man to raise into land to serve one great purpose or another. This is an asset of almost incalculable value. A map has been prepared which shows drawn to corresponding scale and superposed upon our foreshore the principal harbor and a large part of the urban areas of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Galveston, Hamburg, and Liverpool, and there is no crowding.

"10. Back of the lake shore we have, in the Chicago river and its branches, the Main and Sag drainage canals, the Calumet river and its branches, and the Indiana harbor canal, some ninety-two miles of channel available within the urban area for barges and lighters, and in some parts still promising long continued useful navigation for lake vessels.

"11. Possessed of these marvelous assets, and confronted with vast expansions of commerce in the immediate future, we are indeed no less in the presence of opportunity than of demand upon our every resource to plan and exercise foresight.

Question of Location.

"12. Where, for example, shall be planned and built the wharves, with the warehouses, the railway yards for car storage, convenient to the wharves, the breakwaters and the channels of approach?

"13. The lake shore from Oak street to Evanston is devoted to high class residential purposes and to parks.

"14. In Lake Michigan north and south of the mouth of the Chicago river lie two small harbor districts. Their limited extent and other circumstances, especially relating to convenient and general accessibility by rail, preclude all thought that they go far to solve the wharfage problem.

"15. The Chicago river, in response to inexorable urban requirements, has become unfit for navigation by large vessels. Its commerce now is but little more than one-fifth of what it was many years ago, and what lake commerce now utilizes the river places indirect costs upon this community for bridge operation and interruptions to land traffic which would not longer be endured if they were fairly envisaged.

"16. Grant park, the Field museum, Jackson park, and other park projects occupy the lake shore from Randolph street southward to the Illinois Steel company's great industrial plant at South Chicago, although lakeward of some of these park lands, south of Sixteenth street, and embracing a part of them if necessary, wharves may be built.

Against Lake Calumet.

"17. The banks of Calumet river and of the Indiana Harbor canal serve excellently as sites for great industrial plants requiring water transportation of coal and other raw materials. Lake Calumet may be developed into similar industrial sites, but will not serve as a locus for a great transfer harbor by reason of the number of bends and bridges interposing between it and Lake Michigan.

"18. From the Illinois Steel company to Gary, both inclusive, the Lake Michigan shore is largely taken up by industrial plants, including the Iroquois Iron works, Whiting, the Marks plant, Inland Steel, and Universal Portland Cement.

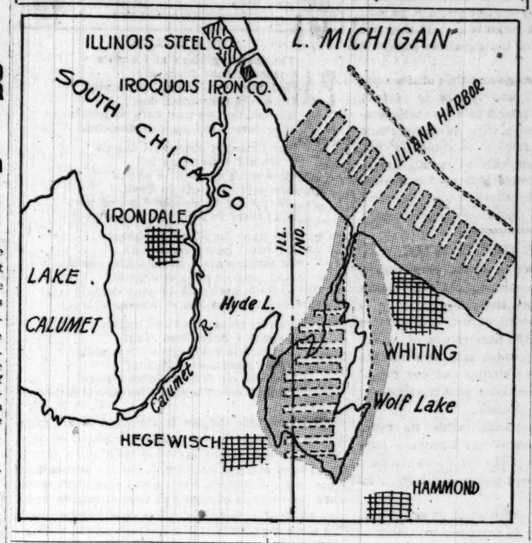

"19. Fortunately the shallow lakes known as Wolf and George, with their marshy margins, lying close to Lake Michigan upon the Illinois-Indiana state line, have preserved from industrial or urban development about three and a half miles of Lake Michigan frontage and some six square miles of submerged and marsh lands lying immediately shoreward thereof.

"20. The Esch-Cummins law places upon the war department the duty of studying local harbor conditions and advising with localities as to wharf developments suited to meet the demands of commerce. An expert branch of the shipping board devoted to the study and planning of wharf facilities has been transferred to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, which is under the war department.

"21. The district engineer of the war department stationed in Chicago has been studying the wharf requirements of this region for many years, and he believes that the Lake Michigan shore near Wolf lake, including Wolf lake itself, offers the greatest opportunity in all this region for the creation of wharf facilities of a character, magnitude, and location suited to meet the demands of the future. He has drawn general plans for these harbor facilities, and they have been approved by the war department agencies in Washington, which are expert in them.

"22. It is to be hoped that all civic organizations devoted to the study of such matters will give the most earnest and immediate attention to the great harbor questions which are now confronting us. Opportunities which now seem to exist must be preserved."

ROBBERS FORCE DRESSEL BANK TO CLOSE DOORS

Frequent Visits Alarm the Depositors.

To a series of robberies and attempted robberies that aroused the fear in the minds of depositors that they might lose their savings and consequent inability to finance a reorganization under the new state law, which requires all private banks to incorporate by Jan. 1, is attributed the closing yesterday of the Dressel Commercial and Savings bank at 2322 West Roosevelt road. Andrew H. Dressel is president of the bank. He could not be found last night for a statement.

Was Urged to Incorporate.

The Dressel bank has been clearing through the Union Trust company, not being a member of the Chicago Clearing House association. The Union Trust company, according to F. H. Rawson, president, has been endeavoring for two or three years to induce Dressel to incorporate. However, as the time drew near for the new law to become operative no actual progress in that direction was made. It is said Dressel had been unable to keep on deposit sufficient funds to cover checks drawn on his bank, and after several warnings the Union Trust yesterday told him that the bank no longer could clear for him. Dressel then returned to his bank and closed the doors. The Dressel bank was in no way connected with the Union Trust except as a customer.

Target of Robbers.

The Dressel bank was the target of robbers three times. On Dec. 23, 1918, four men held up the place and escaped with $6,000. On April 24, 1919, robbers got away with $1,250. The third attempt was made June 16, 1920. The robbers were cheated of their loot, but in a cross-fire between police and the bandits Richard Rouillard, owner of a moving picture theater, was killed.

COURT UPHOLDS RIVER FOREST POLICE CHIEF

Chief of Police Frank W. Laatz of River Forest scored the first victory yesterday in the conflict which began a week ago when he raided the home of Austin Hurlbutt at 101 Broadway, Melrose Park.

In the Hurlbutt home the chief says he seized several hundred dollars worth of stolen property, which, he declares, was stolen by Alfred Asey, son-in-law of Hurlbutt. He then obtained a warrant for the arrest of Hurlbutt and his wife on a charge of receiving stolen property. Hurlbutt retaliated by swearing out a warrant for Laatz' arrest for larceny, charging him with having stolen property from his home.

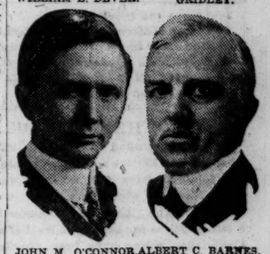

At a hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace W. M. Oliphant of River Forest the Hurlbutts were held The hearing on the charge against Laatz will come up later.

ON CRIME CASES

Four Judges Transferred to Criminal Court to Aid in Clearing Docket of Old Cases.

Four more judges were assigned to the Criminal court yesterday. Chief Justice Theodore Brentano of the Superior court transferred the jurists from the Appellate to the Criminal branch upon request of Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald. The judges transferred are John M. O'Connor, Albert C. Barnes, Martin M. Gridley and William E. Dever. They will assume their new duties on Jan. 17. The transfers are made in accordance with recommendations of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe that the clogged calendars be cleaned of criminal cases, so prompt action may be had on new cases arising out of the drive to rid Chicago of crime.

Judge Joseph David yesterday flatly refused to issue a writ of habeas corpus in the case of John Irving, a suspect arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. Instead of discharging the prisoner, he recommended to the corporation counsel's office that an effort be made to obtain a constitutional amendment providing penitentiary sentences for those found carrying weapons.

Judge Michael McKinley, a colleague of Judge David, remanded to police custody five men arrested as pickpocket suspects.

New York Decision Gives Right to Eject a Tenant

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Landlords of New York won their first victory today when the appellate division of the Supreme court held unconstitutional that chapter of the emergency rent law enacted by the last legislature which makes a tenant immune from ejection on the expiration of his lease.

THE OUTLOOK.

In the foreground of our situation this Christmas day of 1920 are some unpleasant facts. Mills and factories have shut down or curtailed operation. Men and women are out of work and more are going to be. The stock exchange has witnessed a fall of prices far below the level of actual values. Commodity prices have been drastically cut and great losses taken. All business is under severe strain and some concerns will go to the wall. The public has for months withheld buying. Our foreign trade is paralyzed by unfavorable exchange, debt and want of means to buy our products.

Are we trying to spoil your Christmas by rehearsing the woes of our condition? No. We put these outstanding facts at the beginning because they are all in our consciousness and cannot be ignored. They ought not to be. But they need not chill our Christmas cheer, for they are not conclusive. They are in the foreground. The background is bright.

In the foreground we see the process of readjustment going on. We are like a man who has had what we call a breakdown. He has overworked and perhaps overplayed, and nature has intervened.

But she has intervened in good time. The patient is down, but he is down for his own good. Every organ is still sound and the restorative forces of his constitution are at work. He is throwing off the poisons in his system, and his strong heart is pumping clean blood through his veins.

America, like the rest of the world, has passed through the greatest convulsion in history. It is suffering the unescapable consequences. But as it suffered far less than Europe, it is emerging first from the situation. Its loss of life, tragic to individuals, was negligible from the viewpoint of national strength. Its expenditures, huge as they were, were drafts upon a wealth so great that they have left its economic health unshaken. It stands secure today the richest and most powerful of nations, fronting the difficult problems of today and tomorrow with justified confidence.

The process of adjustment will not be quickly over. Enterprises unwisely extended, built upon unsound principles, carried on without sufficient regard to the course of financial and economic events, will go down. Their elimination will benefit the general business condition of the country, like the amputation of an unhealthy member. But such are the financial resources of the nation, now for the first time in our history capable of being effectively mobilized and directed to the common defense, that no sound enterprise need be or will be crushed. Heavy losses will be taken, just as large profits were taken. But the life of all sound business concerns will be saved and they will have means to go forward to a restored prosperity. This includes all industry, not omitting the basic industry of agriculture.

The recovery will not be sudden, any more than a very sick man can rise from his bed completely restored in a day. We must pass through a period of convalescence and perhaps it will seem tedious. But if, as we hope, lessons of thrift and sound business principle are learned, American prosperity will find itself on a more secure foundation than ever before.

In short, we in America have occasion to be thankful this day for our fundamental good fortune, that we have not been called upon to suffer as other peoples have suffered, and that our prospects are brightening steadily amidst apparent gloom. We have occasion to be thankful for the present and confident for the future. Our institutions are broad, lofty, and conceived in wisdom. The resources at our command are hardly touched. Their development offers us a certainty of useful, plentiful, and very profitable labor, and our people, among the most intelligent and energetic of the world, will know how to develop their opportunities.

We can bank on the future of America. We have our faults and our problems. But our margin of good is wide and we may count upon overcoming whatever difficulties lie before us. The troubles that assail us today are conquerable and are even now being bravely conquered.

The most serious of our problems, the chief obstruction to our speedy recovery, is not in our own country, but in Europe. It is our interest and our duty to help there, and we shall help. We must have peace with central Europe and we must extend our credit on wise terms to those peoples who cannot rise without it. As soon as we do this the great machinery of the old world, in whose workings we are necessarily involved, will be set going and we shall all move forward to normal living, to renewed progress and prosperity.

IS THERE A FILIPINO INSURRECTION?

Seventy members of the Philippine constabulary have pleaded guilty to charges of sedition. There also are murder charges against some of them. They shot American police of Manila in a disturbance following the arrest of the wife of a member of the constabulary. When the report of the disorder was sent from Manila no mention was made of sedition, although there was an overtone of trouble more serious than an episodic race flareup.

Filipino agitators may be even closer to independence than they care to be. We can interpret the sentiment of the people only through their politicians and a few nationalistic spokesmen. A Filipino delegate in congress says independence is wanted, preferably with guaranties, but without them if necessary. He speaks officially.

Americans have been committed to giving the islands their freedom when they were ready and we believe that we are ready and hope they are. They have had over twenty years of preparation. A new generation has gone through American schools and is enfranchised since the Americans took the islands. It ought not to be necessary to train their children in turn. If they cannot make it go now they probably never will make it go. If they are headed in the direction of the Japanese empire it may be their destiny.

We are ready to let them go and thus shorten our front. We have Hawaii and Alaska to protect. We need them both and intend to keep them both. For these reasons we hope that no nationalistic zealots corrupt the Philippine constabulary and produce a situation which will not permit Americans to carry out their wise policy. We are for letting our little brown brothers paddle their own canoe and we don't want Uncle Sam in the boat.

SPEAKING OF GOOD WILL.

Judge Taft has done well to protest emphatically against the anti-Jewish propaganda of Henry Ford's organ, the Dearborn Independent.

To begin with, it is grossly unjust, and injustice ought to die quickly in the atmosphere of American life. People of the Jewish faith are like the rest of us. We have our virtues and our faults, and we certainly as Americans should stand out against the stoning of any class.

The anti-Jewish propaganda, with its weird charges, is an importation of the European dark ages. The anti-Semitism of the old world has been a curse to it, and we do not propose to have it infect American thought.

In fact, any influence which emphasizes division of religion, race, or class is injurious to American peace. We ought to set ourselves against it, whether it is pro or anti. True Americanism does not recognize pro-Jewish or anti-Jewish, pro-Irish or anti-Irish, pro-German or anti-German, pro-British or anti-British partisanship.

The hyphen is playing too active a part in our public life today. It is a poison which ought to be expelled and will be in proportion as American ideals are kept clear and bright. Anti-Semitism is one form of the hyphen evil. The good sense and right feeling of America will successfully oppose it.

HOFFMAN THINKS AGAIN.

Gen. Wilhelm Hoffmann, former chief of staff of the German east army, had a great deal to do with the introduction of Lenin into Russia. He had even more to do with the peace of Brest-Litovsk.

The introduction of Lenin by the Germans was to break up the Russian army and destroy it as a military menace to Germany. It was one of the means by which that was accomplished. It was followed by bolshevism.

The bolshevists had to get one thing. That was peace, any kind of a peace, providing it meant the stopping of fighting. They got it at Brest-Litovsk. Gen. Hoffmann gave it to them. It was a peace which convinced the rest of the world that a victorious Germany would annihilate other peoples and that there was no escape except in the destruction of Germany.

All chance for Germany to get a peace of conciliation disappeared at Brest-Litovsk. The allies began to write the peace of Versailles when they heard of the peace of Litovsk. Germany has two dangers now, the danger that it will be attacked by bolshevism, which it introduced into Russia, and the danger that it cannot survive the peace of Versailles. These dangers were created by German military square heads, with Hoffmann as a controlling type.

Hoffmann now has another idea regarding Russia. It is that an allied army under Pershing, Joffre, or Foch should first take Petrograd and then Moscow, unhorse Lenin, and chase the commissars into the Baltic.

Hoffmann's two other ideas regarding Russia have had the worst consequences of the war. The world might not be able to stand another one of his.

MR. HARDING'S CABINET.

President Wilson's mind repelled intellectual contact. Mr. Harding's invites it. Mr. Wilson could proceed only with a cabinet which reflected ideas. Mr. Harding indicates that he wants one which helps in the formation of policies. Mr. Wilson broke the cabinet members whom he could not bend. Bryan resigned. Garrison resigned. Lansing resigned. The president could deal only with neutral, passive, or sympathetic men of the private secretary type.

Reports from Washington and from Marion indicate that Mr. Harding will form a strong government, with men at the head of the departments able to conduct them with initiative and force and able to contribute to the formation of national policies ideas which will be taken into account.

We believe that the nation will be strong as its official group is strong. There may be advantages in a virtual dictatorship in war, but it is not workable, as we have seen, in peace. The proof of that is that we have no peace.

Editorial of the Day

CORNFIELD BANKING.

[New York Times.]

Senator Benjamin Tillman once referred to himself as "a cornfield lawyer." Now we are asked to make the acquaintance of cornfield bankers. They popped up on both sides of the senate chamber when the joint resolution was passed declaring "the opinion of congress" to be that the federal reserve board should take steps to "grant liberal extensions of credit to the farmers of the country." Nothing was said about measures to safeguard the banks. In North Dakota, where the "liberal" farming credits have been granted, the banks have been going over like ninepins. Even while the senate was passing the resolution news came of the failure of two banks in Colorado, the reason given being that both had been "carrying considerable farm paper on which it has been impossible to realize." But in the opinion of congress the remedy is to carry still more farm paper.

The resolution is likely to remain no more than a futile expression of opinion by congress. It will so remain if the federal reserve board does its duty. In its reports and in the testimony of its governor before the senate committee the fact has been established that there has been no undue contraction of agricultural credits. They have been nursed along. It is the speculative credits that have been sharply cut down. The real motive behind the resolution is clear. The intent is not to promote sound banking. It is rather to bring about further inflation and higher prices for farm products.

To force up prices temporarily would mean only a heavier and more disastrous fall in the end. This is the simple truth and must eventually make its way even in the senate. That body, by yielding to ignorant clamor and pressure, has exposed itself to further attacks of the same kind. As first fruits of the infallible wisdom and firm resolve which the Republican party was to display in the management of public finance the joint resolution leaves a bitter taste in the mouth.

A Line O'Type or Two

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE MESSAGE.

The morning stars and angels
I think I hear them say:
"God keep you, friend, befriended
On every Christmas day."
And oh, on him who hath no friend
May very special grace descend.

The morning stars and angels
I think I hear them tell
How some are soft in satins
And some in rags do dwell.
And oh, for those who have no meat
May there be something good to eat.

The morning stars and angels
I think I hear them speak
Of nations great in gold and goods
And peoples that are weak.
And oh, with folk in dark despair
May all who live in bounty share.

The morning stars and angels
I think I hear them sing:
"A Child is born—go save a child
From want and suffering."
And oh, for little children's sake
May all take thought who merry make.

C. S. P. W.

THE complete skeptic is skeptical about skepticism; and there is one day in the round of days, this one, when he may lay aside his glasses, faintly tinted blue, and put on instead, not the rose-colored specs of Dr. Pangloss, but a glass that blurs somewhat the outlines of men and things; and these he may wear until midnight. The only objects which this glass does not blur are children. Seen through blue, or rose, or white, children are always the same. They have not changed since Bethlehem.

HIS MOTHER.

Did she then know that she had borne a God?
Ask of a world of mothers; did they doubt
But that the wondrous thing within their arms
Was quite divine and straight from heaven sent?
And as he walked through life and at his touch
The sick were healed, the blind opened their eyes—
Mothers alone can know how her heart swelled.
Then in that sunless day when soldiers scourged
The dear loved flesh and nailed the kindly hands
And patient feet upon a felon's cross—
Mothers alone can know how she held faith.
If any had a vision, how his name
Would grow majestic as the years unrolled
And how his word would thunder through the world—
O souls of little men, born to be Gods!
Upon your altars mothers light the flame
And keep the fires burning through the years,
Whether of joy and pride or pain and shame.
But on each Christmas Day, the mother's faith,
That her child comes of God, is justified;
For this day Mary bore a child ordained
To rule the world—and saw him crucified.

PERHAPS the cheeriest reflection to-day is that you have contributed to Mr. Hoover's fund, or are going to.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

When Christmas Day dawns bright and clear,
Its radiance will show
Some measure of the joy and cheer
I hope your heart will know.

Or should it snow the whole day through,
Each sparkling flake will bring
My loving wishes straight to you,
Like birds on homing wing.

Should it not storm, nor yet be fair,
But just loom dull and gray,
My happy thoughts will still be there
To make your Christmas gay!

IRIS.

TO J. M. L.: Thank you. You have brought back an early faith. There was a thing in which we once believed, but we came to look upon it as childish, extravagant, absurd. But a miracle has been wrought. Staring at that magic label, we believe again. "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!"

"THE INVISIBLE GUEST."

Oh little winter stars set high
Above, which was it, tell—
That shone along Judæa's sky
To greet Immanuel?
Shine kindly, kindly down tonight
On every cradle bed,
And may a Christmas blessing light
Upon each childish head.

May peace and plenty fill the rays
Sent by the Christ-child's star,
And help us bring more happy days
Wherever children are.
So when the morning bells rejoice
In all their Christmas glee,
We too may hear that tender Voice—
"Ye did it unto me!"

SONG OF THE NEW POOR.

Once
We lived in a house;
And, when Christmas came,
We gave a bouncing present
To the hired girl and the hired man.

Then
We moved to an apartment;
And, when Christmas came,
We gave a bouncing tip
To the cook, the housemaid, and the laundress,
To the hall boys, and the night hall man,
To the janitor, and sundry others.

Now
We live in a flat;
And, when Christmas comes,
We hope our janitor, who can so well afford it,
Will send us a bouncing present.
But there is one to whom we still can give—
Our Postman.

A MERRY as may be Christmas to our gadder friends, many of whom will greet the sun upon the upland lawn of Mason City, Bloomington, or other spot remote from home.

A CHRISTMAS POEM YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

[From an Iowa journal.]

The gladsome Christmas time has come,
The stars are shining darkly in the night,
The earth is king and all that in them is,
The evergreens hung gladly on the bough.

It's midnight and the hour is late.
The frost is hanging heavy on the pane,
The bells chime forth its sweet ecstasy.
The village church will have a Xmas tree.

The organ in the church peals briskly forth,
The choir is small but they are all they seem.
The children raise their voice in ghoulish glee
And everyone receives its present as her name is called.

Oh earthly skies that shine down bright upon us
Keep us in thy thoughtfulness to you.
Draw near us with your ever keepness
And make us children all again tonight.

A MERRY one to our contributors, who have pulled us through another year. The usual ten per cent bonus will be sent to them.

AN especially Merry Christmas to Vox Populi. Long may he pop!

AFTER all, we reflected, seeking a seasonable expression that should be original—after all, why try to be original? Then floated in a Christmas card with just the sentiment we had been questing. We take the liberty of borrowing it:

"MERRY Christmas!"

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS.

IF Sundays be excepted, Christmas is our one religious legal holiday. Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, Decoration day, the Fourth of July, all are celebrations of secular events. Thanksgiving, while in a certain sense religious, is established each year by governmental proclamation, and its method of celebration is of the body rather than of the spirit.

And what is the spirit of Christmas? The answer is the spirit of Christ. In the twenty-second chapter of Matthew we read, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law."

If anywhere there was a newspaper with a best seller book column thirty-two years ago undoubtedly it carried Drummond's "The Greatest Thing in the World" at the head of its list. Since, as a young man, I read that book, I always have thought the thirteenth chapter of Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians embodied the very essence of Jesus Christ. I quote:

"First verse—Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.

"Second verse—And though I have the gift of prophecy and understand all mysteries and all knowledge and though I have all faith so that I could remove mountains and have not charity I am nothing."

And then passing from comparisons it defines charity: "Fourth verse—Charity suffereth long and is kind. Charity envieth not itself and is not puffed up.

"Fifth—Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not its own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil.

"Sixth verse—Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth.

"First verse—And now abideth faith, hope, and charity, but the greatest of these is charity."

It has been said that the spirit of the Old Testament is obedience to law, while that of the new is love. There are those who charge that this spirit can be developed into one of disobedience of the fundamental laws of life. But Christmas is not the time to indulge the tendency to criticism or analysis. It is the season of charity and love. It is enough that the needy suffer.

In our own country there is sickness and death because our philanthropic institutions are crippled financially. They cannot carry the loads they want to carry. Right at our doors are neighbors who need some of the comforts of life. Misery, hunger, want, hunt in company with preventable disease in our very yards.

In foreign lands, among friends and former foes, in lands from which so many of our people have but recently come, multitudes are worn down by hunger and disease. On this Christmas day the world needs manifestations of the spirit of Christ.

CHOOSE YOUR OWN ILLNESS.

"I have noticed an article entitled 'Quick, Doctors, This Cargo May Cause an Epidemic.' Not being informed regarding the disease for which champagne is used, I would appreciate it if you would explain in your columns the medicinal advantages of champagne. I also would like to know the hospitals to which the cargo will be consigned, and if possible what doctors will prescribe this medicine. I always have understood that champagne was good for only one disease, i. e., the one that the government is trying to wipe out at the present time. However, I am subject to the attacks of several kinds of bacteria and am certain that I may become ill upon receipt of the information which I have requested."

REPLY.

The wags on this paper turned this letter down and sent it in to the learned editorial writers. They, too, dodged the issue. On its way to the waste basket it fell into my hands. It is fair to say that 90 per cent of this shipment will go the way of all other booze. It will be taken out on fake prescriptions and will be used to upset digestion and provoke headaches. A certain small proportion will be used medicinally. Some physicians think that a sip of iced champagne is of some service in allaying nausea in cases of desperate illness of which an irritable stomach is an issue. It is supposed that the carbonic acid gas is the principal factor in giving relief. There are others who say that an iced carbonated water sipped in the same way would have the same effect, and that if given instead of champagne the system would be spared the harmful effects of the champagne. To this the advocates of champagne say the quantity consumed by a sick person is very small and that the effect on the nerves, liver, and digestion which the man who is sobering up from a champagne drunk knows all about, are not to be considered. They say that old soaks sick and nauseated do not get the effect they need from sipping iced carbonated water.

GRAPEFRUIT IS ALL RIGHT.

W. R. C. writes: "I note you recommend the use of oranges as a food for the vitamines they furnish. Is the same benefit obtained from grapefruit? As we are very fond of the latter it is the custom for each member to be served with one-half of a large grapefruit each morning for breakfast, while they are in season. Unless oranges are very decidedly preferable from a standpoint of healthfulness, we desire to continue the grapefruit. W. R. C."

REPLY.

RENTING IN IOWA.

Dubuque, Ia., Dec. 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I have my rent paid up until Jan. 1. On Dec. 16 I received a notice to vacate by Jan. 18. In this state can they force me out on that date, or do I have thirty days after Jan. 1? When I moved in here in October the landlord informed me the place was for sale. I have since learned that it had been sold the previous August. Can I bring action against him if I can prove that he misrepresented facts?

L. N. R.

If you are renting by the calendar month you can stay until the end of January. We fail to see how the representation of which you complain is material.

REGISTERED BONDS.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If a person has bought registered government bonds and they should be stolen or lost by fire, would the holder of the bond just receive the interest and lose the amount of the bond at its maturity because he could not produce the bond? H. H. J.

No. On proper proof he could recover in full. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AN ODD CIRCUMSTANCE.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My father owned a house and property and lived in it with another party. He took sick and came to his son for care. The people with whom he was living declare that they bought the property of father for $800. Father denies it. I have since found out that the property is in their name and that they have a mortgage on it for $800. How could I contest claim to the property? L. E.

Depends on the facts. Did your father sign a deed? Was his name forged? You must investigate these matters and state the results before you can get legal advice of value. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STOREROOM ROBBED.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I live in an apartment building and have furniture and other articles in the basement storeroom. One day I discovered my storeroom door broken and a tool chest with valuable tools gone. Is the landlord responsible for the goods stored in the basement?

G. A. N.

If the question were litigated it would be for a jury to say, after hearing the evidence, whether the loss was due to the landlord's fault. The value of the stored articles, how the basement was used, and all the surrounding circumstances would be entitled to consideration.

LATE HEATING.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—We live in a two story building. The owner lives above us. We get no heat until 7:30 each morning. Is there any way I can compel the owner to give me heat earlier in the morning? A. A. K.

Supply the deficiency with gas and sue him for cost. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WISHES TO BREAK LEASE.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can the landlord hold me responsible if I move out of my office before my lease expires? The lease was signed by the dentist and myself, and was with a clause stating that the landlord must put in a sink in my office, but he refuses to do so, because it would cost him too much. At the time the lease was signed I deposited $90 with the landlord as security. Can I break the lease, and can I get my money back?

A. L. L.

We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the exact wording of the lease. Probably it would be difficult to give a yes or no answer even then. Your safest course is to install the sink and sue the landlord for its cost. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MEMORY TESTS. CAN YOU ANSWER THESE?

ENGLISH.

1. Which pronoun should be used in the following sentences? I had rather it were [he, him] than [I, me]. You must understand that this is between you and [I, me]. I saw no one but [he, him].

2. Supply who, whom, or which in the following sentences: There stood John, —— they both hated, and —— I thought was not coming. I insist upon knowing —— you mean.

3. Is it correct to use the plural after singular nouns connected by "or" or "nor"?

4. Is this correct: "Henry, as well as Mary, is coming"?

5. What is the difference in meaning between "may" and "can"?

6. What are the principal parts of the verb "lie"? Of the verb "lay"?

7. How should one write, "He discovered it easy"?

8. When might "ain't" be used correctly?

9. What is the meaning of the three letters, p. p. c., which appear on visiting cards occasionally?

10. What does the abbreviation "q. e. d." mean?

CHRISTMAS ANSWERS.

1. What is the significance of Christmas? The day on which the nativity of the Savior is observed.

2. In which countries is there the greatest celebration of Christmas? In America, England, and Germany.

3. Of what country is St. Nicholas the patron saint? Russia.

4. By what name are Christmas carols called in France? "Noels."

5. On what evening during the great war did English and German soldiers fraternize on some sections of the front? The Christmas eve of 1914.

6. Since when has the Christmas tree been of importance? It is only during the last 200 years that the tree has become an important feature of Christmas.

7. To whom is the making of the first Christmas card attributed? The earliest Christmas card is attributed to J. C. Horsley, R. A., who in 1846 made designs of this character.

9. Who wrote the famous Christmas story in which the old miser Scrooge figures? Charles Dickens.

10. Who wrote the poem, "The Night Before Christmas"? Clement C. Moore.

FOR GOVERNMENT FIXED CROP PRICES.

Independence, Ia., Dec. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The writer of this article was raised on a farm and had had much experience in farming, coming to Iowa with his parents in 1854. His work the first few years was managing the breaking team consisting of four yoke of oxen and a twenty-two inch breaking plow. There have only been a few years since that time that he was not managing the farm of 320 acres for his father or himself. During those many years he has had much experience with hired help or share crop renters and is able to state that it has always been and is more so now a serious problem to make the investment profitable. This is owing mainly to being compelled to sell the products of the farm without regard to the cost of production, as is the condition when the purchaser makes the price. Therefore the most important class of goods in the world becomes the special target for the speculators on the board of trade.

Furthermore, a competent farmer is as much a skilled laborer as any other workman and is entitled to good wages. Also the agricultural business is the largest in volume and gives employment to more people than any other in our nation.

When the farmer is spoken of in this article it means a man who is working a farm either as owner or renter and not his hired help. They receive their specified wages. Therefore it seems to the writer as though the government might, in some manner, stabilize a basic price for nonperishable agricultural products, including cotton and wool, by establishing a permanent board of commissioners to analyze the cost to produce such goods each year and establish the minimum average price cost to produce plus a reasonable profit.

P. G. FREEMAN.

THE INQUIRING CORRESPONDENT.

East Dubuque, Ill., Dec. 21.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—"How long, O Catiline, shalt thou abuse our patience?"

How long shall the newspaper that claims to be and potentially is capable of being the "world's greatest" continue to ally itself with those interests which are inimical to the great majority of our people and to the life of the state itself?

How long shall they who determine the policies of your publication continue to delude the public, which has been led to believe that in the greater measure, at least, you printed the facts without distortion and without prejudice? How can you explain your failure to record as an historical event of the utmost significance the terms of settlement of the British workmen's strike?

If, as you so valiantly protest, you have the interests of your country (and mine) at heart, why do you not record the abysmal facts in connection with idleness and crime in detail throughout the United States in order that those organizations which actually dominate the policies of government may have brought to their attention forcibly the crisis that is now confronting it?

Must you be confronted by starving, freezing hordes before you will take cognizance of the fact that there are already in this country teeming with boundless plenty over three million jobless men, which means not less than twelve million persons—over one-tenth of the entire population—confronted by want or starvation?

Can you not take additional cognizance of the fact that purely selfish and mercenary interests are at work in a conspiracy to break down or entirely destroy the railroad labor unions, which are fully alive to the situation and are willing and ready to make any sacrifice to maintain the principles they have established and which they have fought for and paid for with the expenditure of uncounted lives and untold millions?

Dost thou, O Catiline, dare answer truthfully any of these questions?

CICERO.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Under date of Dec. 4 there appeared in the Voice of the People column comment on the financial condition of the farmer during and after the war. His remarks are in part correct, but some parts are greatly in error.

Mr. David says that the farmers made more money during the war than they thought existed. They may have done so and still not made much. Doubtless Mr. David has read of the survey made by the United States department of agriculture, which discloses the painful fact that only 16 per cent of the farms of the country pay 6 per cent on their investment.

The uninformed will perhaps doubt this and point to the number of automobiles owned in the country. They must remember that the standard of living is a great deal different in the country and city. Also the amount invested is many times more than most people realize, and $50,000 does not mean much in the way of a general purpose or stock farm now.

One must also remember that farming still requires plenty of the hardest kind of physical labor.

If a man in Chicago had $50,000 to $100,000 invested in any business he would think he was entitled to ride around in a $6,000 car.

Mr. David is sadly in error when he says the farmer made money on the sale of horses to the war department, as the price was fixed at a low figure and the inspection was rigid.

The American farmer never has made a decent living judged by Chicago standards and never will until he learns that it is not enough to raise a big crop and then dump the whole on the fall market at once.

There are things about farm life which appeal, but it is certainly not the pecuniary remuneration.

A TIME TO RAISE PRICES.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In these days when the tendency of price is downward the public utility commission has the audacity to raise the price of telephone service to a guarantee of 9 cents a day on four party lines. When I read the garbled press report last night I could not help but draw the conclusion that the service had been "reduced up." Propaganda won the war and it seems to win higher rates without much effort. Cheaper labor and higher rates is a good old Republican doctrine. That's what the people voted for.

FOUR PARTY SUBSCRIBER.

CARRYING ON THE FREE CANAL IDEA.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The next president is reported as being strongly in favor of exempting the ships of American corporations from payment of canal tolls.

This great government owned canal which cost nearly $400,000,000 and which every citizen high and low must help pay for should now be turned over to the free use of certain private interests for their own enrichment? All right, let's turn our postal facilities over to them and while we are in a benevolent mood let's buy a few trunk lines of railroad and haul their products free of charge. That would be just as reasonable as to set up the high sounding cry that American ships should have free use of the Panama canal.

Let's have the light of truth on this matter and learn just who it is that wants to use this public property free of charge. Will the sponsors of this proposition please give us the names of a few of the corporations who will benefit?

CHICAGO BEST JOB PROVIDER, RECORDS SHOW

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Here's an observation or two on unemployment drawn from two days' talks with representative manufacturers, labor experts, builders, contractors, bankers, and politicians who have been touring their wards:

During December unemployment has kept growing, but Chicago has not been nearly so hard hit as have the industrial centers of the east, particularly the textile and automotive centers, which for months have been in the doldrums. It is illustrated by a report from one of the leading eastern railroads on its present traffic in Chicago for less than carload lot shipments.

Figures Tell Tale.

This report shows:

Outbound shipments from Chicago to the east were 30 per cent less than in December a year ago.

Inbound shipments from the east to Chicago were 70 per cent less than for the same period in 1919.

The figures cover a two weeks' period. They are significant as indicating how much greater the slowing down has been in the east than in the midwest.

Some of Chicago's largest industries are running almost with as large a force as during the autumn. The agricultural implement industry, for instance, with approximately 25,000 workers since Nov. 1, has had a layoff of about 7 per cent, meaning only 1,750 out of employment. Some of the big steel mills are running at the old 80 per cent of capacity which measured their output last September and October. Others are operating at only 35 to 40 capacity. The independents are hardest hit, but in the Calumet-Indiana section they are apparently in much better shape than is the mill centers of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Some plants in the metal industries have closed down entirely until after New Year's "for repairs." One employment manager estimates that in the Calumet-Indiana territory, about 20,000 men are either out of work or are on part time. Another estimates it at 15,000.

Building Trades Hard Hit.

The building trades in Chicago are hardest hit. Next come the clothing workers. Leading builders say activities are now reduced by 75 per cent. Most of this, of course, is seasonal, but the estimate is that 25,000 to 30,000 building craftsmen in Chicago are out of work. What work is progressing is finishing up jobs. The steamfitters and plumbers are all busy, but the carpenters and bricklayers are jobless and the dull season is duller than usual.

Contractors are without jobs to figure on, and so far preparations for resumption of work in the spring are being held up by building costs which are still accounted too high.

Government reports show that building materials, despite the fall in lumber and recent cuts in some other lines, are still higher, as compared with prewar prices, than any other group of commodities with the one exception of housefurnishings. Builders declare that materials must come down to a stabilized basis before the interest of the building public can be revived.

Talk of Wage Cuts.

In this connection, too, there is some talk of wage reductions from the $1.25 an hour basis, to $1 an hour, and the idea is being circulated that the unions might suggest a reduction, provided cost of living makes a real descent by spring. The unions, however, have not got to that point, and, in fact, some builders declare the present scale would not worry them a bit provided labor costs could be chopped down by the elimination of juridistional disputes and by an honest-to-goodness understanding that when building starts up again a real day's work will be given for a day's pay." The building situation is basic; it concerns everybody and developments are being closely watched.

Reports on Conditions.

As to general industry, a questionaire sent out to thirty representative concerns in Chicago, got the following returns as of Dec. 1:

Fifteen reported lay-offs; fifteen, no change.

Eight said they were hiring new help at lower rates; twenty-two reported no change.

Six reported that average weekly earnings of workers were more than ninety days ago; six, that they were less; eighteen said they were unchanged.

WORKMEN SHARE IN PROFITS BUT PAY IS SMALLER

New Bern, N. C., Dec. 24.—Employés of the New Bern Iron Works and Supply company received today their first week's pay on the profit sharing basis established by the concern in agreement with the workers.

The pay represented a reduction of 10 per cent from the wages received a week ago. It was based on profits above actual operating expenses and was said by company officials to represent roughly the wage schedule put forward by the concern several weeks ago before the profit sharing plan was agreed on.

Leaders among the employés, after the pay roll had been distributed, said that, while not pleased with a reduction in wages, they were convinced that the company was giving them a square deal and that they were getting their full share of whatever actual profits were made.

Ernest L. Willis, president of the company, in a statement given out after the men had been paid off, declared the officers of the concern had not turned over the plant to the workers, but had arranged a sliding scale of pay which operates on the volume of business done.

Memoranda of Two Books

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

Herbert Beerbohm Tree—Here are some memories of Sir Herbert Tree and his art, collected by Max Beerbohm, and comprising contributions from different people who were intimate either with him or his career. Among them are sad little sonnets by his daughter Iris, friendly reminiscences by Sir Gilbert Parker, Louis Napoleon Parker, Mr. Gosse, and Haddon Chambers, and critical impressions from W. L. Courtney, Desmond McCarthy, and Bernard Shaw. Max Beerbohm himself discusses Sir Herbert from a brother's viewpoint, and there is a "fond trivial record" by Lady Tree, who gives the vie intime, including even the amusing story of Joseph Leiter's habit of reciting his fabulous youthful adventures to the credulous Sir Herbert, causing him to believe them.

HERBERT BEERBOHM TREE.

The record is marred by none of the obsequious impedimenta of the obituary, and Bernard Shaw's part of it is a candid and quizzical expression of one who was impressed more by his subject's faults than by his virtues. He tells of the troubled days of "Pygmalion's" rehearsals, "when," says Mr. Shaw, "his power would have made him a fiend, if he had not been so amiable." Mr. Shaw found all his suggestions utterly disregarded, not only by Sir Herbert, but by Sir Herbert's "courtiers," as he calls them. Once, when Mr. Shaw was impelled to interference, Tree turned to him, and, with suave sarcasm, said: "I seem to have heard or read somewhere that plays have been actually produced and performances given in this theater and under its present management, before you came into it. How do you account for that?" With the "blunt good faith of a desperate man" Mr. Shaw replied: "I can't account for it!" and he went his ways. He saw "Pygmalion" on its one hundredth night, and was so disgusted with it that he never saw it again. "Tree's real objective," says Mr. Shaw, "was his amazing self."

The "memories" are the delightfully informal chronicle of a great personage of the theater, a detailed artist, a prodigal, spacious, and imaginative producer, a wit, a fine social figure, and a friendly man. As an actor he was more honored here than in England, because, perhaps, we mistook the grand assurance of his method for the authority of genius, having nothing ourselves to compare him with.

One's personal experiences always assume an exaggerated importance, and so one of my own small encounters with Beerbohm Tree may be of no interest to any save myself. However, when he was last here I reported, on the authority of a malicious friend and confrere, some disagreeable remarks that he was alleged to have made about America in a curtain speech at the Illinois theater. I added some sneering comments. It turned out to be a gross and libelous misrepresentation. He had said nothing of the kind. He telephoned me that evening that he was sorry that I had been misinformed; that he understood how such a thing could happen, and that he merely wished me to know that he could not be ungracious or unfriendly to a people who had been so kind to him. "Don't bother to retract it," said he. "I know how embarrassing that would be. And I am sure that it will never happen again." No anger, no indignation, no threats—just the friendly plaint of a fine gentleman.

The next Sunday I abased myself as best I could. I said that my previous paragraph was a lie and that I had been grievously imposed upon. Whereupon by messenger there came to my flat before the breakfast hour a note of appreciation. It said: "My dear Hammond: You wounded me, and it hurt. Yet the amende in today's TRIBUNE is so gracious and so complete that I shall keep it in my memory and be almost glad that the fault was such that it evoked from you so admirable a regret. All of our little differences, the little differences between America and England, the great kinsmen of the world, might be adjusted, don't you think, as happily as this tiny misunderstanding if we could all be as forbearing as I hope I have been and as square as you have proved yourself to be.

"An English Wife in Berlin"—Being the war memoirs of Evelyn, Princess Blucher, the English wife of Prince Blucher, great-great-grandson of that Marshal "Vorwärts" whose Prussian army intervened with decisive and crushing effect at Waterloo, happily for the British. Banished with the German embassy from London, she and her husband joined the colony of "international" exiles at the Esplanade hotel in Berlin; and it is of her experiences in that precarious situation that her diary is composed. Though passionately an Englishwoman, she contrived an honest neutrality in the hazardous circumstances (her brother was killed at Ypres); and the book is, thus, the pathetic but unsentimental story of a woman who perceived a divided duty and did it very well. It relates more effectively than many histories do the brave, triumphant gayety of Berlin in the early victorious days of the war; the weakening morale of the people as the times grew more evil; and there is a vivid, unstudied picture of the revolution. Princess Blucher's emotion of enmity toward the war Germans, from which she sympathetically excludes the emperor, are 'counterbalanced "by sorrow for the good and brave men of this land who have sacrificed so much for false ideals, and at the sight of a great country, crumbling into ruins . . . a nation whose fundamental feelings and attitude toward life are more in harmony with England's than those of any of the Latin races."

General Charlton of the British embassy in Washington tells one that the later, fluent and formal entries in the diary were rewritten by Prince Blucher, who sought to make the book more literary. These are, of course, the least interesting. The princess relates some exciting interviews with the mad and desperate Sir Roger Casement, and also a moment or two with Mr. Gerard, the American ambassador. Her impressions of this diplomat are not favorable. "He was a man of disagreeable, tactless manners," she writes, "and he managed to offend every one. In fact, he was not the person to have been chosen to act as negotiator between two hostile powers at such a critical period in the world's history. Mrs. Gerard, on the contrary, with her quiet tact and patience, endeavored to gloss over the many breaches of good manners committed by her incorrigible husband."

Aside from the animated panorama of a situation hitherto somewhat mysterious, you get from the diary one surprising conviction. That is that this Englishwoman, whose neutrality was often glorified by minor partisan indiscretions, was treated by the Germans in Berlin with an earnest and patient sympathy and understanding. There were annoyances, of course, but little bitterness. She might, you suspect, have been unhappier had her lot been cast in certain American capitals where the resident patriots were more rabid, oftentimes, it is said, than they were sincere.

The Westminster Gazette, having had its curiosity piqued by a statement in "Allibone's Dictionary of English and British Authors," according to which the Cornhill Magazine was started with Mr. Thackeray [at an enormous compensation] as editor, has sent out a hurry call to any one who can give definite information as to how "enormous" Thackeray's salary was as editor.

A RHYMED REVIEW

BY QUIN A. RYAN.

Newspaper poets ascending Parnassus
Sing for the misses and messes and masses.
The world is so full of a number of minds
The stuff they are fed is of various kinds:
From Folkine to Friscoe; from Aesop to Ade;
"How splendidly Ruth [or Rachmaninoff] played!"
So, ladies and gentlemen, have a peek
At Christopher Morley's "Hide and Seek,"
"More Truth Than Poetry"—Montague.
[Both published by Geo. H. Doran, too].

A subtle set (in verse like this)
Of scented, studied ilit and lyric
Of his domestic bumps and bliss;
Of sonnets new in thought; satiric.

from Po Lil Chile, Sai Wen, O Boi—
For Morleyphiles 'twill be a joy.

But Montague hymns of the forest on the panes,
Of the city's demoniac ruction,
In rollicking meter that's softer and sweeter
Than even Irv Cobb's introduction:
Of "Neighbors," "The Public," and "Casey the Cop"
He chants as he does in this column—
His love and acumen make Jimmy so human
His fans will delight in this volume.

BOOK NOTES

Hodder & Stoughton have just brought out a new edition of Arnold Bennett's "Mental Efficiency and Other Helps to Men and Women," an indictment of the modern magazine autobiography of the rise of the small boy, alone in a big city. Says Mr. Bennett of such a person: "If he didn't come to London with half a crown in his pocket he did something equally silly, and he puts that down, and the mote of the article or interview is struck and good-by to genuine truth."

H. G. Wells' first public appearance in the United States will be at Carnegie hall Jan. 12. The distinguished visitor's itinerary, as announced by his publishers, schedules appearances in Philadelphia on Jan. 13, 17, and 27, and in Boston on the 20th, 25th, and 26th. He will also speak in Brooklyn on Jan. 28. Chicago will not hear him until Feb. 9 and 11. All the other large cities in the country, as well as Montreal and Toronto, are "one night stands" on the English writer's schedule.

Mercedes de Acosta, or, in private life, Mrs. Abram Poole, wife of the Chicago painter, appears in the January issue of "Poetry," with a group of poems entitled, "Through Windows.' One of the series, "Soiled Hands," follows:

After every one had left,
It was always so wonderful sitting in the dark theater with you.
There was a mystery about it,
As though the echo of many plays
Still lingered in the folds of the curtain,
While phantom figures crouched low in the chairs,
Beating applause with vapor hands.
Do you remember how we always sat silently?
I would shut my eyes to feel your closeness nearer.
Then slowly and like a ritual
I would take your hand,
And you would laugh a little and say,
"My hands are awfully sticky"—or
"I can't seem to keep my hands clean in this theater."
As if that mattered . . . as if that mattered. . . .

The collection of ten song-poems by Charles H. Gabriel Jr. of Chicago, soon to be published by the Wakefield Press, includes a translation from the Arabic, an Afghanistan love poem that has not heretofore been available in English. It is one of several in the Ananga-Ranga.

"The Soul of John Brown"

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

STEPHEN GRAHAM, author among other things of "With Poor Immigrants to America," has, with no small degree of courage, written the results of his investigation of the status of Negroes in America, and published the result under the title "The Soul of John Brown" [Macmillans]. It is a book of terrific candor, with only here and there a slight lack of understanding of some phases of the large subject. Beginning with the insipient beginnings of slavery, and following that turgid stream of history down to the time of the Emancipation, Mr. Graham has then scrutinized the progress of our colored folk and the conditions which have aided or hindered them. Nor has it been through the pages of history or the sheets of the newspapers that Mr. Graham has acquired his information. After leaving the British army at the close of the world war, he made an extensive pilgrimage from Virginia to Louisiana to learn by personal contact with the ex-slave the conditions of his present life and his point of view. Disinterested as few or perhaps no American could be, this English humanitarian has reported the existing conditions to the best of his ability.

Although he finds the state of the Negro pitiable enough, he concludes that "the maximum of persecution of the Negro in recent years does not equal the misery of slavery. Even if all the lynchings and burnings and humiliations and disabilities be put together they would not add up to one year of servitude. Most Negroes understand that. They know that no matter what may be the vicissitudes they pass through they are still progressing to an ever fuller freedom."

This social critic does not look with anything approaching complacency, however, upon the psychology of our twelve million colored citizens. He says they are bolshevik in spirit.

"They are not in name, but potentially they are. They hate the white proletariat because the latter uses them ill, but curiously enough they have a common cause. The leaders of the Negro forward movement are almost exclusively bolshevik in spirit. We cannot wonder at it. Persecution has developed a great resentment and class hate."

Mr. Graham seems to be quite unaware to how great an extent the Negroes have disappointed their friends or of their increasing inefficiency and unwillingness to give an honest day's labor. He is oblivious to all save the colored man's side of the present feeling of irritation and distrust. We whites, however, can afford to receive rebukes and we deserve them and should profit by them. We may take comfort from the fact that in America the door still stands open for Negro progress, as Mr. Graham is just enough to admit. That this progress conflicts with our own racial vanity is incontestable, but we are not, personally or nationally, rulers of history. That the making of our discontented black folk into proud, useful, and happy citizens, in the full enjoyment of all rights and privileges, is one of the most difficult problems of modern times will be conceded. But above partisanship and ignorance, folly and resentment, are powers beyond our comprehension, and these powers may yet weld the black race and our own into confidence and coöperation. The book should be read by those who have the true good of their country at heart.

"PIGS TO MARKET"

GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN.

No characteristic which a writer may possess is so certain to carry the reader away, without protest, into improbabilities, exaggerations, and absurdities as that of exhilaration. It is this quality, this happy healthiness, united to astonishing originality and an irrepressible sense of humor which sweeps the surprised and panting reader through the three stories which comprise 'Pigs to Market," by George Agnew Chamberlain, without permitting him to pause for a moment to investigate or object. [Bobbs-Merrill, Indianapolis.]

The three stories already have attained to magazine fame, and will be recognized by the fans of fleeting fiction under the titles "Lovely Reason," "Simon Simon," and "The Door of Freedom."

Mr. Chamberlain likes to be amazing; it tickles his risibilities to be vulgar; it enchants him to be improbable and, above all, when he is at his most hilarious moment, it enraptures him to be suddenly beautiful and visionary and full of deep implications. There is, indeed, no gainsaying the fact that these three tales, born of Mammon and of Spirit, are unique. The first one is about a woman who wanted to live her own life and who gave her husband a most spectacular brainstorm; the second relates the adventures of a man milliner, and the third tells how a man advertised for a wife and got a goddess. The stories are as modern as the corner of Broadway and Forty-second street, and as thronged with humanity.

The announcement of Gilbert K. Chesterton's forthcoming lecture tour of the United States lends added interest to the announcement that Dodd Mead & Co. will shortly bring out a new volume of essays by this English author. The subject matter of the thirty chapters in "The Uses of Diversity," as this latest book is entitled, ranges from "Lamp Posts" and "The Domesticity of Detectives" to "Questions of Divorce" and "The Plan for a New Universe."

GAS RATES STAY SAME; CITIZENS SAVE $7,500,000

Company Property Valued at $85,000,000.

Gas rates will remain unchanged as the result of a decision made yesterday by the Illinois public utilities commission denying the petition of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company for a 20 per cent increase. The ruling of the commission makes permanent the present rate of 60 cents for the first 400 cubic feet, $1.15 for each additional 1,000 cubic feet, and $1 a thousand for all over 50,000 cubic feet.

Donald R. Richberg, special counsel for the city in gas litigation, estimated that the immediate saving to gas consumers from the decision was $7,500,000 a year.

Valuation Is Fixed.

The consumers also were benefited indirectly by the part of the commission's ruling which establishes the valuation of the company's property for rate making purposes. This fixed it at $85,000,000. The company had presented figures placing the maximum valuation of the property at $156,000,000 and its minimum worth at $114,000,000. The city had placed the valuation of the gas company's property at $55,000,000.

Return Is Regulated.

This decision on the valuation is important, as the commission holds that the company is entitled to earn 7½ per cent on the valuation. The return on the basis of the $85,000,000 valuation will be $6,375,000.

CHIEF ISSUES NEW RULES FOR AUTO PARKING

Rigid enforcement of the thirty minute parking ordinance, reinforced by two stringent traffic regulations, announced by Chief Fitzmorris yesterday, will begin Monday morning. One hundred and ninety-nine traffic policemen will be on the job.

One new regulation prohibits all parking in loop alleys. This is designed to give free rein to the fire department at downtown blazes.

The second regulation is expected to uncork the "bottle neck" in streets which lead to Michigan avenue. Double lines of parked cars on these streets have narrowed the outlet of loop traffic to Michigan avenue and backs up traffic as far west as Clark street, according to a report by Maj. R. F. Kelker to the council local transportation committee.

The regulation dealing with the situation follows:

"No parking whatever will be permitted between Michigan avenue and Wabash avenue on the following streets: Randolph, Washington, Madison, Monroe, Adams, and Van Buren streets."

Traffic policemen were busy yesterday distributing notices of the chief's order to motorists.

"Notice is hereby given that beginning Monday morning," it reads, "automobiles will not be permitted to park in the district bounded on the north by the north line of Lake street, on the south by the south line of Harrison street, on the east by the east line of Wabash avenue, and on the west by the west line of Market street, for a longer period of time than thirty minutes between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7 p. m."

MORE BUSINESS FIRMS GIVE OUT BONUS CHECKS

Several hundred more Chicago workers went home yesterday with fat bonus checks in their pockets, the result of their employers' generosity.

Officers and employés of the Ætna State bank received 10 per cent of their yearly salaries as a bonus. Employés who have worked at the Ontra cafeteria, 231 South Wabash avenue, one year received a week's salary and those there two or more years two weeks' salary.

Bonuses based on salaries earned and years of service were distributed to employés of C. D. Peacock, jeweler, and, in addition, the firm carried life insurance policies for all its employés. At a Christmas party in the Bloom shop, on Michigan avenue, bonus cheks were distributed to employés and the workers gave a loving cup to their employers.

Critchfield & Co., advertising agency, 223 West Jackson boulevard, distributed bonuses ranging from 5 per cent of the annual salary upward to the 300 employés at a Christmas party in the offices of the president, H. K. Boice.

The Bernstein Furniture company gave the employés of its three stores bonuses amounting to 5 per cent of their yearly salaries.

At a dinner dance at the Central Manufacturing District club officials of the Elmer Richards company, a mail order house, distributed a 20 per cent bonus to employés.

ARGENTINA IS STIRRED BY TALK OF WHEAT TARIFF

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 24.—Protesting against the recent tariff measure passed by the American house of representatives, which it is claimed virtually prohibits the import of wheat, flour, corn, wool, and various meats products by the United States, the Argentine Confederation of Commerce, Industry, and Production has sent a note to the Argentine government advising that reprisals be taken against products from the United States if the house measure is enacted into law.

The note asks the government to enter into negotiations with the United States to prevent the final sanctioning of the bill.

It calls attention to the present unfavorable exchange rate and declares Argentine trade balance is not so favorable as it would appear to be in the United States, and that American products arriving here already pay a surcharge of nearly 50 per cent, much less than that paid by Argentine products arriving in the United States.

The confederation of commerce has sent a similar cable to the United States chamber of commerce at Washington.

WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE

THE most popular place on the west side yesterday was 841 Maxwell street. Old men, young men, aged women, girls and boys, flocked there. Three thousand Christmas trees were being given away. The firs, pines, and spruces were donated by the Maxwell Street Market Business Men's association through an arrangement with Morris Eller, city sealer. I. Mackevich, president of the association, had charge of the distribution.

U. S. BOOZE NET TANGLES NILES AUTO NEMESIS

Justice Accused in 'Shakedown' Charge.

Fred Beisswanger, the justice of the peace who put Niles, Ill., on the automobile maps because of his penchant for fining motorists, will have to do some explaining himself.

Federal warrants charging Beisswanger and three members of the state constabulary with conspiracy in connection with an attempt to extort money from the owner of a still, and impersonation of government officers, were issued by Commissioner Mason yesterday. Beisswanger, and Constables Donald Somerville, 2416 Wilcox avenue, and Walter Gnadt, 2133 Roscoe street, appeared at the federal building at the request of Assistant District Attorney Weisl. They were arrested and held in $2,500 bonds. Eugene Marchese, the third constable, has not been located.

Take Woman in Raid.

The three constables, according to the charges, raided the home of James Ruzich, 5328 West Thirtieth street, Cicero, on Dec. 12. They found a still and a small quantity of moonshine.

In the absence of Ruzich, the constables took his wife to Beisswanger's office at 1258 Clybourn avenue, after telling her she was to be taken to the federal building. She was shown a search warrant issued by Beisswanger and told if she did not put up a bond of $1,500 she would have to go to jail for six months. Beisswanger was not at his office, so his son acted in his place. The case was continued when bail was arranged.

Three times the case was continued. Mrs. Ruzich was told if she would give her attorney $250 the case could be fixed, government agents say. She became suspicious that the Clybourn office was not really the federal building. She told a neighbor, Charles Blazina, who told the East Chicago avenue police. They notified federal authorities.

2,100 Gallons of Wine Wasted.

Dry agents scouring the city for Christmas booze seized 2,100 gallons of home made wine in a saloon "back of the yards" at 5243 Justine street. It was the first of a series of raids planned for the holidays. An envious crowd hurrying home with presents paused in the cold for an hour while government sleuths poured the red wine into the snow.

Chief Says Dr. Bundesen Saved Life of McGeean

Chief of Police Fitzmorris yesterday paid a high compliment to Herman N. Bundesen, health department epidermitologist, whose prompt action in administering anti-pneumonia serum probably saved the life of Lieutenant of Detectives Joseph McGeean.

"When Bundesen arrived with the serum McGeean's temperature was 106," the chief said. "For ten hours, with McGeean's death expected momentarily, the physician worked without a letup. The injection of the serum alone took two hours and a half. McGeean's temperature dropped to 99 soon after the serum had been administered, and he is now pronounced out of danger."

ONE SPREE NOT UNPARDONABLE, COURT DECIDES

Upholds Contract with Employe Who Slipped.

New York, Dec. 24.—A single act of drunkenness is not sufficient under the laws of New York state to justify the discharge of an employé who is under contract, two justices of the Supreme court held in a decision here today. A third justice dissented and declared a single act of drunkenness during business hours "is inexcusable."

The decision was given at an appellate term of Supreme court, in a suit brought by Frederick W. Herbert, a real estate agent, against his employers, who had discharged him because he was found drunk. The case previously was tried in city court and dismissed. Herbert appealed. The decision today directed a new trial, upon which the court held the question should be left to a jury.

Upholds Average Standard.

Justice Mullan, in the majority decision, concurred in by Justice Whitaker, held that the "courts are not warranted in attempting to create and enforce a higher standard than that set by the average of mankind in the community."

"The day may come," he added, "when intoxication will be such a cause for disgrace that a single instance of it will be sufficient to justify the discharge of a servant by his master because of it, as a matter of law, regardless of the nature of the services or the effect of the insobriety upon the master's business." The court declared, however, "that day is not yet here."

Cites Alabama Case.

Justice Mullan explained that the defendant evidently relied upon a decision given in Alabama that a single act of drunkenness is sufficient to warrant discharge of a physician or clergyman. He added that he supposed it could not be well doubted that a single act would warrant the discharge of a temperance society agent or an anti-saloon worker, and quoted decisions given in this state that a man may be discharged only for a "prolonged spree."

MILLER PICKED FOR BIG JOB IN SMALL CABINET

Col. C. R. Miller is to be director of public works under the administration of Governor Elect Len Small. This is now definitely determined and is about to be announced. The supposition had been, until this morning, that Col. Miller was to be made director of finance, in succession to Omar Wright, now at the top of the Lowden set of nine directors, under the administrative code.

With the exception of the choice of Col. Miller for director of public works, it became known yesterday that no selection has been made by Mr. Small for any other first class appointment.

Announcement of the hour for the meeting of the Republican house caucus at Springfield awaits the arrival in Chicago of State Chairman Frank L. Smith. The present understanding is that the caucus will start at 8 o'clock on the night of Tuesday, Jan. 14, the night preceding the formal assembly of the new general assembly.

CROWE-BRUNDAGE QUARREL HALTS OVER HOLIDAY

Russel Before Grand Jury; Nash Bellicose.

A holiday truce was declared yesterday in the hostilities between State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Attorney General Edward J. Brundage in the William ("Paddy") Fox election fraud case. State Auditor Andrew Russel was a witness before the Cook county grand jury. He denied assertions that he had withheld public documents from the state's attorney's investigators, or refused to respond to a subpoena.

ANDREW RUSSEL.

"It is a physical impossibility to produce on short notice specific records from among the 15,000 to 20,000 vouchers received by my office monthly," said Mr. Russell. "I am informed that Mr. Brundage admits expending $6,000 in election cases, but that it was drawn to the order of State's Attorney Hoyne."

After a brief session with the inquisitors Mr. Russell agreed to appear Jan. 14 with the records.

"The grand jury is welcome to any records I have," he said on leaving.

Nash Assails Crowe.

Attorney Thomas D. Nash, whose offices were raided by State's Attorney Crowe's representatives, and who represented Fox in the proceedings which nullified the state primary law, joined the battle of words. In a statement he assailed State's Attorney Crowe for using privileged communications with his clients and declared his intention to bring the matter before the courts and the bar association.

He declared that his relations with Fox were merely that of an attorney and client, that he has no interest in the political aspects of the case, and that his personal files, the files of attorneys who are his office associates, were rifled and his stenographer forcibly detained in the office during the raid.

Will Go to Bar Association.

"Whether or not the state's attorney is immune from responsibility, civil, criminal, and ethical for such abuse of process, trespass and burglarious methods is a matter which in due time will be presented to the courts of this community and to the bar association of this city," said Attorney Nash.

"If the bar association places its stamp of approval on such conduct then no citizen can intrust his business to his lawyer with the assurance that the sacredness of the relation will be observed."

GANG THAT USED WOMAN AS LURE TRIES NEW GAME

The woman and two men who spent a successful night on the north side last week luring men to a North La Salle street flat, robbing them, and tying them to a bed, have selected a new territory and adopted new tactics. This was evidenced yesterday when the police investigated the story told by Bernard Wechsler, a New York jewelry salesman stopping at the Palmer house.

This time the two men forced him into a machine and drove him to 411 South Ashland avenue, where the woman had paid a small deposit on a flat. They left him his underwear. When he accompanied men from the detective bureau to the place the new tenants had departed. His description of the woman tallied with that of the north side "lure."

It was stated erroneously yesterday that the woman had enticed Wechsler into the automobile. The fact was two men with revolvers confronted him and forced him to get into an automobile.

Second Infantry, I. N. G., Nears Its Full Quota

By Tuesday night, Dec. 28, when companies F and G are mustered into federal service, the Second infantry, Illinois national guard, will have ten companies in the national service. This is the record to date for Chicago regiments.

Col. William A. Swanson, commanding the Second and also mustering officer for the state, will assist Lieut. Col. William H. Patterson, U. S. A., Tuesday night.

Merry Christmas!

You've been good little fans all year, and I hope Santa Claus proves mighty kind to you. Also, may your dinner be fine and, what's more important, "set well." And, when you get all rested up after your good time, may you write to me and tell me about it! Them's me sentiments!

About this "Jazzland." It's deserving of mention because it stars Eileen Percy, who was once the favorite among the Fairbanks leading ladies. She delighted us for a time, then decided to get married and quit us. Having thought the matter over, she returns—and many will be delighted at her decision.

"Jazzland" is a nutty thing, cross between all the comedies you ever saw and the shimmy. It has a story like nothing that ever was, and a cast of capable people who work fast and furiously doing things nobody would ever do.

Darting through them and under them and about them and over them is Miss Percy as Nina Dumberton, in love with a doctor who doesn't believe in jazz, but learns to.

Miss Percy should either shoot or sue whoever fastened her false hair on for her. She'd have been prettier without it, but if she felt she had to have it, it should have been annexed with care.

You'll have a pretty good time watching "Jazzland" if you're not in too critical a mood and feel like laughing. It is recommended after a heavy dinner.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

A Noisy Donation.

My most embarrassing moment happened to be while I was in church one Sunday morning. I had collected thirty-five pennies and put them in a box to give to the Christmas collection. I was just about to put the pennies into the basket when, alas, the cover came off of the box and my precious thirty-five pennies went rolling all over the floor. I could not wait until church finished, as I felt all eyes upon me as I picked up my pennies. E. R.

Consumed with Curiosity.

I was spending a few days with a cousin who was just engaged. Rarely a day passed without a letter from her fiancé. Being quite young and romantic, I had a great desire to read those letters, so one day when I thought she had gone shopping I opened her desk and began to read the letters. A few minutes later she walked in quietly and found me absorbed. S. K.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

It's So Perplexing.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 20 and in love with a young man of the same age. I have met this fellow several times and do not know how to win his affection. Can you please advise me how? BETTY."

I wish I could, Betty! I wish I had about a dozen guaranteed rules of conduct on how to win a young man. But I haven't a single one that carries a guarantee with it. You might exert every artifice and wile ever devised and gain not an inch of ground with him, and you might be cold indifference and win his heart completely. It's all so perplexing, Betty, but trusting to fate is the oar on which you better rest until he bestirs himself in your direction.

HAROLD TEEN—CHRISTMAS MORN!

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Panels are maids of all work. Any little thing there is to do about a dress—from forming of trains to creating an unevenness of hem, from giving a contrast of fabric and color to helping out on a moyen age line—they are ready to undertake.

Some of the new panels are accordion plaited; an unusual kind created by a great French designer is formed of diagonal pieces overlapping an entire skirt; a third variety is the fan shaped one, now so much seen.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown is usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"I wonder if any of your readers has an outgrown coat, size 40? I have five children and a small income—it is such a struggle to get along. I am in great need of a coat and you may be sure I would be more than grateful to any one who has one to give. Mrs. S. C."

If some one has dresses or coats from last year or the year before, do please hunt them up, write for Mrs. C.'s address, and send them to her.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Carving the Turkey.

The carver will hope for a bird that is less in size than some of the ponderous creatures we have seen around this year. But any turkey looks large to one unaccustomed to carving.

Carving is distinctly a thing that should be learned by looking on while an expert performs. The old cook books tried to teach it by engravings of the pieces across which were dotted lines along which the knife was to course its way. The modern cook book has none of these pictures—at least I know of none that has. Miss Farmer nevertheless has directions headed, "To Carve a Turkey," which read:

"Bird should be placed on back with legs at right of platter for carving. Introduce carving fork across breast bone, hold firmly in left hand, and with carving knife in right hand cut through skin between leg and body close to body. With knife pull back leg and disjoint from body. Then cut off wing. Remove leg and wing from other side. Separate second joints from drumsticks and divide wings at joints.

"Carve breast meat in thin crosswise slices. Under back on either side of backbone may be found two small oyster shaped pieces of dark meat, which are dainty tidbits.

"Pollyanna" Author Leaves $292,000

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

PATRICIA: WHISHT! I HEAR IT too! I do hear tell they be getting facials, mud baths, marcels, and high polishes on their nails. And that they are buying perfumes—not for their lady loves! On your honor, now, Patricia, don't you spread this about or it may put more of these would-be-beautiful males in the beauty parlor frame of mind. And we don't want any more of our stuff stolen like that!

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF THE CHILDREN

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Aunty Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

I was dressed for a sleigh ride just about a year ago. As the hour was growing late, and I became anxious as to whether or not my friend was coming, I stepped out on our front porch, which was icy and sleety. Just as I did so I saw my friend crossing the street. I wanted to get into the house before he saw me, but due to my haste my foot slipped and I fell, sprawling all over, which resulted in quite a deep cut on my face. Getting up as fast as possible, I hurried in and on my way up the stairs told my brother to answer the door bell when it rang.

Knowing my brother as I do, when I heard the bell ring and knew he had answered it, I listened at the top of the stairs to see what he was going to say. Elmer spoke to my brother in a friendly fashion.

Walter evidently did not reply immediately, because, judging from his reply of: "It's 'bout time you got here. Helen nearly broke her neck leaving for you," given in his usual deliberate gruff baby voice, he had sized up the whole situation. H. L.

When Bud was sent to school the first day he came home warm and out of breath.

His mother asked: "Why, what made you come so fast?"

"Why," said Bud, "when teacher turned us out she said: 'Now run home,' and I did, mother, 'ist as fast as I could." M.

Christmas

"And when they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding joy. And they came into the house, and saw the young child . . . ."

As shepherds and wise men exulted in their knowledge, so at this time the world knows exaltation. A surge of emotion sweeps away petty meanness. Mellowness of affection envelops man. Hands, long careless, grow gentle. Eyes see with greater vision. And tongues, harsh and unheeding, soften in the expression of suddenly familiar phrases. Even the sound of these fall on his ears with deeper meaning. The world is newly colored. Errant feet seek a child's pathway. Shoulders straighten under a new self-imposed burden. Some recollection halts the wayward, while the kindly seek ways of aiding:

The man in the street feels a glow as the bells ring out, and with renewed hope he stirs to their antiphonal music:

"Peace on earth! Good will to men!"

CHAS·A·STEVENS & BROS.
A Complete, Exclusive Specialty Shop for Women

Announce That Wonderful Two Weeks

Clearance Sale

Beginning at 8:30 a.m. MONDAY MORNING Dec. 27th

FOR every 24 weeks out of each half year every garment or article that is offered for sale in the Stevens Store must be absolutely new and perfect in all respects.

Merchandise which is imperfect is not received in stock. Merchandise which has become shop-worn in stock, or soiled or slightly damaged is withdrawn from stock to await the Great Clearance Sale, when

All goods not specifically planned for the next season's business—all fall and winter merchandise, for example, no matter how fine or how advanced in style, all broken or discontinued lines, all slightly soiled or mussed pieces, every odd, one-of-a-kind piece—out of the millions of dollars' worth that have passed through our hands are sold regardless of cost or value.

That every woman in Chicago prefers a Stevens garment is proven by the enormous crowds that attend this sale each time. If Stevens' wearing apparel for women could be sold the year round at prices that prevail in this sale, practically every woman in Chicago would very soon be wearing Stevens garments exclusively.

But such a thing would be utterly impossible, as many of the prices in these sales are far below their original cost or their value and most of the merchandise is strictly desirable.

Don't fail to see the full particulars about this great sale which will appear in the Sunday's and Monday's Tribune.

NEWS OF SOCIETY

Quiet Christmas at Home Is Plan of Society's Leaders

Society will spend its Christmas day very quietly, though for the young people there are parties ad infinitum throughout the day and evening. In the main, family dinners at noon and in the evening will be celebrated, however, to the exclusion of formal functions.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen of 1430 Astor street will give a family dinner party. Her guests will be her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. of Lake Forest, and their daughter and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair of 1416 Astor street, and their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps, the latter formerly Louise Bowen, of 1400 Astor street, and their children are spending the winter in California, and Mr. and Mrs. John de Koven Bowen of New York are at the town of Nassau in the Bahama islands for the winter.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell and Mrs. Marguerite Mitchell Sheriff of 1200 Lake Shore drive will have a family dinner party. Their guests will include Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell and family of 1550 North State parkway and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell II and their small son of 1229 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour and Miss Lolita Ogden Armour will have Madame Armour with them at Mellody farm for Christmas dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker and Miss Grace Dixon of 70 Scott street will have a gathering of thirty-eight members of the Dixon family for dinner at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Spoor of 1320 North State parkway will have as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thornhill Broome, and small son, John Spoor Broome, and Mrs. Spoor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Samuel of Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence H. Armour of 920 North Michigan avenue will have as dinner guests today Capt. and Mrs. Charles Webster Littlefield of New York and Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour and children of 1200 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan of 1415 North Dearborn parkway will give a family dinner party for their children and grandchildren, their guests to number twenty-two.

Mrs. Timothy B. Blackstone will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryson of 619 Buena avenue.

A number of buds will assist at a tea to be given today from 4 until 7 o'clock by Mr. and Mrs. Hugo O. von Hofsten of Winnetka, who will introduce to society their daughter, Miss Mary Louise von Hofsten.

Following the receiving hours there will be a dinner dance for the debutantes and their escorts.

Assisting will be Miss Nathalie Bookin, Miss Caroline de Windt, Miss Nancy Porter, Miss Olivia Fentress, Miss Elizabeth Andrews, Miss Freda Gross, Miss Theresa Gross, Miss Betty Scott, Miss Elizabeth Greeley, Miss Harriet Nichols, Miss Marjorie Farwell, Miss Grace Andrews, and Miss Louise Wood.

Mrs. Bradstreet Parker has returned to Boston, after a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Owen B. Jones of 1315 Ritchie court.

Mrs. Samuel K. Martin of 191 East Walton place has gone to Santa Barbara, Cal., for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joy Morton of Naperville have gone to Europe for a stay of several months.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Mrs. Horace Mann Towner gave a tea-dance at the Congressional club today for her daughter, Miss Constance Towner, who is home from Wellesley for the holidays. Mrs. C. M. Ramseyer and Mrs. James H. Van Wagonen were among those assisting.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER. Now Winnie's Christmas Is Spoiled

The flush of excitement was over in the little top floor home of Winnie Winkle. The exchange of presents and her tender love for her mother and father had left Winnie feeling sentimental as she sat in the dimly lighted parlor with Simon Konshus. "Ain't that a funny flower!" said Simon, by way of saying something.

"Why, Simon dear," said Winnie softly, "that's a mistletoe. If a girl is ever under that she is liable to be kissed." And to illustrate Winnie arose and stood directly underneath the mistletoe. But Simon only sat there and laughed. "Gosh, Winnie," he said, "I don't believe in superstitions!"

"Just the same, it's true," said Winnie, while she remained standing beneath the mistletoe. "I'm taking an awful chance of being kissed by standing here. But I'm not a bit scared!" "Huh!" retorted Simon. "Why should you be scared? There's no one here, only me. And you needn't be scared of me!"

Winnie exploded. "Well, you're the original Simple Simon, all right! Of all the dubs with the unbuttoned brains you cop the Grand Prize! You know there's such a thing as being too much of a gentleman!" And with this Winnie flung haughtily out of the room, while poor Simon Konshus blushed so hard that he lit up the whole parlor.

Opera in English? 'Lohengrin' Proves Quite Easy to Take

BY RUTH MILLER.

"Lohengrin," the operatic Grimm's fairy tale of the enchanted prince, the wicked witch, the doubting princess and her heavensent champion, was presented to us last evening in all its legendary quaintness and English vocal garb.

Shall we gabble of dark vowels and sibilant consonants, of harsh or soothing syllables? We shall not. The intelligibility of our alleged unsingable language proved to be so far in advance of the scrambled French that was heard by us a few days ago in "Romeo and Juliet" that after the first few moments of vulgar curiosity, the sound of our native tongue turned to the fantastic uses of opera was taken as a matter of course.

True, Raisa sang with a wee lovely lisp of an accent. Each word emphasized prettily like an anxious eager child might in repeating a carefully learned lesson. But there is a certain ineluctable charm in such daintily stilted syllables. A certain piquancy. Its meter belonged somehow to the character of the blonde Elsa with her picturebook garb. She sang exquisitely, but with a little reserve, as though she felt a trifle uncertain on this strange new linguistic ground.

As the sinister plotting Ortrud, who as mischief maker was rather a dud, Cyrena Van Gordon could not be understood and her voice, though powerful enough, was distinctly strident.

Kreidler, Defrere, and Cotreuil deserve nothing but fervent encomium for their syllabic impeccancy. As Telramund who, like Macbeth, took a woman's scheming advice, Kreidler sang well, let Johnson push him down with a feeble shove instead of a sword thrust, and was dramatically convincing.

Defrere wavered somewhat as to pitch, but never as to energy of tone as the herald. Cotreuil as King Henry was sonorous as to vocalization and concise as to enunciation. Occasionally, under stress of the pulsing music, he skidded a bit, on his punctilious vowels and crisp consonants. But never for long.

And what of the music of this popular Wagnerian opera? After its strategic absence, it rings with a sweetness long drawn out. Too long if two acts in two hours and forty-five minutes are any criterion. It is lathed in dripping melody and luscious orchestration. It sounds a bit conventional, too, at times, even a trifle thin. We have been hurled through considerable musical space in the last few years. And perhaps the keen edge of our appreciation has been dulled by too much familiarity with the ultra modernists. Wagner somehow seems a little tedious, garrulous, as he drifts into operatic old age.

The performance as a whole was excellently balanced. It cannot be said that it was traditional, for the traditional Elsa weighed a ton and resembled that obsolete feminine, a blowsy bar maid. At least modernity, for all its sins, has bestowed one artistic blessing upon us. It has given the heroine of our lyric drama a figure.

Mr. Marinuzzi deserves warm praise for his conducting of this score that divides itself into divisions and subdivisions, and wanders all over the place to gain a simple but telling effect.

It's Christmas, and we hope a happy one, so we won't mention that the stage hands, various mechanics, and the prompter added some entirely audible conversational dissonances to the opera, which I do not believe were included originally in Mr. Wagner's score.

Then, too, remembering the festive yuletide, we shall omit mention of the fact that no one discovered just what language the chorus sang. There was, in fact, a violent diversity of opinion in the matter.

Flower Show Makes a Rainbow Room at the Art Institute

Colored with heaven's own blue is the fringed gentian, waving her proud flowers in haughty welcome at the third annual exhibition of nature studies, arranged by the Chicago chapter of the Wild Flower Preservation Society of America, and now occupying the east galleries of the Art institute. The exhibit opened Dec. 18 and will continue until Jan. 18.

Trillium grandiflorum, aquilegia canadensis (in plain clothes, just wild columbine), caltha Palustris, cornus florida, trillium undulatum, and a host of other Latin names do seem a bit overwhelming. But there is the simple anemone, the ingratiating clematis, the yellow violet, and even the bourgeois milkweed, grasses, and pokeweed.

The wild flowers, most of which are from our dune region, are displayed to draw attention to the necessity for organized legislation to prevent their destruction. Spring beauties, lady-slippers, columbine and trilliums are disappearing. There are great areas in Illinois already despoiled of the fragile flowers of spring. Enthusiastic flower gatherers have picked them and stopped the ripening of their seeds. Worse, commercial venders annually carry carloads of water lilies, gentians, maiden-hair, pussy-willow and branches of foliage to be sold in city markets. Our woods and countryside are in danger of losing forever a great part of their beauty unless concerted action is taken for the preservation of those wild flowers still left to us.

SORORITY'S CHIEF WILL HAVE CHARGE OF DANCE NEXT WEEK

Miss Charlotte Wakefield, president of the grand council of Zeta Sigma Psi sorority, is in charge of the dance to be given at the Sisson hotel on Dec. 29. The dance, which will be for members only, is to be one of the largest events in Zeta's calendar for the coming year. Miss Wakefield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Wakefield of 7320 South Union avenue.

Cathedral of all the Stores

UNTRAMMELED and fair
Its granite walls uprise;
It tow'rs 'neath bending skies.
To the north and south, to the east and west,
Swing gates to wondrous floors—
Builded for service, aye, proudly it stands,
Cathedral of all the stores.

Like fairied aisles they run
'Mid postured columns, uplifted and white
Ever and ever press myriad feet,
Expectant thru the doors—
Builded for service, securely it stands,
Cathedral of all the stores.

And lands beyond the sea,
Rare works in artistry.
And so shall it stand with a fame unmatched
Here, or on distant shores,
Builded for service—the marvel of men—

OLD SANTA CLAUS WINS $50 PRIZE FOR POLITENESS

Street St. Nick's Good Nature Rewarded.

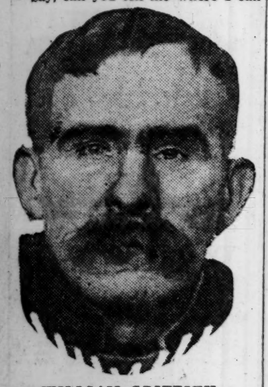

Mr. S. Claus, the well known purveyor of Christmas cheer, was yesterday's winner of THE TRIBUNE'S $50 politeness prize.

The reporter discovered him about 6 o'clock last night standing at State and Adams street. Beside him was a small chimney into the flue of which ever and anon, some pedestrian would drop coins with charitable intent. It was the cheery manner in which Santa thanked donors that first attracted the politeness seeker's attention.

"Good evening, Santa," said he, placing himself vis-a-vis to the Clausian whiskers and bright red cap. A hair or two of the former, he noted, was embellished with the stray juice of terbakker. Yes, sir, St. Nick chews a little now and then.

No "Cheap Eats" in Loop.

The reporter's voice dropped a bit. "Say, can you tell me where I can

WILLIAM GRIFFITH.

"Well, not around here in the loop," said Santa kindly. "But I know a place where you'll get a big plate of hash, five or six slices of bread, some potatoes, and a cup of coffee for 15 cents. And for 25 cents you can——"

Old Man Claus went on to give minute directions for locating this phenomenal eatery. Stooping a bit besides the little chimney, he outlined an itinerary which would take the reporter into that anchorage of the port of missing men called West Madison street.

Says It All Again and Again.

"I didn't quite get that. Would you mind repeating?" said the politeness seeker. Once more—and then a third time—Santa Claus went over the directions. He didn't seem the least brusque, despite the fact 'twas Christmas eve and he had several thousand chimneys to descend before dawn.

"Now when you get over in that neighborhood just be careful about mixing with strangers," he said. "And don't you go near any of those hell houses of saloons."

"I'd take you over to my place at 850 West Madison street," he added, "but I know they are full up."

Pickaninny Gets a Smile.

He paused a moment to wave greeting to a pickaninny who smiled at him. The reporter noticed that his blue eyes twinkled—quite a difference from the manner of the department store Santas.

Here was the first really courteous person he had met that day, and he'd been searching for hours. Roaming into the toy section of a department store, he had nearly been run down by a juvenile automobile which a clerk was piloting down the aisle.

"Say, mister. I thought you was only going to play one record," a pout-faced young woman was saying. The customer made some talk about seeing the manager, at which she opened her mouth and deposed:

"Go ahead! You're darned lucky I played any for you."

At Last Finds a Polite One.

At a dozen counters at this and other stores the politeness seeker tarried without receiving even an offer of service. Then he followed a tired mother as she bore her blue eyed baby through the crowded aisles. At the belt buckle counter she paused.

"Something for you, madam?" inquired a dark haired young woman. She played a bit with the baby until the weary mother smiled.

In time the purchase was consummated. Miss Brunette was just about to carry the newly engraved buckle to the wrapping station when she suddenly brought it back.

"Would you like to see it, too?" she asked, flashing the ornament before the infant's eyes. It was a cheerful interlude in a day of hectic bustle.

Hard Knocks, Says Santa.

But to return to our friend, Claus——

"I've had some pretty hard knocks in my life," he was saying when the reporter asked him why he treated the world so genially, "and I believe in being kind and polite to everybody. That's my religion, sir—to treat other folks as I'd like to be treated."

Santa gave his name as William Griffith. Twenty years ago he lost his wife and children when the town of Hinkley, Minn., went up in flames. Then began an alcoholic descent.

"But I was converted on July 15," he stated. "Yes, sir, down at the Helping Hand mission on Madison street. I'm going to put some of that $50 into this chimney here," he added. "It'll help the poor kids get their Christmas dinner."

MRS. PAUL HANSON.

CHILD OF BROKEN HOME FINDS OUT SANTA IS WIZARD

Brings Mamma Back with Judge's Aid.

Santa Claus answered little Miss Winona Weber's letter yesterday with alacrity and in his own mysterious way. Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court acted as emissary extraordinary for the Old Man of the North.

"Dear Santa, I'm a little girl out here in the Josephinum academy," the letter read. "My mamma and papa don't love each other any more and we haven't any home together. But I'm lonesome for my mamma. I want to spend Christmas with her. Won't you please fixe it so I can? If you will I won't expect any other present. Love,

"WINONA."

A House Divided.

Judge Sabath read the letter. Then he heard the story of how John L. Weber, president of the Chicago Costume Works, 116 North Franklin street, had filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Sadie Weber, charging cruelty.

He learned that the home at 442 St. James place had been broken up and that Winona, 8 years old, had been placed in the academy from which she wrote to Santa.

And—Winona's Home!

Her mother's attorney, William G. Thon, found the missive and appeared before the judge with a request for an order placing the child in custody of Mrs. Weber pending the outcome of the divorce action.

Judge Sabath granted the attorney's petition, and Winona was home last night. "Santa's a wonderful fellow," she mused, "but Judge Sabath is nearly as good."

DIARY OF WIFE MAY FREE MATE HELD AS BANDIT

A diary kept by his wife on the advice of his attorney may free Paul Hanson, suspect held for the slaying of Paul J. Loberg, a jeweler at 2556 Milwaukee avenue, who was killed by bandits last Wednesday night.

Hanson was arrested yesterday after a raid on his home at 5201 Woodlawn avenue. Three witnesses to the killing failed to identify him as one of the bandits. He is held until he can be viewed by a fourth witness.

At the detective bureau Attorney Francis Borrelli, who represented him several weeks ago when he was arrested on a charge of burglary, appeared with a diary written by Mrs. Helen Hanson, his wife, which showed that her husband was at home at the time of the shooting.

Foresees Trouble for Client.

"I knew that the police would be hounding Paul," said Mr. Borrelli, "so I advised Mrs. Hanson to keep a record of all his movements. The diary will show that he was home the night the murder was committed."

Mrs. Hanson's diary begins on Dec. 18, when her husband was released on bond from his previous arrest. The first entry is "Paul got out of jail," and then lists where he ate every meal, what time he went to bed, what time he got up in the morning, the different churches he attended and whom he visited.

On Sunday, Dec. 19, for instance, the diary reads:

"Got up at 9 a. m. Went to 10 a. m. mass. Went to Marie's for dinner. [Marie is a sister-in-law.] Stayed all afternoon. Had supper and went to evening services at the Presbyterian church, Fifty-third and Blackstone. Went to the movies. Came home after the movies. Went to bed at 10:30 p. m."

Record of Day of Murder.

On Wednesday, Dec. 22, the day Loberg was killed, the diary says:

"Got up at 10 a. m. Jack [a brother-in-law] couldn't get me started with his company for a few days but told me to stay at home so I could go whenever he called me. Marie called up and asked us over so we went over and we all cleaned her house for her. [She paid me.] Stayed there for supper that evening. Left her house at 9 p. m. Came home. Read the paper. Went to bed at 10:30 p. m."

For Friday, Dec. 24, there is no entry. It will probably be, "Paul was arrested again and went back to jail."

CALL COLLECTORS BOGUS.

Following complaints that two men had made efforts to collect funds for Christmas charity work by representing themselves as a committee authorized by the United Association of Railway Employés, officials of that organization declared yesterday that no committee had been nformed for that purpose.

SOMEBODY IS ALWAYS TAKING THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

HOUGH, ILL, CALLS UP TO SAY HE'S FAR FROM DEAD

Emerson Hough, novelist, traveler, and writer on out of doors subjects, is seriously ill at St. Joseph's hospital. An operation probably will be performed next Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Hough recently returned from a hunting trip in the south on account of his health, and the strain of delivering an address in Joliet a few days ago overtaxed his strength. He returned to his home at 459 Surf street and yesterday went to the hospital.

EMERSON HOUGH.

"It was the first time in my life that I was unable to shoot," he said, referring to his southern trip. "While the operation will be a pretty tough one, they tell me my heart is good, and that helps a lot. I wish you would correct one error. An afternoon newspaper called me up today and said it had heard I was dead. I assure you I am far from it."

Illinois Woman Celebrates Her 109th Birthday Today

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Vermett of Hebron, Ill., will be 109 years old tomorrow. She will pass Christmas at the farm home of her son Henry, 75 years old, where she will be surrounded by four generations—children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, great-great-grandchildren.

The Inquiring Reporter

Today's Question.

Where Asked.

The Answers.

Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, 832 Bryant avenue, Winnetka, philanthropist.—Well, yes, I believe that children should be told the truth but not the entire truth. They should be told that Santa Claus is the spirit of Christmas giving, the spirit of love and unselfishness. It is the spirit that animates the thousands of children who are giving to help feed the starving children of Europe.

A. A. Carpenter, 130 Lake Shore drive, capitalist.—I do not believe in destroying the most beautiful vision of childhood. The belief in Santa Claus is one of the sweetest joys that children have. They learn the truth all too soon about Santa Claus and a lot of other things, but they never forget the days when they peered out of the window and listened all a-tremble for Santa's reindeer.

Catherine Armstrong, 5246 Winthrop avenue, stenographer.—They learn it quickly enough without being told, I think. At that, it isn't really a certainty there is no Santa Claus. If he doesn't climb down chimneys he climbs into the hearts of people. The more nice things children believe in the nicer they are.

Mrs. Russell B. Tyson, 20 East Goethe street, society matron.—O, no, don't destroy what only gives happiness and does no harm. It's a prosy old world at the best, so don't crush all the poetry and beauty out of it. Let the children believe in Santa Claus as long as they can. They'll never forget how happy they were when they hung up their stockings and waited for Santa Claus.

William Stokes, 104 West Oak street director. — Certainly, children should be told the truth. There is a Santa Claus. Tell them that. I believed it when a child, and I believe it now. If there were no Santa Claus how would Herbert Hoover feed and clothe those 3,500,000 children in war stricken countries? Is there a Santa Claus? I'll tell the world there is.

SWEETHEARTS OF LONG AGO MEET AGAIN; TO WED

Dorothy Gage and Alan Ingram were childhood sweethearts. Dorothy commanded and Alan obeyed, then Alan went to make his fortune in other fields and Dorothy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gage of 228 South East avenue, Oak Park, took up a musical career, being graduated from the Central College of Music, the Lyceum Arts, and Northwestern university. Of recent years she has appeared in the Shakesperean drama. Then fate made amends for the separation, and Mr. Ingram, now a dignified member of the Packard Electric company in Elgin, crossed the path of Miss Gage again. Electricity and college degrees were both forgotten—and now they are engaged, and will be married "some time in the future."

DOROTHY GAGE.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE'S report of the breaking of a window in the fur store of Engler & Burgess gave the address as 38 South State street. The correct address is 76 East Madison street.

A report printed in THE TRIBUNE that 10 per cent bonuses had been given the employés of the Chicago stock exchange was incorrect. No bonuses were given.

Bearing Gifts to Wife, He Finds Her a Suicide

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

DID you know that a police operator sits at a switchboard for 2,616 hours and answers more than 400,000 phone calls each year?

Of course every operator doesn't answer as many calls as Frank J. Cusack, for he is an operator at the Desplaines street station, the busiest in Chicago, but we'll take his case as an example. He is on the job eight hours a day, 327 days in the year, and eats his lunch at the switchboard. Every day he receives 1,000 calls from patrolmen —327,000 calls a year. With each call he has to check the name of the policeman, the time, and the location of the box from which the call was made on a large chart in front of him. Besides these he receives on an average of 400 telephone inquiries a day, making a total of 457,800 calls a year.

But even then his job is only half done. He receives every fire alarm turned in in the city and, if the fire is in his district, he must send the patrol wagon or ambulance. If the ambulance is out and a call for a doctor comes in, he must summon a physician from another station.

In his twenty-seven years of service Cusack figures he has answered the phone more than 12,000,000 times.

PROOF THAT SANTA LIVES

Little Winona Weber now knows that Santa really and truly lives and is a magician. Placed in an academy when her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weber, became estranged and a divorce suit was filed, the little girl became lonely and asked Santa to let her "spend Christmas with mamma as her only present." Somehow Judge Sabath heard of the letter—and here are Winona and her mother.

ARTISTS VAINLY PEER IN STOCKIN FOR NEW HOME

Who'll Be Santa Claus Chicago's Exiles?

BY MAUD MARTIN ELLIS.

This column is my Christmas pr ent. For the first and probably last time I may unburden myself my own subject, a rare moment in li The fly in the juniper juice is that have to say it in a few hundred wo and four pictures.

I strode into the presence of the t most tip of the topmost top of edi tors with an idea for him to carry out in style. In the twinkling of an eye I strode out again with the gift of thiscoluman and a dazed feeling of "How queer things are."

AN EXTINCT TY

CHAPTER I.

Time was, in ye olden days, when an artist was a creature lower than who brought in the queen's periwin of a frosty morn. He had to be de a thousand years or so before his p tures would sell for the price of hearty breakfast.

That idea still clings in the topk of the modern bean. Also that arti are a bit cracked.

Now, on the contrary, artists and for some time have been aides camp to King Business. They no lo er starve in freezing attics, or fe upon a crust of moldering bread w the fragrant odor of garlic festoon the atmosphere.

Ask the man who buys a front pa corner for one of our magazines, or firm that des an "ad" for automobile ca paign, or Mrs. kalé, who has had her likene painted, minus three chins.

POPULAR CONCEP TION OF ARTISTS

The appeal picture and brilliant letter on the tin "c taining little sages was done the hand of artist, even as the billboard that dazzles your eye netted a dazzling sum some artist's pocket.

In brief, this is the day of the art

CHAPTER II.

Having established the value of lists to the community, I now o Chapter Two.

Chicago has the largest art school the world—the Art institute and smaller school, the Academy of Arts. More than 3,800 students are rolled here yearly, not counting nig classes.

It is safe to say that nearly ev big American name signed to paintin murals, illustrations, "ads," and comics is that of an artist educated in Chicago. They include Lawton Parker, Louis Betts, Victor Higginson, Louis Bittman, who has recently been admitted to the French Association of Artists; Eugene Savage and Ezra Winters, both of whom won a Prix Rome; the Leyendecker brothers, H vey Dunn, Dean Cornwell, Neysa Mein, and others too numerous to m tion.

And where did they go? Where they living now? Who has first cla on their work? New York!

Why? Because New York has pla for them to live and work, studio apa ments with proper light and air; cause a concerted effort is made to f nish them working quarters, which as necessary as an office building office workers, or a bank for the ba ing business, or a newspaper plant which to print a paper.

The result of the flocking of the a lists to New York is this: Big busin houses are built around them for t purpose of getting art work done cheaply and expeditiously as possi —catalogue people, the largest patte concerns, and so on. And Chicago bu ness men keep the trail to New Yo hot, speeding back and forth buying work of every description and pay probably three or four prices.

CHAPTER III.

We have had only one Chicago bui ing designed for the use of artists, a that is to be to down. The ager of the conscript building print t fact that the a ists were go tenants and pa the rent promi ly. Why does C cago permit— fact, force—t artists to go eas

ART WHICH ALL UNDERSTAND

What is the matter with Chicago?

STOCKHOLDERS O. K. GOODYEAR 50 MILLIONS LOAN

Akron, O., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, at a special meeting today, voted to authorize the directors to issue $50,000,000 in first mortgage bonds. The meeting then adjourned to Dec. 29, when the directors will report on their efforts to sell all or a part of the issue to a group of New York and Chicago investment bankers with which negotiations have been in progress for several weeks.

President F. A. Seiberling told the stockholders $50,000,000 would be necessary for refinancing the company. The company recently obtained a loan of $28,800,000 from a Chicago-New York banking syndicate, which will mature Feb. 15. This loan was given to tide the company over a period of business depression and inventory depreciation and to enable it to arrange permanent financing.

Friction at Meeting.

The stockholders' meeting today was not without friction. The vote to issue bonds was carried overwhelmingly. Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio, who filed suit at Columbus last week asking receivership for the company, led the opposition to the financial plan. A near riot occurred when Mr. Monnett gained the floor and launched into a vigorous criticism of the company's activities.

"We'll buy your forty-five shares of preferred at par!" an excited stockholder supporting the loan cried as he jumped to his feet. It was with some difficulty that Attorney W. E. Young, acting chairman, restored quiet.

"I believe that not more than $30,000,000 will be used in carrying us from the present depression back into prosperity," President Seiberling stated. "The proceeds from the bonds and notes will be used first to pay present indebtedness and whatever is left will be used as working capital."

May Change Stock Value.

At the adjourned meeting next week it is expected a proposal to decrease the face value of the common stock from $100 to $50 a share without changing the number of shares outstanding and also to authorize common stock without par value will come up for a vote. This would add $50,000,000 to the surplus fund.

A change in the par value of the common stock is necessary before the January dividend on the preferred issue can be declared.

The Ohio law provides that dividends shall be paid only out of surplus or earnings and the old surplus has been practically wiped out by liquidation of inventory.

A report from G. M. Stadelman, vice president, showed that the low point in sales was reached in November and that since that time conditions have been steadily improving.

The audit made by the Brice-Waterhouse company was read at the meeting. It showed assets of $153,076,840 and liabilities of $42,696,244. It also showed book value of Goodyear preferred to be $100 and of common $74 a share. The current market price of the preferred and common is around and $23 a share, respectively.

RECEIVER TAKES OVER DENVER'S TRAMWAY LINES

Denver, Colo., Dec. 24.—The Denver Tramway company, the $20,000,000 concern that operates the street railway system of Denver, tonight was in the hands of a receiver appointed in the United States District court.

Upon application of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, a creditor, Federal Judge Robert E. Lewis today named Ernest Stenger, president and general manager of the tramway company, to take charge of the company's affairs under jurisdiction of the court.

The receiver's duties will be to hold the moneys accruing to the company pending the court's order and endeavor to conduct the business and service of the organization on a normal basis.

Santa Remembers Colored Kids

AMOS WATSON, CLARA PEDRO.

NOWHERE in Chicago was there more Christmas merriment than at Eighth infantry armory, 3515 Forest avenue, where thousands of little Negro boys and girls celebrated yesterday. They laughed, their eyes sparkled, and their faces were wreathed in smiles such as Amos Watson and Clara Pedro are displaying in the picture as they viewed the massive Christmas tree with its glistening decorations and brilliant lights.

They fairly danced their way along the long lines where candy, nuts, fruits, and other goodies were given to them, along with a few simple toys. Their shouts and laughter were heard above the music of the big orchestra which interspersed southern airs with Christmas music and played them well.

"Thank you, Santa Claus," and "Merry Christmas" bespoke the appreciation of the little folks as each was remembered.

$6,000,000 AS LEVY ON STOCK, C. & E. I. PLAN

Economy Pledge if O. K. Is Granted.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Assessment of $30 a share on the stockholders to raise $6,0000,000 is part of the proposed plan for the taking over of the property of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company by a new company to be known as the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company.

The property has been in the hands of a receiver since May, 1913, and is to be sold Jan. 11, 1921, under a foreclosure order of a federal court. The reorganized company asks that its plan be approved by interstate commerce commission in time for it to take over the property at the foreclosure sale.

Gives Details on Economy.

Reduction in outstanding indebtedness and a cut of about 50 per cent in fixed charged is proposed. The aggregate indebtedness and stock of the old company is $115,605,043, while that of the new would be $91,321,150. The old company had $81,603,395 of bonds and $19,377,268 of stock, while the new one would have $49,530,150 of stock, with the remainder of the $91,321,150 represented by bonds.

The new company plans to issue $32,156,000 general mortgage 5 per cent bonds maturing in 1951, and $4,285,000 prior lien bonds; also $24,030,150 6 per cent preferred stock and $25,500,000 common stock. The present $11,063,500 preferred and $7,204,000 common stocks would be assessed $30 a share and exchanged share for share for new preferred and common.

What They Will Get.

As return on the assessment the stockholders will be given 50 per cent in general mortgage bonds and 50 per cent in preferred stock. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the Evansville and Terre Haute first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, totaling $21,343,000 and 3,175,000 respectively, will be exchanged par for par for new general mortgage bonds.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois refunding 4s and the Evansville and Terre Haute refunding 5s, totaling $18,019,000 and $1,278,150 respectively, will be exchanged par for par into new preferred stock with full allowance of about six years' accrued interest.

May Implicate Policemen in Fort Worth Lynching

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 24.—Charging a special grand jury convened here today to investigate the lynching of Tom W. Vickery Wednesday night, District Judge Hosey declared the evidence to be submitted "probably would show men in uniform broke into the county jail," took the prisoner out, and hanged him.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Directors of the Cudahy Packing company took no action on the dividends which would ordinarily be due in January. This action was not unexpected, as conditions in the packing industry have shown little or no improvement since the Cudahy dividend was omitted last quarter. Old officers were reelected without change at the meeting. The Holland-St. Louis Sugar company has decided to revert to its former system of considering dividend payments late in the spring, after the company's output has been sold and earnings definitely established, instead of quarterly.

Directors of the Leonard Construction company have declared a stock dividend from surplus of $1,000,000, equivalent to 200 per cent. It is expected there will be another stock dividend of similar amount declared early in 1921. The Acme Packing company has declared a stock dividend of 325 per cent, payable Dec. 28 to stockholders of record Dec. 27.

The steamer Lapland has just left England, bringing $3,575,000 in gold bars consigned to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. This will make a total of $82,875,000 gold imported by this house in 1920.

The Mexican Eagle Oil company has declared a dividend of 54 per cent, payable Dec. 31 at the American Exchange National bank, against coupon number 15 on the ordinary and coupon number 22 on the preferred, with $2.6865 per share. Of this 54 per cent dividend, 49 per cent represents the final distribution for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, making, with the 5 per cent paid last January and 6 per cent last June, a total of 40 per cent ($3 per share for the year). The remaining 5 per cent is a first interim dividend in respect of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921. The company announces the increase of the authorized capital from 115,113,580 pesos to 160,000,000 pesos and the granting of subscription rights for new shares at par in respect of every two shares now held.

The Trans-Continental Oil company has acquired control of the Latin American Petroleum corporation and the latter's 600,000 acres of oil lands in Colombia. J. C. Tress was elected president of the company.

RAILROAD NOTES

Steam railroads operating in Michigan were restrained from increasing passenger fares above present rates in a temporary order issued yesterday at Lansing by Judge Collingwood. The order was issued on application of Attorney General Groesbeck. An order to show cause is returnable Jan. 11.

Nine railroads operating in Minnesota have been granted permission by Judge W. F. Booth to file a supplemental bill of complaint to prevent the state from interfering with compliance with the interstate commerce commission's order fixing a 3.6 cent passenger fare after Feb. 1.

A temporary injunction has been granted by Supreme Court Justice Benedict restraining the Long Island Railroad company and the Staten Island Rapid Transit company from increasing fares until there has been trial of an action for a permanent restraining order. This will prevent the companies from putting into effect a proposed increase of 20 per cent authorized by an order of the interstate commerce commission.

J. P. Morgan & Co. have purchased $4,500,000 Atlantic Coast Line one to fifteen year 6½ per cent equipment trusts, which will be offered to the public next week.

Another 20@40c advance in hogs carried the average to $9.85 and the top to $10.35, the highest in three weeks. Shippers were the life of the trade, taking practically half the 15,000 received. Owing to the Christmas holiday, half of the local packers stayed out of the market, having enough on hand for Monday.

The estimated average weight of hogs last week gained 2 lbs over the previous week at 231 lbs, against 224 lbs a year ago and 225 lbs two years ago, being the heaviest in more than ten years for this season of the year and 18 lbs heavier than the ten year average.

Some strength featured the early cattle market Friday, but closing trade was weak, with bids 25@50c lower and some left unsold. Sheep and lambs closed the week 50c@$1.00 higher, with best lambs quotable at $11.75.

Today is a holiday at the Chicago stockyards, all arrivals being counted in with Monday's receipts, which are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 45,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep, against 27,116 cattle, 60,200 hogs, and 32,743 sheep a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 55,000 cattle, 200,000 hogs, and 70,000 sheep.

DRY GOODS MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Dry goods buying was quiet before the holiday, but many buyers gave notice of an intention to come early to markets next year. Yarns were quiet and irregular. More inquiry developed in athletic underwear for spring. Silks were dull. Wood goods quiet.

Other financial and market news will be found on pages 16 and 17.

MR. S. CLAUS HAS NARROW ESCAPE ON NORTH SHORE

BY AL CHASE.

Old Mr. Claus pretty nearly got wedged in the chimney of the residence of C. E. Karstrom of Winnetka last night, for he sure had one big job. He delivered to Mrs. Adele C. Karstrom the eighteen apartment building at the southeast corner of Michigan avenue and Main street, Evanston, as a gift from her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Peyton C. Crenshaw, also of the university town, with "love and affection" in the place of revenue stamps.

MRS. C. E. KARSTROM.
[Matzene Photo.]

It's too bad to have to mention such humdrum things as figures in a Christmas day story, but we have to, so whether you're interested or not, there's an incumbrance of $38,000 on the property. The lot is 158x100. Mr. Crenshaw bought it in May, 1916, for $86,500, and according to experts it's worth over $100,000 today, so we'll say it made a pretty nice little Christmas gift.

Papa Crenshaw is president of the Home Oil company, and Son-in-Law Karstrom is vice president of the Shoal Creek Coal company. Mr. and Mrs. Crenshaw live in the gift building. Mr. and Mrs. Karstrom live at 345 Elder lane, Winnetka.

Plans have been drawn by Architect August C. Wilmanns for a $600,000 six story apartment hotel to be erected at 826-44 Grace street by George J. Breinig of Rockford, who originally planned to erect an elaborate dance hall to be called the Poppy Palace on this site.

Mr. Breinig bought the property, 140x200, from Albert Fuchs, for an indicated $52,000, subject to $17,000. There will be 140 apartments in the proposed hotel, of one, two, three and four rooms each. Work is expected to start next spring. Mr. Wilmanns was architect of the Chateau theater and apartments adjoining on the east.

REVIEW OF TRADE

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was less in volume than during the corresponding period last year. Orders from salesmen on the road were less than the same week a year ago. There have been twice as many customers in the market, however, and a great number of inquiries on merchandise for January delivery has been received. Retail merchants report an excellent Christmas business. Collections were not up to the standard of a year ago."

OHIOANS ARRIVE; FIND STINCHIE'S FAME FAR SPREAD

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Determined to put in a week of the hardest practice and feeling no bad results of the long trip from Columbus, the Ohio State football team, Western Conference champion, arrived here today at noon.

GAIL "PETE" STINCHCOMB

The squad which had been brought three-quarters of the way across the continent to meet the University of California in the main event of the tournament of roses carnival at Tournament Park on Jan. 1, appeared in good shape as the result of workouts which the men took en route. The athletes were in a lively mood and ready to start the last lap of preparation for one of the most important intersectional battles of recent years.

Condition is a mighty important factor in football, and this is just what Coach Wilce and Trainer Guerney will strive for all of next week. The men cannot be said to have had the hard work necessary to put them in shape for a grueling contest, but with one more week's training, should be able to perform as they did in the Big Ten contests.

Wonder Where East Gets Stars.

Californians are anxious to know how it is that so many stars are developed in the east. Last year it was Eddie Casey of Harvard, who was responsible for the defeat of Oregon in the big game. In 1918 it was Paddy Driscoll who starred for Great Lakes in the contest with the Mare Island marines. In 1916 Pollard of Brown put up a few capers against Washington State.

This year it will be Pete Stinchcomb against the pick of the coast. Football fans in the Golden state have already learned of his ability, and they believe he may pull off the plays that resulted in defeats for Oregon and Mare Island. On the other hand, there are some loyal California enthusiasts who believe Andy Smith has evolved a defense to stop the Buckeye star and that Stinchcomb will be unable to get loose.

Fans Stick to California.

According to all information, California is a strong aggregation. Close followers in this section give it more than an even chance to win from the middle west eleven. Whether it can stop the close and open attack of the Buckeyes is a matter of conjecture, and the Golden state eleven has not met an eleven all season which possesses the open offense of the Buckeyes.

Ohio has learned that California's strongest plays are directed on and off the tackles. Gains of six, eight and ten yards have been made by the use of this attack, which opposing elevens have been powerless to check.

If such is the case, it will be up to Capt. Huffman and Spiers to meet the brunt of the attack. Coach Wilce has been working on a defense to meet this style of offensive, and if Full Back Williaman is in shape to play, he will be a tower of strength in backing up the line.

Try Out Field for Game.

After the Ohio delegation had been welcomed by President W. L. Leishman, president of the tournament of roses committee, Coach Wilce ordered the players to take light lunch and prepare for practice. The entire squad was taken to Tournament park, where the first practice was held. The players were greatly impressed with the playing field, especially the firm footing, which delighted the backs, Stinchcomb in particular.

The men were given plenty of practice in handling the ball on passes and punts, while the forwards were given a long siege at the charging machine. Instruction in blocking and tackling came in for a deal of attention, especially the rolling block. A fast, snappy signal drill completed the day's work.

Although tomorrow is Christmas, Coach Wilce has ordered the men to take a long walk in the morning. He has also cautioned them about eating anything which might impair their condition. The Buckeye mentor was undecided whether practice will be held.

California Arrives Today.

The California squad, numbering over forty, will arrive tomorrow morning, and be quartered at the Maryland hotel. Upon its arrival Coaches Smith and Wilce will agree upon days or hours when their teams will use the park for practice. It is understood they will alternate, one using the park on one day and the other the high school gridiron.

The tournament of roses committee has arranged a series of trips for the visiting players on the mornings of the days intervening before the contest. The Ohio team will be guests of Buckeye alumni at a dinner at the Raymond tomorrow night, while a get-together meeting of Californian enthusiasts will be held at the Maryland.

Sell Counterfeit Tickets to Ohio-California Game

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 24.—Counterfeit tickets to the Ohio State-California football game at Pasadena New Year's day are being sold in Los Angeles and other cities, it was announced today by the Pasadena Tournament of Roses association, under whose auspices the east-west game is to be played.

CORNELL-DARTMOUTH GRID GAMES.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—A three year agreement for football games between Cornell and Dartmouth will become effective next fall, Frank Brady, a member of the Dartmouth football staff, said today that the game next fall would be played at Ithaca and that of 1922 at Hanover. In 1923 the game will go to a neutral field, probably New York.

CHRISTMAS REFLECTIONS.

AFTER you have finished your Christmas shopping—not early, but late, of course—have checked off the list of those with whom you "exchange" gifts, have wrapped and mailed the packages which it gave you comparatively little pleasure to send and the pleasure of whose recipients will be measured by the appraisal value—when all the duties, amenities, and bunk of the glad Yuletide season have been fulfilled—you can then look forward to your real Christmas—with the kiddies.

There you find surprise, happiness, and appreciation. And as they play around the Christmas tree with their soldiers or their dollies, you think that, after all, it is well worth while.

And their little gifts to you, bought with their own pocket money—how you value them, not for their usefulness or for their appropriateness as picked by the child mind, but for the thought that sent them to Mother or Daddy!

* *

Mother Goose Up to Scratch.

Sing a song of Christmas cheer—
Lots of yeast and raisins
Put away to brew;
When the stuff was opened
The guests began to sing;
You really could not censure them—
'Twas such a "kicky" thing! W. Z.

As Seen on the Coast.

Dear Wake: A San Francisco evening paper is trying to work up some kind of a straw vote on the question: "Who is the best football coach in the country, Andy Smith or Dobie?" F. L.

* *

Which only goes to show that the material at a coach's disposal has something to do with his reputation. Andy Smith became discouraged at Purdue, and Dobie, accustomed to success, found his first year at Cornell full of difficulties.

There is some debate on the propriety of the letter "t" in "hootch"—but we are more concerned with the letter of the law.

Grave London physicians declare;
We're a lot better off to fight physical woes
The fewer the garments we wear.
Put on less, they advise. . . . Well, it strikes me as clear
The suggestion's O. K. for the male;
But we can't let the female follow it here

If It Becomes Catchin'.

Friend Harvey: Dr. Hammond's recent reference to the refusal of Broadway theatrical stars to come to Chicago and the provinces impels me to ask you if it will ever come to this:

"The New York Giants, on their present swing around the circuit, are minus the services of their dazzling and voluptuous bat boy. 'Red' McGinnis, who ordinarily plays this rôle, refuses to leave New York." G. E. A.

At an Evanston social club, dances for some time had been engaged "on the nod," as it is known to turfgoers, or on the "cash and carry" plan of retail trade. This had proved satisfactory, but the committee in charge, without advance notice, thought to try an innovation, introducing regular programs with all entries carded.

Several dinner parties preceded the last function, and the guests arrived late, to find that Friend Husband and Friend Wife would have to go as an entry more times than they had been accustomed to dancing together or else scratch three or four races on the program. Well, you know how well husbands and wives get along together. After listening to a series of grouches, feminine and masculine, the committee announced a return to the oral system.

Do You Remember Way Back When: Christmas trees were lighted with candles, instead of colored electric light bulbs?

VETERAN FOLLOWERS OF PRIZE RING MAY RECALL THIS BATTLE

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, Dec. 24.—Old ring followers will recall Christmas day just twenty-four years ago when Peter Maher, the great Irish heavyweight, knocked Steve O'Donnell, the handsome Australian, kicking in exactly forty seconds.

It seems but yesterday, yet almost a quarter of a century has elapsed, since that bleak winter afternoon. The fight was held in the dingy wooden structure of the Greater New York Athletic club at Coney Island and more than a thousand of the faithful made their way to the old spot close to the ocean.

Protégé of Corbett.

Steve O'Donnell was a queer type of boxer, much on the style of Bombardier Wells, the tall English boxer of the present day. O'Donnell could hit and was as fast as a streak, but when he got one on the chin the show was usually over. Jim Corbett labored with him for years trying to produce a real fighter, but finally had to give it up.

On the day of the quarrel in question, the chattering thousand of regulars stood about in the cold club house while the two principals kept them waiting for hours. It was exactly 3:30 when O'Donnell breezed into the ring and the spectators, to keep from freezing to death, cheered him for several minutes. The Australian was smiling, but at the same time appeared dazed. Steve was licked right there, without Maher showing on the scene.

Steve Scents Trouble.

Maher climbed into the ring a minute later and after taking the cheers the Irishman hurried over to O'Donnell's corner, where he grasped the latter by the arm for a handshake and proceeded to almost yank Steve's arm from its socket. Poor Steve was shaking like a leaf.

In O'Donnell's corner was Sam Fitzpatrick, once manager of the great Kid Lavigne. Along with Sam, there was Gus Ruhlin, the Akron giant who fought Jeffries and Sharkey and all the big men of his time. Billy Madden was the chief adviser.

Maher had as handler old Peter Burns, the Harlem boy who served so many years with the hard clubbing Celt. O'Donnell's weight was announced as 181 pounds, while Maher registered 177, but looked more.

Respects Maher's Wallop.

The men were called to the center of the ring for the usual line of instructions from the referee. This over with, the bell clanged and the fight was on. Maher advanced toward Steve, but the latter retreated without hesitancy. Maher advanced again and Steve again backed away.

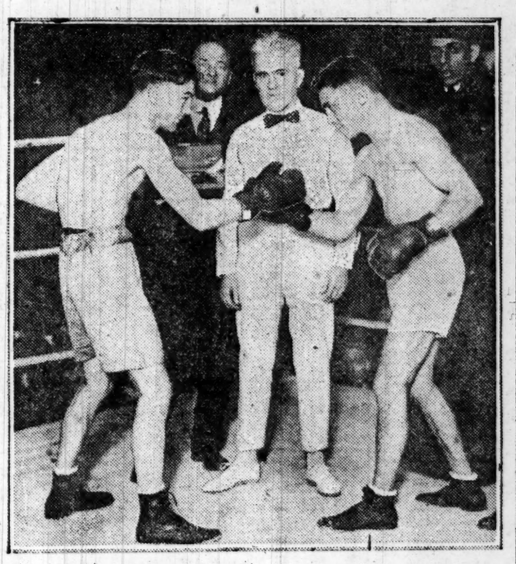

Peter finally managed to work O'Donnell to the ropes, but O'Donnell squirmed out of the danger zone. A moment later Steve landed a light left to Maher's stomach while the crowd cheered wildly.

The cheers for the Australian stung the Irishman to the quick. Peter tore in and cracked the Australian with a left on the chin, and when he missed a right O'Donnell rushed into a clinch. It was a sure enough clinch. The latter succeeded in shaking himself free and then smashed Steve on the chin, knocking him on his back. O'Donnell got up and rushed into another clinch.

After the break Maher let one go from the floor which landed on Steve's jaw. The handsome boy from across the sea fell with a terrific thump and made one turn while he was being counted out. Poor Steve, he was a splendid thing to watch in a gym, but in the ring he was awful.

FARM and HOME by Frank Ridgway

GROW MORE CLOVER

WITH the country's grain bins filled to the roof, it is considered a good time to grow more clover and less corn and wheat. As a result of the increased production of grain in the last few years, the fertility of the soil has been greatly reduced, and clover will help to build up the land. It would be a good plan for farmers to leave about a fourth of their land in clover for the next few seasons.

Turning nitrogen back into the soil by plowing under clover as a green manure crop is needed on practically every farm in the corn belt. Farm crop specialists at the Iowa State college say that during the period of depressed prices for agricultural products is the time to reservoir a supply of strength and organic matter in the soil, so that grain and meat can be produced abundantly later at a profit.

There are a variety of ways in which clover may be sown. It is usually sown in the middle west along with a small grain crop in the spring. To save labor and to get the seeding done before the spring rush it is frequently sown in late winter on a thin covering of snow, or when the soil is in a honeycombed condition.

It is well to buy seed during the winter to have on hand when the ground is in good condition for the work. Provide about ten pounds to the acre where red clover is to be sown alone. Frequently it is sown along with timothy seed, and where this is done seven or eight pounds is sufficient.

Woods and Waters by LARRY ST. JOHN

NOTES BY THE WAY.

WHAT has become of the rabbits? Most hunters can "remember way back when" it was no trick at all to go a few miles out of Chicago and bag a mess of bunnies. But try it now and see what you get. You may stumble onto a cottontail or two, if you are packing a horseshoe, but for every rabbit you see you will find a dozen signs which originally read "No Trespassing," although some one may have shot the "no" part of it to smithereens.

* *

Have any of you fellows who hunt in northern Illinois run across Hungarian partridges? These birds, like the English pheasant, are becoming plentiful in the same places our native Bob White and prairie chicken once used. It is an unpleasant, but stubborn, truth that an outlander usually thrives where a native fails—something to think about.

* *

The present low prices on raw furs is the salvation of our common fur bearing animals. If the prices that prevailed last season were still in force our fur bearers would be well nigh exterminated by next spring. Now, while prices are down, would be a good time to put on a closed season on all fur bearers. Wisconsin's action in closing down on mink and muskrat trapping was an act of wisdom that other states should follow.

* *

The open season on water fowl closes in the northern states next Friday. The main flights have all gone south, but where there is open water and feed some birds will be with us to the last, and a few often stay until spring. During the very severe winter three years ago mallards and geese were in central Illinois all winter, the reason being that quite a bit of frozen corn was left in the fields.

NEW YORK ACCEPTS CHICAGO'S CHALLENGE TO HOLD SKATE RACES

The proposed ice skating races between picked Chicago and New York school boy teams became a certainty yesterday with the receipt of a telegram from Dr. A. K. Aldinger, chairman of the Public School Athletic association in Gotham. The telegram conveyed the information that the challenge issued by Mayor Thompson on behalf of Chicago's kid skaters had been accepted, and that Aldinger would be here Monday to make final arrangements. The races will be skated at New York about Jan. 20.

JULIAN T. FITZGERALD.

It is now proposed to make the event more than a Chicago-New York affair. Julian T. Fitzgerald, chairman of the skating committee appointed by the mayor, announced challenges also would be forwarded immediately to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Cleveland. If these defis are accepted the Chicago lads will stop off at the cities named on their way back from the races against Father Knickerbocker's talent.

About twenty lads will make up the local team. Candidates already are in training under the direction of Tom Eyck of the University of Chicago. Final selections will follow a series of city-wide elimination trials.

LYNCH TO TAKE VACATION BEFORE DEFENDING TITLE

New York, Dec. 24.—Joe Lynch, new bantamweight boxing champion of the world, will take a month's vacation and then start "the serious business of defending his title," Eddie Mead, his manager, announced today.

A tour of the country, in which Lynch will meet many bantamweight aspirants, is being planned, Mead said.

Want to Hold Bouts Here in Aid of European Fund

There will be a boxing show in Chicago within the next three weeks, the entire proceeds of which are to go to the fund being raised for the starving children of Europe, if Gov. Lowden gives his sanction.

A telegram was sent to the governor last night asking him if he would interfere with such a show at the Coliseum. His answer will determine whether or not such a show can be held.

The telegram was sent by Leonard Hicks, a local hotel man, who has been a strong advocate and worker for the passage of a boxing bill in Illinois. Hicks believes the city administration would consent to boxing for this cause if Gov. Lowden gave his consent.

AUCKLAND, Dec. 24.—The International tennis teams are practicing hard and both agree that the Davis cup courts are in excellent condition. Local opinion favors the Americans' chances.

Brookes is in good form. Patterson so far has showed less brilliance, but is improving daily, especially in his service.

In the doubles competition the pairs probably will be Tilden and Johnston, Brookes and Patterson. The singles are uncertain.

GASOLINE ALLEY—HIS FIRST MERRY CHRISTMAS

RESERVE BANKS SHOW STRENGTH OF U. S. FINANCE

BY O. A. MATHER.

The fundamental strength of the country's financial position is demonstrated clearly in the weekly statements of the federal reserve banks, which were issued yesterday because of the Christmas holiday today. The reports reflect the aftermath of the government's large financial operations of the preceding week, showing just how easily the banking system passed through the operation.

Loans showed a rather sharp increase, representing the fag end of the demand for credit incident to the payment of federal taxes on Dec. 15. This increase and a considerable decline in deposits also might reflect the need for funds for year end settlements. There also was a decrease in treasury certificates held by the banks. Federal reserve notes circulation increased, just as it always does during the holiday period, owing to the larger demand for currency.

Reserve Position Strong.

Withal, the reserve position of the reserve system was only slightly less favorable than in the preceding week, while the present high figures for loans and note circulation may be regarded as temporary and a period of extensive reduction in both items appears imminent.

The consolidated statement of the twelve federal reserve banks shows an expansion in loans of $134,942,000, those on government obligations increasing $18,289,000, and those on commercial paper rising $116,653,000. Bills purchased increased $6,558,000, so that total bills on hand expanded $141,500,000. Treasury certificates dropped $84,302,000, so that total earning assets increased $57,198,000. The member banks decreased their reserve account by $17,435,000.

Gross deposits fell $134,283,000, including a decline in government deposits of $7,124,000. Federal reserve note circulation expanded $60,599,000. Gold reserves increased $1,434,000 and total reserves gained $2,286,000. The ratio of total reserves to net deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined was 45.1 compared with 45.6 per cent the preceding week, while the ratio of gold reserves to note circulation, after setting aside 35 per cent against net deposits, was 49.8, compared with 50.5 per cent.

The New York federal reserve bank made a good showing. Loans increased $3,961,293, those on war paper declining $[illegible],238,035, but those on commercial paper expanding $57,199,328. Bills bought increased $7,472,404, so that total bills on hand expanded $61,432,696. Treasury certificates receded $41,815,000, so that total earning assets expanded $19,617,696. The member banks' reserve account increased $2,258,353.

Gross deposits increased $7,782,000, with government deposits about stationary. Federal reserve note circulation increased $[illegible],347,560. Gold reserves expanded $29,-[illegible]6,216, chiefly as the result of interbanking settlements, and total reserves increased $30,416,934.

The ratio of total reserves to net deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined rose to 39.9 from 39.1 per cent the preceding week, while the ratio of reserves to net deposits, after deducting 35 per cent gold reserve against note circulation, rose to 39.7 from 37.7 per cent.

Loans Expand in Chicago.

The Chicago federal reserve bank statement reflected the fact that federal tax payments exceeded treasury certificates held in this district by about $40,000,000. Thus loans expanded $31,722,620, those on war paper and those on commercial paper increasing $5,769,028 and $25,953,592 respectively. Bills bought remained about stationary. Despite the loan expansion, the member banks reduced their reserve account $5,469,420.

Gross deposits receded $15,263,639, including a decline in government deposits of $3,722,811. Federal reserve note circulation expanded $11,733,415. Gold reserves declined $15,967,851 and total reserves fell $15,405,774. The ratio of reserves to net deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined fell to 39.8 from 42.6 per cent in the preceding week, while the ratio of reserves to note circulation, after setting aside 35 per cent against net deposits, fell to 41.5 from 45.4 per cent.

The Clearing House Banks.

The report of the New York clearing house banks made a fair showing. The excess reserve increased $22,337,330, now standing at $30,559,530. This was largely due to the fact that the member banks increased their reserves at the reserve bank by $20,929,000. Aggregate reserve increased $19,624,000. Loans receded $36,-[illegible]51,000, and demand deposits declined $[illegible]71,303,000. Time deposits and circulation remained about stationary. United States deposits receded $27,547,000. Cash in vaults increased $3,054,000. The figures follow:

The New York Times.

Active industrial shares were lower, some losing 2@3 points, while Replogle Steel dropped 13½ points. There were signs of professional activity, but business was much the smallest of any day this week. Call money did not vary from 7 per cent all day; exchange on Europe was pretty uniformly lower.

Liberty bonds continued their recovery of Thursday, reaching a price of 1 to 1¼ points above the low level of last Monday, and leaving the week's net changes unimportant in the active issues.

Week-end reviews of the country's mercantile trade hardly reflect the traditional cheerfulness of Christmas eve. Yet in some regards they suggest the early possibility of better things. The admittedly easier credit situation has exerted some positive influence already. In the south particularly, a section where trade paralysis has been longer in evidence than in any other section, improvement of retail trade is reported. But retail business elsewhere, although naturally increased by holiday purchases, has been disappointing, and the mercantile agencies, in referring to prices, say "big cuts are expected next week, to clean up stocks."

It is intimated road salesmen will start out promptly after January 1 expecting better buying, with the qualification, however, that "the spring trade will have to be in two instead of the usual six months' time."

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Chicago stocks were moderately active in the preholiday session yesterday. Cessation of liquidation caused a firm trend to prices. Union Carbide, Chicago City and Connecting Railways preferred, and National Leather made fractional gains. Armour preferred and Continental Motor were about steady, and Swift International was off a fraction. Among the less active issues, Alfred Decker & Cohn preferred was off 15 points from the last previous trade some time ago, while American Shipbuilding was off 4 points. Sears-Roebuck declined 2¼ points; Chicago Railways "1," 2; Swift and Middle West Utilities preferred, a point each. Peoples Gas and Hartman advanced 1½ points each; Chicago Pneumatic Tool, 1⅛; and Wahl, a point. In bonds Chicago Railways 5c "A" were off 3½ points, and Chicago City Railway 5s and Chicago Telephone 5s declined a point each.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

The Board of Trade will be closed today, Christmas. Foreign markets also are having a holiday.

There is a feeling among wheat traders that unless foreign buying continues in good volume prices are likely to recede. Outside buying support is light. There is a little hedging coming in all the time, which satisfies the ordinary buying.

Corn specialists are in the main bearish, although not pressing the selling side. Weakness in cash corn, with premiums receding, affect the December. Elevator people are taking the cash grain and deliveries on December trades are enlarging.

A large business was on in changing trades in corn from May to July and the reverse, the spread being ⅛@⅜c, the latter at the last.

Julius H. Barnes, former wheat director, in a review of the wheat situation published in New York, says in part that the presumption that the present crop of wheat rests in the hands of growers, with prices declining, is erroneous. The grain farmer undoubtedly is suffering, but it is the grain buyers of our own and foreign lands who overbought on a declining market. People should not become panicky. Europe's troubles, he believes, already are showing signs of improvement. The nearness of the United States to the importing countries makes us the logical market.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Domestic shipping sales of cash grain at Chicago were 20,000 bu wheat, 150,000 bu corn, including 50,000 bu to the seaboard, and 30,000 bu oats. Sales to go to store were 100,000 bu wheat, 50,000 bu corn, and 25,000 bu oats. Deliveries on December contracts were 114,000 bu wheat, 190,000 bu corn, 15,000 bu oats, 15,000 bu rye, and 5,000 bu barley.

Choice No. 2 red winter wheat at Chicago sold at 38c over December, the biggest premium on the crop, an advance of 3c over the previous day's basis. Hard winter and springs were firm. Receipts, 12 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 3c lower with Kansas City leading.

Cash corn was in slow demand and 2@3c lower, with No. 4 mixed and wheat about 1c lower, as compared with the December, going to a full delivery discount under the future selling at 4⅝@5c under for No. 4 mixed and 3½@4½c under for No. 4 white. No. 4 yellow was 2¼c over to 2½c under December. Receipts, 182 cars.

We are manufacturing furriers—we make every coat we sell. We carry a wonderful assortment of the newest fur coats in all skins and in all effects.

We sell direct to the public, eliminating all jobbers' and retailers' profits from the selling price—and we allow honest women to enjoy the privilege of extending their payments over four long months.

Before you buy your fur coat make it a point to see our display, compare our prices, and you can judge the truthfulness of these statements for yourself.
